DEMANDS HOUSE PROBE AUTHORS OF PURGE PLOT

Resolution Calls for Full Expose.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—A resolution aimed at exposing and punishing the architects and supporters of the administration's preëlection smear campaign against its opponents in congress was introduced in the house today.

The measure calls for the appointment of a special house committee of five members empowered to make a sweeping investigation of all phases of the attempts to discredit and unseat more than 100 members of the house and senate. Many of those known as leaders in the fight to keep the nation out of war were singled out as especial targets for the smear.

The campaign received the active support of the Willkieites, communist front organizations and the left wing press, including the New Masses, the New Republic, the Daily Worker, and the pseudo newspaper, PM, published by Marshall Field.

Names to be Revealed.

Under the resolution, the names and identifications of all individuals and organizations which took part in the purge attempt would be made public, together with the amounts of money they spent and the methods and sources from which the funds were derived.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. Clare Hoffman [R., Mich.], also provides specifically for the investigating committee report on whether a conspiracy existed to deprive the congressmen of their civil rights in violation of United States law, and to suggest what legislation, if any, is needed to "prevent a recurrence of such action and to bring to justice those taking part in such conspiracy."

Rep. Hoffman warned that unless congress acts at once to expose those behind the campaign further attacks are sure to follow.

Hoffman One of Targets.

Known for his outspoken criticism of the administration on both foreign and domestic issues, Hoffman was one of the first chosen for liquidation by the smear brigade. However, he was reëlected overwhelmingly, piling up a greater margin over his Democratic opponent than in the Presidential election two years ago.

A recent survey disclosed that only 11 out of 144 house members who were marked for the purge were defeated in the primaries or elections. In the senate eight were placed on the blacklist but only one was unseated.

If allowed to continue their efforts, Hoffman declared, the authors of the smear campaign cannot fail to achieve their ultimate objective—destruction of congress. He charged William Power Maloney, special government prosecutor, who obtained the indictment of 28 individuals on charges of undermining the morale of the armed forces, has "used and is using" the federal grand jury here in attempts to defeat administration opponents in congress.

Opposed Communists.

Among the 28 defendants is Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling of Chicago. All are awaiting trial in the District of Columbia. They are accused of circulating seditious utterances which are set forth in the indictment.

Some of these utterances were quotations from the speeches of members of congress and other men of prominence who have expressed criticism of the administration, Great Britain, Russia, communists, and other groups.

According to informed sources, Maloney worked in close collaboration with private parties to obtain the indictments. It is now understood that pressure is being brought to bear on the department of justice in an effort to engineer the indictment of the original authors of the quotations along with the reindictment of the original 28 defendants.

Warns of Future Drives.

Urging support for the resolution from both sides of the chamber, Hoffman said:

"Do not get the mistaken idea that I care about it personally because the ultimate result of all their dirty slander so far as the 4th congressional district in Michigan is concerned was

BLUFF SUB CREW TO SAVE WOMEN

Ship Survivors' Threats Rout Italians.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—Eight British sailors disclosed here today that the captain and crew of an Italian submarine made a vain effort last September to abduct from lifeboats the women survivors of a British ship torpedoed in the South Atlantic.

But the hysteria of the women and the courage of their male protectors, armed only with pistols, bluffed the Italians into headlong retreat. Soon a Nazi submarine appeared, and the German captain couldn't be bluffed. He took the women and children aboard his vessel.

Picked Up by French Ship.

He served them a good, hot meal, kept them, courteously treated, over night and returned them safely to the lifeboats the next day and promised to send help.

The survivors of the torpedoed vessel were rescued by a French ship and the men interned in North Africa. Today, freed by the American occupation and wearing tattered remnants of Foreign Legion uniforms given to them by the French, they told their story in an interview here arranged by the British information service. They had arrived at an east coast port Tuesday.

Towed Toward Land.

"We had been adrift two days when an Italian submarine surfaced near us," the 48 year old cook of the torpedoed ship said. "Then the captain told us he was going to take the women aboard the sub. They were such a bad-looking lot—even the captain—that the women began screaming hysterically and six or seven of our men drew their pistols. They told the Italians that those who laid hands on the women would be shot—as long as the ammunition held out. They all went below and the sub went on her way."

Three hours later the German submarine appeared. After taking the women and children the captain "had us tie up to the stern of the sub and towed us all night toward land," the seaman said.

Here Is a Story of Animal Life in New Guinea Jungle

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN NEW GUINEA, Dec. 3.—There was a slight flurry of excitement in camp last night when a python tried to crawl in bed with Lieut. Jack Clark of Detroit, Mich.

With a cry of "Help! Snakes!" Lieut. Clark took off down the jungle track, mosquito net and all. He came back later and told this story:

"Just after I lay down on my blanket on the ground I heard a rustle in the grass, like somebody walking. I called, 'Who's there?'

but got no reply. The rustling continued, and then I felt something push against the net.

There's a Silver Lining.

Troops in this area were comforted recently by a cheery article in Guinea Gold, a military newspaper, explaining that pythons in New Guinea grow to lengths of 20 feet. They don't bite, however, the paper explained, but merely squeeze.

Everything in this jungle that walks, crawls or flies also either bites or has some other unpleasant characteristic. Even the flora is aggressive. Seemingly harmless looking vines will reach out and trip you or warp themselves around your neck.

At night, when it gets literally pitch black, the jungle comes to life. There is a species of rivet hammer woodpecker that beats its brains out against the hardwood trees all night long. Beetles "beetle" at the top of whatever beetles use for lungs, and a wide variety of birds screech their heads off.

One bird croaks "Al, Al." My nickname is Al, and it is very confusing to have a lot of birds calling your name all night.

Sends Man for Boy's Job.

Since no lights are permitted, everybody goes to bed at 7:30 and stays there for the next 11 hours, regardless of how hard the ground may be. The other night, as I was preparing for bed, I saw two eyes staring at me from the darkness. Deciding that I had better dispose of whatever it was, I armed myself with a 12 inch knife and started creeping upon my hands and knees toward the glaring eyes.

After I had crawled a few feet, one of the eyes started going around in circles, and then flew away. The "eyes" were two 25 candle power lightning bugs.

There are big lizards in New Guinea that climb trees, and little ones that climb mosquito nets. The little ones are called Gecko, and make a noise like the name. The Geckos always are welcome—if you don't mind lizards—since they devour flies, mosquitoes, and ants by the billions.

Lazy Pilots Get Nipped.

The rivers are inhabited by crocodiles, which seem to have a taste for aviators. There have been no reports of any ground troops ever having been bitten by the "crocs," but pilots who have been forced down frequently have been nipped. This may be due to the fact that pilots don't think much of their feet as a means of transportation—they always try to float down rivers to safety when they are forced to bail out over the jungle.

This correspondent is learning about the jungle at first hand. A couple of days ago I marched 15 miles with a pack to reach a point where there were some transmission facilities.

I began the march by falling off a 6 inch bamboo walk onto my face in the swamp, and ended up by wading a river with my clothes on and forgetting to remove cigarets, notebook, and other articles from my pockets.

ALLIES BEAT OFF 2D AND HEAVIER BLOW IN TUNISIA

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—American and British forces battling for Tunisia have hurled back a second and larger enemy counterattack in the Tebourba area, the allied command in North Africa announced today, while allied airmen kept up a heavy 'round-the-clock pounding of Tunis and Bizerte and an allied naval squadron broke up an axis convoy carrying supplies destined for the battle field. The British fleet also was reported close to shore, covering allied troop movements.

The land, sea and air action reported by the allied force headquarters was some of the heaviest of the whole campaign.

The communique said that the counterthrust by the Germans in the Tebourba area was even larger than that of Tuesday, which had been described as the most determined axis opposition thus far in the campaign.

Smash Much Axis Equipment.

The counterattack "was repulsed with considerable destruction of enemy equipment," the communique said.

Tebourba, the area of the critical fighting, is 35 miles south of Bizerte and 20 miles west of Tunis.

The communique also announced there had been fighting on the western outskirts of Djedeida, eight miles east of Tebourba.

A spokesman at allied headquarters said "we hold the western part of Djedeida which has changed hands several times in battle."

Allied sources also reported a bitter battle about Mateur, a rail junction 28 miles south of Bizerte. The allies were said to have destroyed 19 axis tanks in a clash between Mateur and Beja, about 40 miles to the southwest. At Pont du Fahs, 30 miles southwest of Tunis, French allied forces were said to have repulsed a German counterattack.

Vital Battle for Triangle.

The headquarters spokesman said: "The Germans made an all-out attempt to recapture Mateur, Djedeida, and Tebourba with a panzer [armored] attack, for it is obvious that who holds this triangle eventually will win the battle for Tunis and Bizerte. They failed, but the losses have been heavy on both sides and the battlefield was dotted with wrecked tanks."

[The allies' present positions at Tebourba and Djedeida apparently are some distance to the rear of advance points reported reached during the last week of the offensive. The allies had reported cutting the main Bizerte-Tunis highway north of Tebourba, and rail junction at Djedeida, virtually driving a wedge between Bizerte and Tunis, severing rail communications but leaving one coastal road open.]

An Associated Press dispatch from allied headquarters said allied tank forces were preparing for another smash at strong German positions at

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—William Edwin Stull, 42 years old, an American ship's cook, was sentenced to two weeks at hard labor by a Liverpool court today for making statements likely "to cause alarm and despondency" regarding the American operations in North Africa.

Prosecutor H. R. Balmer charged that Stull sat at a table with two men, having lunch, and said loudly: "I just returned from Oran and the stories about there being no resistance are baloney. I saw 5,000 Americans dead on the beaches."

The prosecutor said Stull was present at the landings in North Africa, but that he was not within 25 miles of Oran, and that his story was unfounded. Stull pleaded guilty and explained that he was celebrating Thanksgiving and did not realize the seriousness of his remarks.

GEN. MAC NIDER WOUNDED EIGHT TIMES AT BUNA

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 24 [Delayed]—(AP).—Brig. Gen. Hanford MacNider, former assistant secretary of war, received eight wounds when a Japanese rifle grenade exploded last night during the American attack on Buna, enemy strongpoint on the northeastern New Guinea coast.

Brig. Gen. Hanford MacNider.

Grenade Kills Soldier.

The Japanese grenade killed one American soldier and bowled over but did not injure Gen. MacNider's aide, Maj. C. M. Beaver of Yankton, S. D.

Gen. MacNider was taken to a field hospital and a quart of blood plasma given to him despite his protests that he wasn't badly hurt. Physicians said his wounds were not critical.

MacNider suffered two wounds in the right arm, one in the abdomen, two on the right thigh, one on each knee, and on the right hand. The general was removed to a hospital in Australia.

SERVED IN FRANCE IN '17.

In addition to being assistant secretary of war MacNider once was minister to Canada.

MacNider, who went to France in 1917 after Mexican border duty with the Iowa National Guard, retained a reserve commission after World War I. He was recalled to active duty last January as a lieutenant colonel and assigned to a station in the southwest Pacific. He was promoted to brigadier general on Aug. 3. His home is in Mason City, Ia.

MacNider is a past national commander of the American Legion. Before America entered the war MacNider was a leader of the national America First movement.

Yankee Negro Troops Set Up Liberia Bases

MONROVIA, Liberia, Dec. 3 (AP).—Liberia disclosed officially today that a task force of American soldiers, chiefly Negroes, had been built up on its soil with its full agreement and that the African republic had decided on "a policy of full collaboration with the united nations during the existing hostilities."

The task force, made up of air and ground troops under the command of Col. Arthur A. G. Kirchhoff, is charged with defending Liberia and at the same time safeguarding this vital sector of air and sea routes to the middle east, India, and China.

Arrived in May.

United States soldiers have set up airports, cantonments, and other installations in record time in spite of such tremendous difficulties as malaria, bad terrain, and the rainy season.

The first units arrived by plane in May. They were followed quickly by engineer, combat, and anti-aircraft units. Later the task force was built up.

The Americans have been supplemented by a detachment of the British air force. Thus far they have engaged principally in coastal reconnaissance and anti-submarine activity.

The official lifting of the secrecy which has surrounded American operations in this Negro republic permitted it to become known that the soldiers were welcomed to carry out the American Liberian defense agreement.

Their presence has been known generally in West Africa for months, but correspondents who came with the first units had to remain silent until now.

Axis Nationals Gone.

It was also disclosed that all axis nationals have left Liberia, some by request and some voluntarily. By request, the German consul general left Monrovia Nov. 5. Next the departure of the amphibian Vichy civil air line cleared the country of the last axis nationals. Several dozen others had left previously.

The Americans were extended a

NAVY SINKS SIX WARSHIPS AND 2 TRANSPORTS

Cargo Vessel Also Sent to Bottom.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—The Japanese came out Monday night for another round in the battle of Guadalcanal, the navy announced today, but were beaten back again with nine of their ships sunk and thousands of their soldiers drowned.

The engagement cost the United States one cruiser sunk "and other United States vessels damaged," a communique reported, but none of the Japanese soldiers being brought in by transports set foot on shore except possibly as bedraggled prisoners.

Two Japanese troop transports and one cargo ship were sunk and six of their escorting warships were sent to the bottom of the sea. These included four destroyers and two other vessels which were either cruisers or large destroyers.

Japs Claim Battleship Sunk.

Before the navy issued its communique, imperial headquarters in Tokio had trumpeted the action not as an unsuccessful attempt to put reënforcements ashore at Guadalcanal but as "a fierce attack" by a Japanese "torpedo attack flotilla." Tokio claimed the sinking of one American battleship, one cruiser of the Augusta type, and two destroyers, to the loss of only one of their own destroyers.

Meanwhile, American forces ashore on Guadalcanal hacked away at the Japanese left stranded there without reënforcements of men or fresh supplies, killing more than 100 of them in patrol skirmishes Tuesday and Wednesday.

Successes in ground fighting, as well as in raids by aircraft from Henderson field, have been reported in intermittent action ever since the last bid of the foe to reënforce his troops was rebuffed in the smashing naval victory of Nov. 14-15. At that time 28 Japanese ships were sunk and 10 damaged.

No Landing Effected.

American warships intercepted the latest Japanese armada in waters off the north coast of the island, in about the same vicinity as the scene of the last naval battle.

"The enemy was interrupted in his attempt to reënforce and supply his troops on the island," the communique related succinctly, "and no landing was effected."

There did come ashore, however, some Japanese sailors rescued from life rafts the following day. They were off the destroyer Takanami, believed to be a 1,500 ton ship.

The sinkings announced in the latest action brought Japanese losses in the Solomons as officially announced so far to 131 ships sunk or damaged, including 51 sunk.

Kill 55 Japs on Land.

In an earlier communique, the navy told of additional daylight raids made by army and navy aircraft on Japanese positions in various parts of the island and of patrol skirmishes west of Henderson field in which 55 more Japanese were killed.

One of the new skirmishes took marines against a force of 60 Japanese near the headwaters of the Lunga river. Only 25 of the enemy escaped the bullets and bayonets of the marines. In that encounter, a quantity of arms and ammunition was captured. No reports were made of any marine losses.

Another encounter between United States and enemy patrols took place near the Matanikau river several miles west of the airport. There an additional 20 Japanese were killed.

Yesterday the navy reported the killing of 51 Japanese and capturing of three fieldpieces and six machine guns in three patrol engagements the preceding day.

SEEKS TO PROBE CHARGE BUNGLING SAPS MATERIALS

Senator Bases Action on Manufacturers Report.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—An investigation into reported shortages of basic war materials is sought in a pending resolution sponsored by Sen. James E. Murray [D., Mont.], who indicated some shortage reports were being circulated to "whitewash" production failure. He said today that his proposed inquiry would sift charges of governmental bungling just published by the National Association of Manufacturers.

"We want to debunk reports of material shortages circulated from Washington to whitewash failures in production and construction," said the senator.

"We want to correct faults in the regulated distribution that have created erroneous impressions of shortages.

Hits "Wanton Construction."

"We want to curb wanton construction of superplants being erected without due regard for the materials consumed in the construction nor for the materials needed for operation of the plants. We want to slash extravagant and unnecessary uses of scarce materials before they become shortages.

"America surpasses the axis in raw materials for weapons of modern war. With proper management of these natural endowments, our armies can go into battle with a preponderance of weapons. The inquiry proposed by my resolution is designed to assure us of this proper management."

The report prepared by the research department of the manufacturers group absolves American industry and blames the administration for the material predicaments. The 56 page analysis includes with the indictment:

"They [reported shortages] are due to lack of clear government war planning."

Discusses Individual Materials.

The charge is amplified in separate discussions of steel, rubber, copper, aluminum, magnesium, zinc, lead, and machine tools.

1. Faulty planning by government agencies before Pearl Harbor.

2. Lack of balance in the war production program, due partly to the lack of coördination between the army, navy, maritime commission, and the War Production board.

3. Failure to realize in time the inadequacies of the system of priorities.

4. Production has far exceeded early estimates . . . Production facilities have been increased until they are now far out of step with raw material supplies.

Stress Steel Capacity.

The survey shows the United States can produce more steel than the combined axis and axis-dominated countries. The report adds:

"On the basis of these figures, the United States, with its giant steel output, should be able to outmatch the results achieved by the axis without the cries that steel is hampering munitions output. . . . It is hard to reconcile claims of serious steel shortages. . . .

"It is apparent from the record of production of the American steel industry," it continued, "that sufficient steel is available to fulfill adequately all direct military needs, as well as lend-lease commitments . . . shortages [in certain types] cannot be justly blamed on the inadequacy of steel capacity, but can only be accounted for by faulty [government controled] distribution."

Quotes Baruch Report.

As to rubber, the survey quotes the Baruch committee's report:

"The committee has found many evidences of procedures bordering on the chaotic . . . appear to be the result of bad administration." The shortage is described as critical.

Copper—"Our supply of 2,100,000 short tons, exclusive of scrap, is huge compared with Germany's estimated annual supply of 200,000 short tons."

Aluminum—"The estimated present supply and that which will be available in the future will probably meet all the essential needs for our war production effort."

Zinc—"Supply safety exceeds military needs, altho may pinch civilian uses."

Lead—"Supplies have risen until they seem adequate for military needs plus essential civilian uses."

Mirrored reflection of Mrs. Wilkins as she prepared for appearance in opera in New York.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—With only 26½ hours' notice, Mrs. Marie Wilkins or Lawrence, Kas., last night made her debut at the Metropolitan opera, singing the rôle of "Lakme" in place of Lily Pons. Mrs. Wilkins, the wife of Joseph F. Wilkins, head of the voice department at the University of Kansas, was notified Tuesday evening that she could sing the rôle, after a physician announced that a cold would prevent Miss Pons from taking the part. Largely, the critics reacted favorably to Mrs. Wilkins' performance.

MIDWEST PAPERS LEAD IN SCRAP METAL SALVAGE

Another answer to eastern slurs that the central west is not war conscious was provided yesterday by detailed figures on the rank of regions in the recent scrap metal campaign sponsored by the nation's newspapers.

The report, made public here by John Nuveen Jr., regional conservation manager, showed that Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Wisconsin, comprising region 6, ranked first, with per capita collections of 113.7 pounds.

The New York and northern New Jersey region ranked in seventh place, producing only 78.2 pounds per capita. In the compilation of state rankings New York stood in 15th place and New Jersey in 47th place.

The region comprising Delaware, eastern Maryland, southern New Jersey, eastern Pennsylvania, Virginia, and the District of Columbia ranked in fifth place.

No region came close to the Chicago district's collections of 113.7 pounds per capita. In second place was the Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas region, with 86.1 pounds, and in third was New England, with 83.9. Among the populous states Illinois stood at the top. Its collections per capita were exceeded only by Vermont, Kansas, Oregon, and Indiana.

HOUSE PASSES NEW PARITY BILL OPPOSED BY F. D. R.

Includes Labor Costs in Farm Price Formula.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—Farm labor costs will be included in the government's formula for computing parity prices for agricultural commodities, under legislation passed by unanimous consent in the house today.

Parity prices are computed to give the farmer a purchasing power in terms of non-agricultural commodities equal to that enjoyed between 1909 and 1914, or other base periods, when the farm dollar would buy more of the things the farmer had to purchase for his farm and family than at any other time in recent history.

President Roosevelt expressed "unalterable opposition" to the inclusion of labor costs in the parity formula when anti-inflation proposals were before congress in September. At that time one government bureau contended inclusion of labor costs in computing parity would raise the cost of living to the American people by 3½ billion dollars a year.

Eliminated in Rush.

In the rush to pass the anti-inflation legislation before the presidential deadline, the parity formula discussions were eliminated to be taken up at a later date. Today's action signaled a new move to rush the legislation thru congress in an effort to bring some relief to the farm labor problem, house leaders said.

Farm bloc senators were scurrying around tonight trying to arrange a meeting of their members from the farm states to hasten senate action on the bill. The senate farm leaders, it was learned, are talking privately that they have lined up enough strength to pass the bill over a presidential veto.

Farmers Ask a "Break."

While the parity formula has included taxes and most other costs incurred in the planting and production of the various farm commodities, the expense to the farmer for hired help has not been taken into consideration heretofore.

Since the administration has frozen the prices of most agricultural commodities at parity or lower levels and labor costs to the farmer have continued to rise, congressional leaders report considerable agitation among farmers for a "break" on their labor bills.

TIRE INSPECTORS APPOINTED FOR 180 FLEETS HERE

Appointment of authorized tire inspectors for fleets of cars or trucks operated by 180 leading companies in the Chicago metropolitan area was announced yesterday by Michael F. Mulcahy, Office of Price Administration director for the area. The inspectors will operate under the new OPA mileage rationing regulation, which requires periodic examination of tires to detect abuse and damage requiring repair.

Mulcahy said the fleet operators were authorized to make routine inspections of their own tires, but would have to submit them to inspection stations before applying for new tires or recapping service.

Inspection stations for passenger cars and trucks already have been authorized and additional stations handling only passenger cars will be announced in a few days, Mulcahy said.

COUNCILMEN AND JUDGE CRITICIZE TRANSIT SERVICE

City Acts to Aid Areas That Lost Buses.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

Clamor for adequate street car or bus service for sections of Chicago most affected by gasoline rationing and bus curtailment arose yesterday from the city council and the Criminal court bench.

Climaxing several days of protests by aldermen against the discontinuance of bus service by the Chicago Surface Lines on seven routes, especially the Kimball-Homan line, the city council took action to have the service restored.

The council directed Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes to petition the Illinois Commerce commission to restore the canceled bus routes immediately pending a hearing on the city's protest.

No Chance to Offer Alternative.

The council accused the Chicago Surface Lines of abandoning the bus routes without giving city officials an opportunity to offer an alternative proposal to reduce the bus mileage without eliminating routes.

In the petition filed by Hodes with the commerce commission, the city proposed that the 15 per cent curtailment on the surface lines' buses imposed by the Office of Defense Transportation be spread equitably over its entire bus system instead of being concentrated on the seven routes eliminated. The routes affected are the Austin, Fullerton, Kimball, Kimball-Homan, North, Ogden, and 83d street motor bus lines.

In another resolution adopted by the council, the city was authorized to request Joseph B. Eastman, ODT director in Washington, D. C., to permit the addition of new bus lines to serve outlying war plants now inaccessible by public carriers. This request emphasized that the new service should be authorized without further reducing existing motor bus routes.

Courts Delayed, Judge Says.

Another demand for adequate transportation service was made upon the surface lines by Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro of the Criminal court. He notified the management that court business was being impeded severely by the poor service on the Blue Island avenue line which serves 26th street. The Criminal courthouse is at 26th street and California avenue.

Judge Sbarbaro said the courthouse is three-fourths of a mile from the Douglas Park line of the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated], the only alternative method of mass transportation. He said service on the 26th street surface line is slow and inadequate.

Motor traffic in the city increased 10 to 20 per cent, traffic experts said, as the mercury rose from Wednesday's bitter cold. However, motor travel was still far below normal.

Report Fewer Traction Delays.

Traction company engineers said they expected to master by next week the problem of gearing their operations to the altered traffic flow resulting from staggered hours and gasoline rationing. They said the transportation systems were handling their rush hour loads with fewer delays and less congestion than on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The surface lines carried 2,520,000 passengers Wednesday, a drop of 2.6 per cent from Tuesday's figure, but an increase of 12.3 per cent over Dec. 2, 1941. The "L" lines reported Wednesday's traffic was 564,131 passengeres, a decline of 1.72 per cent from Tuesday's traffic, but a gain of 6.86 per cent over Dec. 2, 1941.

Taxi company officials said the passenger load had risen 10 per cent as the result of the increased number of passengers per trip. Cab mileage is limited to 1941 levels.

MAGISTRATE'S SLUR ON HOUSEKEEPERS STIRS BRITISH PARLIAMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Nine members of parliament, headed by Evelyn Walkden, Laborite, rallied to the defense of the good name of British housekeepers tonight by introducing a motion demanding the dismissal of Claud Mullins, London police court magistrate, for having said yesterday that "the word 'housekeeper' usually means something immoral."

Mullins, trying a woman for the theft of a book valued at 80 cents, had said also: "I'll give her the benefit of the doubt and assume that she is a real housekeeper—not a mistress."

An Evening Star columnist demanded an immediate apology from Mullins to housekeepers generally. He reported that elderly women registered with domestic agencies for housekeeping jobs are now insisting that their names be removed from the agency lists.

CALLS FUEL OIL FLOW PLENTIFUL IN MIDDLE WEST

Distributors' Head Blasts Rationing Argument.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

A sharp blow was dealt the Washington fuel oil rationers last night. It was delivered here by Frank E. Spencer, president for the last nine years of the Burning Oil Distributors' Association of Chicago. It was a counterblow to remarks made here by one of the chief rationing burocrats on a visit made to quiet the rationing clamor of the middle west.

The visitor was John Neukom of Washington, chief of the oil rationing branch, Office of Price Administration. He announced at a press conference that he had stopped off on his way back home from Kansas City, Mo., to explain "the drastic necessity for the rationing program." He said rationing was made more acute by the needs for oil of the allied armies in North Africa. In effect, he said every householder—every man with a home or an automobile or both—should keep his shirt on, take it on the chin, prove he can take it—at least for the next 30 or 60 days until the rationing program can be "refined."

Homes to Be Least Affected.

Neukom said that if it becomes necessary to change from oil burning to coal or coke heating, the dwelling owner will be the last to suffer—it will be the big plants, the hotels, etc., where the changes will be made first.

A reporter attending Mr. Neukom's press conference asked the theory behind midwest rationing. He replied: "The theory is that fuel oil is acutely short. It is the most acute shortage the country is facing."

To all of which Mr. Spencer last night replied, "Bosh."

"Several weeks ago," Mr. Spencer said, "a member of a national committee of economists representing the petroleum industry handed a committee of oil men, including myself, figures proving there was no fuel oil shortage in the middle west. The economist in giving his report had anticipated conditions thruout the winter. His figures showed that the middle west by next May would have a surplus of fuel oil.

"This survey took into consideration all the variables possible to conceive. Since then I've seen no figures to prove that the situation has changed in any way. The midwest has no shortage of fuel oil even after shipping east all the oil the railroads can handle."

No Possible Shortage Here.

One of the arguments cited by Mr. Nenkom showing the increased demand for fuel oil was that the oil is now used for the manufacture of metallurgical coke and he said "the aluminum industry needs all of this coke that can be manufactured with existing facilities."

To this a spokesman for one of the big oil companies last night replied:

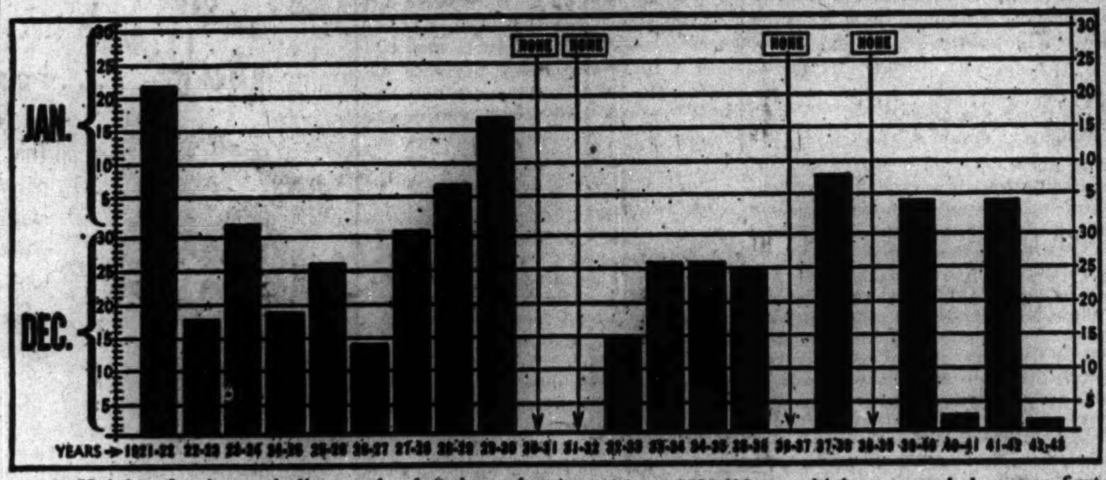
"The rationers made us turn over our facilities for making fuel oil to the manufacture of coke—and we're still doing it. Now the coke is piling up, the government doesn't want it and can't transport it, we can't sell it and we don't know what to do with it. And 50 cars a day of oil are being sacrificed."

Frank Phillips, chairman of the Phillips Petroleum company and general chairman of the oil industry's committee for this district, recently discussed the eastern demand for oil rationing in the middle west. Phillips said: "It discloses an atonishing misconception of the causes of gasoline and oil shortages in the east, and an utter lack of knowledge of the tremendous effort the middle west is making to help supply the east."

West Town Lawyers Hear Rules of Appellate Court

Rules of practice in the Illinois Appellate court were outlined by Judge Joseph J. Burke, presiding judge of the court, last night before the new West Suburban Bar association at a dinner in the Oak Park Arms hotel. Other speakers who addressed the lawyers and their wives were Judge Otto Kerner of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and Superior Judge Roger J. Kiley, who is sitting on the Appellate bench.

Earliest 'Zero' Date of Each Winter Since 1921



Height of columns indicates the date in each winter since 1921-'22 on which zero or below was first reached. In several of the years zero never was reached on the official thermometer in Chicago. The later the first "zero" date for the year, the taller the column.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—While millions of householders are living in homes heated to a 65 degree temperature as prescribed by the government, high federal officials are still holding forth in spacious offices heated to the cozy prewar level of 70 degrees or better, a survey showed today.

Fuel conservation in the interest of "saving materials, man power, and transportation" has been preached by government burocrats since the start of the current heating season. In no case, however, have any of the officials' palatial private offices, many equipped with private bathrooms, been closed down so heat could be turned off to save fuel, it was found.

Officials of the Federal Works agency, which has charge of government buildings, expressed surprise when asked whether any plans were under way to close off rooms of the spacious offices for the duration. They said no such move is contemplated, but conceded it would be a simple matter to close the doors and turn off the radiators.

Private Baths Galore.

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, who is also the wartime fuels coördinator, maintains a luxurious office equipped with a private bath of blue marble finished in gold. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins also has a private bath, with grained walnut door and pastel tinted walls, adjoining her office.

In the new Pentagon building, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson's office not only has a private bath, but a private dining room, kitchenette, and emergency living quarters. Jesse Jones maintains two private offices, one as secretary of commerce and the other as federal loan administrator.

The FWA said that government offices this year are supposed to be kept down to a 68 degree temperature in the interest of fuel saving. They said a drop to 65 degrees was deemed unwise, because most government employés "don't move around very much." They also explained that government buildings are heated with coal, which is not being rationed to consumers.

A spot check of several buildings showed, however, that the temperature level for government offices is 70 degrees or more.

Temperatures 70 to 76.

In the Department of Interior building, where Ickes has his office, the thermometer showed 70 today. The temperature was 76 in the Social Security building, where Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war man power commission, and Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, have their offices. The capitol reading was 72. Other buildings showed similar readings.

FWA officials said it is difficult to maintain exact temperature control inasmuch as the government buildings are largely heated from several central heating plants.

The government occupies 330 buildings in the capital, of which 110 are government owned and the remainder are rented. For heating the government owned buildings last year, 135,000 tons of coal were purchased at a cost of $650,000, the FWA reported. It was estimated a portion of this amount could be saved by closing several hundred private offices and keeping temperatures at the 65 degree level prescribed for households.

SUBZERO WAVE ENDS AFTER 2D COLDEST DEC. 3 EVER RECORDED

Chicago's first subzero wave of the winter was broken yesterday, the second coldest Dec. 3 in the history of the local weather bureau.

At 8 a. m. the official reading was 2 degrees below zero. Only once before on the same day has the mercury dipped below zero, according to Charles Jespersen. That was in 1940, when the day's low record of minus 5 was established.

Warmer weather was the forecast for today, and even as it was made the temperature was rising, touching 14 above at 3 p. m.

OFFER SPECIAL RATE ON OVERSEA YULE GREETINGS

The Western Union and Postal Telegraph agencies last night said that Yuletide greetings may be sent to members of the army, navy, and marine corps, and the personnel of the American Red Cross serving abroad, for a flat rate of 60 cents per message. This means of conveying season's greetings will be in effect between Dec. 7 and 27 inclusive.

Several text greetings appropriate to Christmas and New Year are available. The messages must provide the recipient's full name, rank, serial number, and APO number. Messages sent to members of the Red Cross need not carry rank or serial number.

Officials of both services advise that messages be filed early to prevent the possibility of congestion. The regular expeditionary force service covering more than 100 various type text messages will be discontinued during the period the Yuletide service is in effect, the announcement said.

CHRISTMAS TREE PRICE BOOSTED; OPA IS IGNORED

Despite the Office of Price Administration's announcement that there will be no price ceiling on Christmas trees and its request that "prices be held at the level of last year," Chicago tree dealers said yesterday it was impossible for them to follow such a course without suffering a substantial loss.

Retail prices of Christmas trees this year will range about a dollar higher, according to size, dealers announced.

"The shortage of labor and the increased cost of transportation make it impossible to sell trees at last year's prices and make any money," they declared generally. They said some women had been recruited to cut down trees because of the man shortage, and that the wage scale had been raised this season from $5 to $10 a day per worker.

Christmas tree shopping should be done early this year, it was advised, because a shortage is expected.

U. S. IN MARKET FOR 40 MILLION POUNDS OF OLEO

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—The Agricultural Marketing Administration, which buys food for the military forces and lend-lease, asked processors today to submit offers for 40 million pounds of colored oleomargarine. Processors were asked to submit bids by Dec. 10.

The AMA said the product must be packed in 10 pound tins suitable for export and use under tropical conditions. Officials said it was possible that some of the oleamargarine would be sent to North Africa for allied fighters. They explained it was not feasible to send butter to this area because of a shortage of refrigerator ships.

Oleomargarine on this order must contain not less than 9,000 units of vitamin A and not less than 500 units of vitamin D per each pound.

NO MATTER WHAT YOU THINK, 65° IS COMFY, SAYS WPB

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—No matter how it feels to you, the War Production board has it on good authority that a 65 degree home temperature is healthful and comfortable.

The authority is Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the United States public health service, who said the 65 degree temperature is "well within not only the health zone but even the comfort zone."

To minimize discomfort from lowered home temperatures, Parran suggested that similar temperatures be maintained in offices and relatively lower temperatures in factories and other buildings where active work is going on.

WPB RELEASES IRON FOR MAKING OF COAL STOVES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—Because of the fual oil shortage, the War Production board today made unlimited quantities of iron and steel available to certain manufacturers to produce coal and wood burning stoves.

The board withdrew orders limiting the amount of metal that could be used for such production.

The order applies to manufacturers who in 1940-'41 did less than $2,000,000 per year business and are not located in labor shortage areas. This is a classification of stovemakers set up some time ago when large companies in the same industry were converted to war industries.

Uses Rifle to 'Put Crimp in a Few People'; Kills Two

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 3 [Special].—James Lyle, 44 years old, colored, went on a shooting spree with his .22 rifle today. He killed two Negro men and shot at three others, one a soldier, but missed them. His victims were Frank Knighten, 40 years old, and Sam Moulton. Arraigned in Municipal court, where he waived examination, Lyle explained that he "didn't mean to kill them" and that he "just shot around to put a crimp in a few people." He was taken to jail to await trial.

WOMAN MAY SIT AGAIN AT BAR IF SHE HAS ESCORT

Council Votes to Ease Tavern Restriction.

Women accompanied by male escorts will soon be drinking at Chicago bars again, under an amendment to the city tavern ordinance, passed by the council yesterday with only one dissenting vote.

Just how soon the lady tavern patrons may leave the tables to which they were relegated by the ordinance passed last summer, and move back to the bar stools, depends entirely on the legal procedure necessary for the amendment to become law.

If the amendment is signed by Mayor Kelly, it will be published immediately, becoming law 10 days after publication. If the mayor takes no action before the next council meeting on Dec. 9, the amended ordinance may still be published and become law in 10 days without his signature.

Introduced by Bowler.

Ald. Bowler told the council he would favor full repeal of the ordinance if it were not for the war. "If things weren't as they are," he said, "with our city full of members of the armed forces, I would be for full repeal, but in view of the presence of the armed forces I submit this amendment."

Mayor Kelly declined to sign the amendment yesterday, saying he wanted "to think it over." But the overwhelmingly favorable vote by the council, which the mayor dominates almost completely, indicated he had given the "go ahead" signal. That the amendment was introduced by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], administration leader, supported this view.

Aldermen said privately they had been receiving a deluge of complaints from tavern owners, especially where few tables could be installed. These aldermen took their complaints to the mayor.

Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] spoke against the measure before the vote was taken.

Callahan Is Dissenter.

"If the country sees prohibition again," he said, "it will be because of only one reason—that we permit women at the bars."

"A majority of the people patronizing taverns are penalized by the actions of a few," replied Ald. Bernard J. O'Hallaren [18th].

Ald. Francis E. Callahan [37th] cast the only dissenting vote against the amended ordinance.

Wife Divorces Don Wilson; Charges Extreme Cruelty

Las Vegas, Nev., Dec. 3 (AP).—Peggy Ann Kent Wilson was granted a divorce today from Donald H. Wilson, radio announcer, on Jack Benny's program. Mrs. Wilson, who testified in support of her charge of extreme cruelty, is the daughter of the late Sidney R. Kent, president of 20th Century-Fox studios. The couple was married Nov. 19, 1940, at Van Nuys, Cal. It was Mrs. Wilson's fourth marriage.

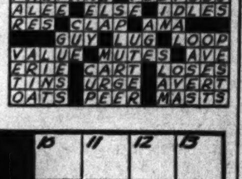
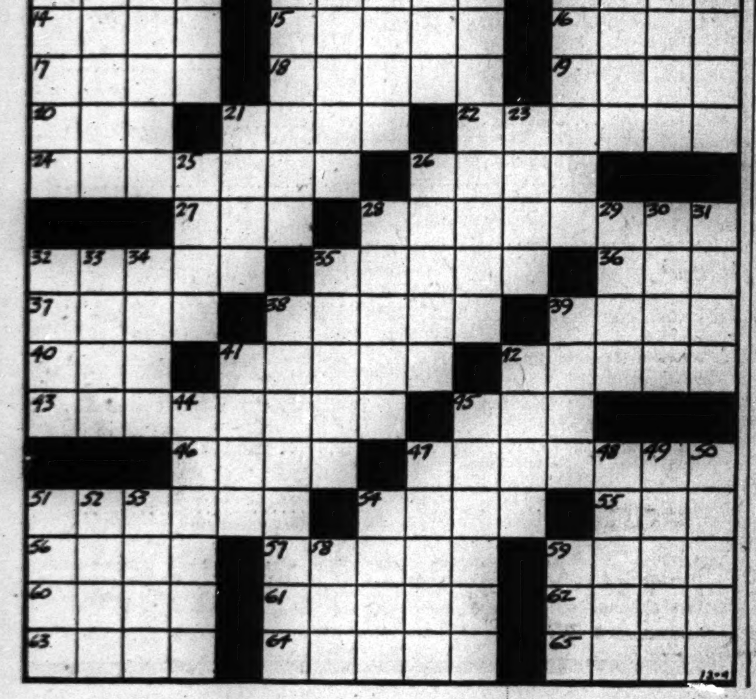
PUZZLE OF THURSDAY, DEC. 3, SOLVED





OFFICIAL CHARGES FRAUD OF MILLION AT NAVAL DEPOT

Finds Fault with U. S. Investigation.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 3 [Special].—Department of justice officials disclosed tonight that evidence involving alleged fraud and bribery at the $40,000,000 naval supply depot at nearby Mechanicsburg will be presented to a federal grand jury here Monday.

About the same time Capt. E. H. Van Patten, supply officer in command of the depot, announced that an investigation is being made by federal agencies into "what appears to be financial transactions of a questionable nature" in the depot's construction work.

Both statements came after United States Commissioner Sidney E. Friedman announced that "there is a solid basis in fact for reports that wholesale theft, bribery, and embezzlement on the building project has resulted in a shortage of over $1,000,000 in materials and equipment."

Charges Inquiry Blocked.

The commissioner said he was revealing information in his possession only because efforts to block the investigation and stop prosecutions were meeting with apparent success. He charged that the Federal Bureau of Investigation and naval intelligence were "hamstrung" by order from Washington, adding:

"This is the first time in my 11 years as a United States commissioner that I have known the FBI to be stopped in the performance of its official duty."

The naval depot, chief supply base for ships operating on the east coast and form materials destined for overseas shipment, was dedicated Oct. 1. It is located 150 miles inland.

The commissioner said the matter was brought before him last Oct. 16 when the FBI and naval intelligence, which had been investigating for some time previously, instituted criminal prosecution, on the authority of United States Attorney Frederick V. Follmer, against Martin H. Rutt Jr., a civilian employé at the depot, charging theft of government property.

"Unusual Procedure."

Rutt was taken into custody the same day, committed to the Dauphin county prison, and given a hearing on Oct. 21, at which time he presented a signed statement and was released under $1,000 bond. On Nov. 2, Rutt again was arrested by the same agencies and on the same authority and charged with the same offense but involving different merchandise, the commissioner related.

"Altho I ordered Rutt committed to jail on Nov. 2 to await grand jury action," Friedman said, "he was taken to the Pennsylvania motor police barracks and detained there for questioning for two days, then was taken to the Dauphin county prison, a decidedly unusual procedure."

The commissioner said Rutt had promised to reveal "higher ups" in the alleged irregularities, but he did not know if the prisoner had during the time he was held at the police barracks.

'$3,500 Cash Bribe.'

However, a week later the investigators brought before him a member of a large machinery and equipment firm which was employed on the depot. He said the officers had "a signed confession and $3,500 cash bribe money."

"The investigators," Friedman continued, "called the United States attorney in Scranton and asked authority to issue warrants and proceed with the prosecution, a compulsory procedure. The officers were told to remain in my office while Washington was consulted.

Inquiry Transferred.

"About 30 minutes later the Scranton office called back with instructions for the FBI and naval intelligence to stop the prosecution and release their prisoners because the inquiry was being turned over to the war frauds unit of the department of justice."

Friedman emphasized that he did not "call in the press," asserting that reporters came to him after naval intelligence had told them only the commissioner had the documentary evidence of the matter and was free to talk.

"Only then did I reveal the facts to get some action," the commissioner said," and apparently I accomplished my purpose. If Washington is sincere in its desire to give the American people the facts, I see no reason why fraud and corruption in war construction should not be revealed."

INDICT 2 IOWANS FOR APPROVING FAULTY BULLETS

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 3 (AP).—Two men were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of causing defective ammunition to be approved and certified for use by the armed forces.

The justice department's war frauds unit said in Washington that it was the first case of the war involving ammunition intended for use on the fighting fronts. They face possible maximum sentences of up to 92 years if convicted.

The indictments named the men as Robert C. Mercer, chief area supervisor of inspection at the Des Moines ordnance plant, and John Henry A. Replogle, former assistant chief.

United States Marshal J. J. Gillespie said both men were taken into custody a few hours after the indictments were returned. The United States district attorney's office said the men were accused of altering an inspection machine so it would pass defective ammunition.

Women in Arms Plants in Britain Win $10 Pay

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The minimum wage for half a million women munition workers was increased today to $10 a week by an agreement between an employers' federation and the unions concerned. The new rate means a boost of $1.40 for those on the minimum scale working the normal 47 hour week.

NO GAS FOR CAR, SO DOCTOR TRIES SITDOWN STRIKE

Dr. J. M. Nicholson, 5833 Kenmore avenue, a practicing physician for 42 years, went on a sitdown strike in his home yesterday because of the gas rationing program.

Unable to obtain more than an "A" card from his local board as yet, Dr. Nicholson ran into difficulty Wednesday evening. After numerous visits to patients thruout the day, which sapped his precious tank of gas, he received a call from the Illinois Masonic hospital late in the evening. With no anti-freeze liquid in the radiator of his car, he was forced to let the motor run while in the hospital. He then made the rounds of five or six garages which refused to take his car in for the night and which had no anti-freeze to sell. Dr. Nicholson arrived at his home with one gallon of gas left in his tank . . . which was still there yesterday.

"I am one of the doctors for the Chicago Relief administration and I have a heavy practice of my own," he explained yesterday. "I can't go out on calls for the relief cases, let alone take care of my own patients. I applied to my rationing board for a "C" card several weeks ago, but I haven't received it yet, so I'm just going to sit home until somebody does something about it."

EXPECT TO GIVE MURDER CASE TO JURY TODAY

A jury in Judge Harold G. Ward's division of Criminal court was expected to receive today the case of Rocco De Filippis, 39 years old, on trial for the murder of Policeman James J. Caplis during a robbery at 804 Wilson avenue on Dec. 21, 1931.

De Filippis was arrested in New York city, where he fled after the slaying 11 years ago. Testifying in his defense yesterday, his wife, Jean, and his two daughters, Pauline, 19 and Marie, 17, said he had lived an exemplary life in New York as the proprietor of a fruit and candy store.

The prisoner himself denied participation in the murder, for which four other men were convicted and given prison sentences ranging from 14 to 99 years.

Bingo Games Are Barred in N. Y. Catholic Churches

New York, Dec. 3 [Special].—Roman Catholic churches in the archdiocese of New York have been ordered by the chancery office to discontinue bingo games not yet advertised, the Rev. John J. Hughes of St. Jerome's church, the Bronx, disclosed tonight. He said that until bingo receives a legal status these games in this parish will be discontinued.

U.S. DISCLOSES TASK FORCE TO GUARD LIBERIA

Africa Republic Agrees to Occupation.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—A stronger American grip on North Africa and increased domination of the South Atlantic narrows were indicated today by a state department announcement that Liberia had consented to the establishment of American bases there.

Troops of the United States, largely Negro detachments, have already moved into the famous Negro republic and are already at work. How many troops were in Liberia was not disclosed.

The state department said that action was taken at the request of Liberia, which felt that because of its geographical situation it was in danger of attack and wanted to "safeguard the independence and security of the republic."

Retains Sovereignty.

Under the agreement which followed, the department added, Liberia retains its sovereignty unimpaired, but the United States is to have jurisdiction over all American military and civilian personnel. The United States agreed to extend certain defense assistance to the government and to help in the improvement and extension of the little republic's road system.

The announcement said the agreement was signed at Monrovia, the Liberian capital, last March 31 by Clarence L. Stimpson, Liberian secretary of state, and Lieut. Col. Harry A. McBride, special representative of President Roosevelt.

Valued as Way Station.

Liberia is situated on the westward bulge of Africa, a little below Dakar. Airports there, some observers thought, would be of great value as way stations on the route of the army transport command, over which supplies of all sorts have been flown to North Africa and the near east.

Air force garrisons there also offer security against axis attacks along the African coast, and the bases can be used to patrol the narrow section of the South Atlantic leading to South America against axis submarines and surface raiders.

JAPS TO TIGHTEN INDO-CHINA HOLD, CHINESE REPORT

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Japanese have decided to tighten their control over French Indo-China and take over all the country following the scuttling of the French fleet at Toulon and demobilization of France's European army, a Chinese army spokesman told a press conference today.

The spokesman said the invaders originally planned to divide Indo-China into four regions, allowing the French to control one in the north, and puppet native princes the other three, but expanded their program with the weakening of Vichy's powers.

He also asserted that 20 Japanese warships were observed anchored off China's Chekiang province coast in mid-November, but said he had no information on their mission.

STOP SHIFTING TRAFFIC LANES NEXT MONDAY

Morning and evening shifting of traffic lanes in the Outer drive between Ohio street and Devon avenue will be discontinued temporarily next Monday morning because of decreased traffic, Otto K. Jelinek, park district traffic engineer, announced yesterday.

Effects of the move will be observed by the park police, and if the war effort or the public's convenience requires reëstablishment of the shifting system, such action will be taken, he said.

Jelinek announced also that the traffic control systems in Lake Shore drive, Michigan avenue, and Field drive will have a new automatic progression setup for the morning and evening rush hour periods.

"cordial welcome" in a statement by Secretary of State Clarence L. Simpson in mid-August.

"A friendly bond has always existed between the people of the United States and Liberia, which I hope not only will continue to exist but will gradually bring a better understanding and closer relations between the people of both countries," he said.

President Edwin Barclay on Nov. 20 told the new legislature meeting here that Liberia had modified her policy of neutrality "to one of close coöperation with the government of the United States and her allies in the present war."

"The future of Liberia," he said, "is inextricably bound up in the victory of those states fighting for the maintenance of the general principles implicit in the Atlantic charter and the four freedoms announced by President Roosevelt."

In the first interview granted to any newspaper man in nine years, the 60 year old president said he turned to America and requested protection for Liberia because of the traditional friendship between the two countries.

U. S. Is Best Friend.

"Ours is a historical friendship," he pointed out. "The United States has always taken an altruistic interest in us. She is the strongest international friend we have and our international policy has been conditioned generally on her leadership. For this reason we turned to her for aid."

The president, who is endowed with almost absolute control of his country's military, administrative, and financial affairs, declared that no state could safely insulate itself from the events now changing the world and pointed to Liberia's interior frontiers which were surrounded by the territories of three belligerent states.

WHISKY, JAP SWORDS AND CANDY OUTRATE CASH ON GUADALCANAL

Money has no value to American fighting men on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons, because there is nothing to spend it for, writes Lieut. Roger Haberman, a marine fighting pilot, to his parents in Ellsworth, Wis.

Lieut. Haberman.

Value is reckoned, on the other hand, in whisky, candy bars and relics retrieved from dead Japanese, he wrote. "Swords of dead Jap officers sell from $65 to $125, or from one to three quarts of whisky," Lieut. Haberman's letter says.

"At this writing I am safe and well," the lieutenant wrote on Oct. 24. "We contact the enemy every day and get in plenty of shooting and also get plenty of stuff shot at us. My score to date is 5½ planes. I have shot down two dive bombers and three Zeros by myself and yesterday three of us shot down two Zeros which accounts for the ½ plane.

"P. S.—Enclosed find some Jap money taken from a Jap soldier. It is a 10 yen note."

EDEN PROMISES STATEMENT ON WAR CHAININGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden promised parliament today that the government would make a statement on the chaining of war prisoners before the house of commons adjourns for its Christmas vacation.

Meanwhile letters are beginning to arrive here from British prisoners of war telling how the Germans put their chaining threats into effect, starting at noon on Oct. 8 and beginning with the British troops captured at Dieppe.

REVEALS GERMAN UNITS IN TUNISIA HASTILY FORMED

Ancient Town a Scene of Ruins After Battle.

BY WILLIAM B. KING.

MED JEZ-EL-BAB, with Allied Forces on the Tunisian Battlefront, Nov. 27 [delayed] (AP).—Allied officers reported today that papers taken from captured Germans indicated that much of the force thrown into Tunisia had been drawn from supply troops, the Pioneer [engineer] corps and other miscellaneous categories quickly formed into infantry units.

This neat white village, which dates from the days of Hannibal, lay in deserted ruins as the force of the allied drive against the axis swept closer to Tunis.

Blow Hole in Stone Bridge.

The Germans fleeing from Med Jez-el-Bab blew a gaping hole in the ancient Roman bridge spanning Oued Medjerda [a river] in an effort to slow the advance of the British infantry—but engineers made repairs in a single night with steel and timber.

The modern patch between the graceful arches of the stone bridge offered an odd sight from the distance but it enabled even the heaviest equipment to roll thru the town on the heels of the Germans.

Within the town today only a few British and French soldiers went about their duties amid the rubble caused by the concentrated shelling by allied guns during the hours when the foe held the point against the allied advance.

One Disconsolate Arab.

A lone Arab sat disconsolately in a doorway flicking at flies with a light stick. About him were shell-pocked walls, roofless houses and an occasional charred German vehicle.

A French couple struggled over the repaired bridge with some burden between them, apparently returning to the home they had abandoned hurriedly when the Germans decided to make a battlefield of this town.

DEATH RULED SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of Mrs. Madaline Scott, 43, who died in the county hospital Wednesday from injuries sustained Nov. 7 when she leaped from a second floor window of her home at 4715 Sheridan road.

ALLIES BEAT OFF 2D AND HEAVIER BLOW IN TUNISIA

Enemy Makes Big Attack in Tebourba Area.

Djedeida after a 48 hour battle there. It said the fighting was still going on in the Tebourba area.

The spokesman said the ground battle was a furious two day affair, but now both sides were regrouping their forces and seeking to recover wrecked tanks.

"The edge will go to the one who regains his strength more quickly," he said.

He estimated that the Germans have 14,000 combat troops available for battle.

The German Version.

The German version of the Tebourba fighting, reported by DNB, official German news agency, said that "enemy troops were smashed and wiped out by the German attack. 210 prisoners were taken and several hundred dead remained on the battlefield."

DNB reported the battle of Tebourba still was in progress, with "lively fighting" over a wide front. It said the Americans had suffered "extraordinarily heavy losses" and that Stuka dive bombers had destroyed three tanks and numerous vehicles.

The Berlin radio said that Tebourba had been recaptured but the high command made no such claim. The Germans also claimed 40 tanks were destroyed.

Axis Convoy Broken Up.

The enemy convoy broken up by an allied naval squadron was southbound for Tunisia when it was spotted by planes. A force of three cruisers and two destroyers fell upon it shortly after midnight. The convoy scattered and threw up smoke screens, but four supply ships and two of the escorting destroyers soon were dispatched by the guns of the British cruisers Aurora, Sirius, and Argonaut, and the destroyers Quiberon and Quentin.

All the British warships came out of the sea action undamaged and without casualties, but a subsequent attack by dive bombers and torpedo planes sank the Quentin. Most of her crew was saved. [An allied headquarters communique added one more enemy destroyer to those listed by the admiralty as sunk.]

The Italians said that a British light cruiser was sunk along with an Italian destroyer. The Germans said that a submarine dispatched the cruiser of the 9,850 ton London class and that an escort vessel and destroyer were sunk by bombers.

Both sides were making full use of their air forces, the allies sending over squadrons of planes day and night.

The headquarters communique said allied planes blasted docks and the airdrome at Bizerte and the airdrome at Tunis while fighters carried out sweeps over the Gabes area in southeastern Tunisia and the forward fighting zones.

"Much damage has been done to both airdromes, especially at Tunis, and many enemy aircraft on the ground have been destroyed," the communique said. Eight enemy planes were destroyed in air combat and on the ground.

Other allied planes attached to the British 1st army and its American and French supporting columns ranged widely over Tunisia.

The 9th United States air force in Libya sent its bombers 400 miles over the desert to Tripoli in three attacks which damaged that port so severely that "considerable repair work" will be necessary before it can be used at full capacity, an American communique at Cairo said. Six merchant ships were sunk or damaged at Tripoli, a large warehouse on the Spanish mole was demolished, and a great hole was knocked in the Karsmanli mole. British manned Liberators [B-24 bombers] continued the attacks on Tripoli Tuesday night.

Other bombers attached to the British 8th army in Libya, and planes from Malta, attacked Bizerte and Gabes in Tunisia, shot up a train.

U. S. Paratroopers March 115 Miles Afoot in 3 Days

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 3 (AP).—Several hundred singing, laughing, footsore paratroopers of the 506th parachute infantry bivouacked tonight on the Oglethorpe university campus after a forced march of 115 miles in three days. They marched here from Toccoa, Ga., where they are in training, with full war equipment—field packs, machine guns, trench mortars, and rifles. They did the last mile at double time. Every man made the distance afoot. Not one dropped out permanently.

JAPANESE K. O.'D BY BARNEY ROSS ON GUADALCANAL

Chicago Champion Saves Wounded Marines.

BY J. NORMAN LODGE.

MARINE FRONT LINES, Guadalcanal, Nov. 22 [Delayed]—(AP).—Barney Ross, retired pugilistic champion in two divisions, today was credited with scoring seven knockouts of Japanese snipers after a tussle which brought him a promotion and a recommendation that he be decorated for courage.

Barney Ross.

But the only thing worrying the Chicago battler was: "This damned arthritis!"

Despite the fact that he stood guard over three wounded comrades thruout the night of Nov. 19, refused to be evacuated when his marine unit was ordered to the rear after being isolated, and regardless of the fact it was almost certain death to remain exposed to a hidden machine gun nest, Ross remained in an advanced position and fired more than 450 rounds of ammunition during the night.

May Have Killed 10 Others.

He took a toll of at least seven dead Japs and 10 probables.

For this heroism Ross was promoted on the field to corporal and his company commander, Capt. O. K. LeBlanc of Abbeville, La., recommended him for the navy cross or the army distinguished service cross.

Ross is known to thousands of fight fans for his ring abilities. He proved that a champion may lose his title, but the heart that carried him to the top always remains the heart of a champion.

The story of his exploit was told by Capt. Le Blanc, who said:

"Ross, a hell of a good marine, had been suffering from a bad knee and was ordered to refrain from going on patrols. He coaxed and coaxed and finally I sent him to the front on Nov. 18.

"That night Ross, a first class private at the time, was in a unit ordered to act as a covering force for an infantry regiment, take them forward, and cover their approach to a point west of the Matanikau river.

"The movement began at 9 a. m. on Nov. 19, supported by artillery and heavy machine gun fire. The enemy was engaged near the eastern base at Point Cruz, but the forward movement continued.

Patrol Does Its Job.

"The patrol knocked out one Jap mortar and two light machine guns and continued forward, reaching its objective at 4 p. m. There was no opposition after passing Point Cruz and Ross' patrol, relieved by the infantry unit, began a withdrawal, their mission having been accomplished.

"Suddenly the patrol was hit by heavy ambushed machine gun fire and one casualty was sustained. Four of our boys improvised a litter to evacuate the wounded man, but five minutes later all the stretcher bearers had been riddled in the legs by machine gun fire.

"The patrol then was ordered to withdraw, leaving casualties behind because of the heavy fire.

Three Refuse to Leave.

"Three men refused to leave the wounded. They were Pvt. Barney K. Ross of Chicago, M. L. Guarnett from Arkansas, and Leo J. Washvillo of New Jersey.

"These three stood guard over the wounded all night. Finally Washvillo made his way back to the front to get help. We evacuated two wounded to Matanikau on the 20th.

"On the return trip, from Ross and the other two, we learned what transpired during the night of the 19th.

"Ross was in one foxhole with three wounded men, ministering their needs and keeping up rifle and tommy gun fire. Shortly after midnight, two infantrymen tumbled into Ross' foxhole. Ross took charge, doing all the firing during the night."

Capt. Le Blanc said Ross had been evacuated for a two day rest. At the divisional medical area he refused to enlarge on the exploit. Asked if he felt any bad effects, all Ross would say was:

"This damned arthritis is giving me hell."

FAMILY REJOICES

BY FRANK MASTRO.

There was rejoicing in the Rasof family last night following receipt of reports that Barney Ross, renowned member of the west side group, had survived an all night barrage of machine gun and shell fire by the Japs on Guadalcanal.

The information silenced repeated rumors that the former Chicago Tribune Golden Gloves champion had been killed in action.

Saves Three Buddies.

"He's a great guy, all right," Ben Rasof, Barney's 44 year old brother, smiled last night in Ross' loop cocktail lounge which he is operating during the Chicagoan's absence.

"Think of it; he killed seven Japs in addition to saving the lives of his three wounded marine buddies."

"My boy; thank God he is safe," Mrs. Rasof kept murmuring. Ross will be 33 years old on Dec. 23.

Report Italian Senators Demand End to War

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Leading members of the Italian senate, including admirals, generals, and two uncles of Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano, are reported to have sent a demand to King Victor Emmanuel to call off the war, dismiss Premier Benito Mussolini, and free Italy of German domination.

FOUND DEAD ON TRACKS.

HEROIC EXPLOITS BY CHICAGOLAND WARRIORS TOLD

Gary Marine Kills Eight Japs on Guadalcanal.

Stories of heroism by Chicagoland warriors in the United States fighting services highlighted news stories of the war yesterday. The scenes of their exploits were laid in widely separated parts of the world—from the Solomon Islands of the Pacific to the coast of Africa in the Atlantic.

Eugene Yates.

On Guadalcanal, in the Solomons, a young Gary, Ind., marine slew eight Japs and then was brought home to recover from a bullet wound. This hero was Pvt. George Louis Turzai, 18 years old.

Eugene Yates, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Yates, 620 North Troy street, Chicago, reached home for a furlough after a narrow escape from death near the coast of North Africa.

Saves Bible When Ship Sinks.

Young Yates, a fireman, 2d class, aboard the naval transport Hugh L. Scott, saved a Bible, a picture of his wife, Helen, and the clothing he was wearing when the transport was sunk off Fedala, North Africa.

The young warrior said he and two shipmates were assigned to take supplies ashore in a power lighter. When about 300 feet from the transport on a return trip the torpedo struck. Yates said that after a terrific explosion the transport seemed to fly to pieces.

Two other survivors of American transports sunk off North Africa were revealed in the Chicago area as the navy announced loss of the vessels. They are Ralph Bernhardt, 18, seaman 2d class aboard the Edward Rutledge, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bernhardt of Woodstock, and Lieut. Harry H. McNeill, 37, who was aboard the Hugh L. Scott when it was sunk. He is visiting his brother, John J. McNeill, 217 North Cicero avenue, Chicago.

Lieut. McNeill, who has been a sailor since he was 14 years old and joined the navy last August, said he saw considerable action in the African occupation, "but the fighting ships took care of that."

Learns Son Is Commended.

Word was received by Mrs. Susan Holloway, 27 West Williams street, Aurora, that her son, Robert Eugene Halsey, 18, had been awarded a letter of commendation by the navy for heroic work in connection with a convoy task.

Back from service in the Atlantic came Arthur McNeil, 22, a naval petty officer serving in the merchant marine. He and 16 other sailors were rescued when their ship was torpedoed, being picked up by a destroyer. His home is in St. Charles.

Not all of the news about Chicagoland's heroes was good, however. Mr. and Mrs. William Hardy, 904 Kelly avenue, Joliet, were notified that their son, Wendell, 23, was missing in action in the Pacific.

Sad news also came to Mrs. Roy Krogh, 2411 West 172d street, Homewood. She was notified that her husband, Lieut. Krogh, a naval aviator, had been killed in an air crash in Australia.

BOMBER CRASH KILLS TWO CANADIAN GIRL WAR BOND SALESMEN

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 3 (AP).—Two girl war plant workers, taking an airplane flight as a reward for Victory bond sales, were among five persons killed today when a Canadian bomber crashed in wooded Point Pleasant park here.

One was Miss Jean Curran of Dartmouth. The other's name was withheld temporarily pending notification of her relatives. The girls were employés of Clark Ruse Aircraft, Ltd., owner of the bomber, which had undergone tests and was to have been turned over shortly to the Canadian air force.

The cause of the accident, in which all aboard were killed, was not determined. The plane's pilot was Flight Lieut. Harry Prentiss of Toronto, chief test pilot for the company, on loan from the RCAF. The others killed were Arthur Cahill, Ottawa, flight engineer of the company, and Owen McCauley of Sydney, N. S.

ARGENTINA CURBS CODE MESSAGES; A BLOW TO AXIS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Argentine government tonight limited diplomatic code messages to 100 words daily in drastically revised radio, telephone, and telegraph regulations which will operate to the disadvantage of axis embassies.

Shortly after the interior ministry announced establishment of control stations especially to detect clandestine radio transmitters, the postoffice department, charged with carrying out the communications decree, disclosed the regulations affecting diplomatic messages.

While no nations were mentioned by the regulations, they clearly operated against axis representatives. In effect the diplomats of Germany, Japan, and Italy each were limited to sending 100 words daily in code by radio. Other nations mostly use cable, to which no limit has been applied.

Lake Tug Clears After Freeing Icebound Men

MEN OF MIDDLE WEST WIN NAVY COMMENDATION

Chicagoans on List of 32 Lauded as Heroes.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—The navy today announced commendations for 32 officers and men, including four officers praised for organizing and directing convoy protection methods. Among the officers was Capt. Henry M. Mullinix, Attica, Ind., for "the equipping, specialized training, and operation of aircraft in anti-submarine and escort of convoy operations."

Lawrence Collins.

Identical letters of commendation for action during air attacks went to 14 enlisted men who were members of armed guard crews. The letters stated that on numerous occasions during a voyage enemy planes attacked the convoy and several attacks were made on vessels on which the men were stationed. "However, due to the prompt action of the crew in manning machine guns, no casualties or damage to the ship resulted."

Men from Illinois.

Among the 14 men were:

Sheldon Francis Rauh, 22, gunner's mate, son of Edward Ralph Rauh, Depue, Ill.

Seven of another armed guard crew received letters which said that on two occasions enemy planes approached their vessels but were driven off by effective machine gun fire. They included:

Chicagoans Honored.

Howard Winton Conover, 18, seaman second class, son of Howard Franklin Conover, 510 East Jackson street, Bloomington, Ill.

Identical letters of commendation for keeping up constant fire against numerous aerial attacks, damaging one enemy bomber and sending another into the sea, went to members of an armed guard crew on another merchant vessel, including:

MacARTHUR STAFF MEMBER WINS SERVICE CROSS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—The award of the distinguished service cross to Col. David Larr of Arlington, Va., a member of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff, was announced today by the war department.

Larr went on a low-level reconnaissance flight over eastern New Guinea Sept. 16 in a small, slow plane. The plane was forced down far inside enemy territory and Larr was forced to remain overnight while making repairs. He was able to take off the next morning just in time to escape capture by the Japanese. The following day he participated in another mission.

Larr was born in Sullivan, Ind., Jan. 20, 1901.

16 ALLIED SHIPS LOST IN OPENING AFRICAN FRONT

5 U. S. Transports Among Vessels Sunk.

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Sixteen allied naval vessels, including five United States naval transports, were lost out of an estimated 850 participating in the occupation of North Africa nearly a month ago, announcements here and in Washington, D. C., disclosed today. Casualties were described as "very small."

Allied warships lost in the original allied movement on Morocco and Algeria, the admiralty said, included the small British aircraft carrier Avenger, three destroyers, two cutters, a sloop, a minesweeper, an anti-aircraft ship, a depot ship, and the corvette Gardenia.

The toll of allied naval vessels and transports in the hot fighting that took place at several points was described in the house of commons as considerably smaller than expected and "far less than the enemy claimed."

Lost Off Three Ports.

The American transports listed as sunk were the Tasker H. Bliss, the Hugh L. Scott, and the Edward Rutledge—all lost off Casablanca, where the French put up their most spirited resistance; the Joseph Hewes, sunk off Rabat, Morocco, and the Leedstown, sunk off Algiers. All were sunk by enemy submarines.

The United States navy department added that three other transports, a destroyer, and a tanker were damaged. The names were not disclosed.

[The navy department said "the next of kin of personnel killed, wounded or missing are being notified by telegram as soon as information is received." A war department official said the army's list of 1,910 casualties in the African campaign made public on Nov. 23 included all known casualties of the army and navy at that time. It would be assumed that any casualties in the loss of the five transports were in that list.]

Former President Liners.

The Bliss was identified as the former liner President Cleveland, gross tonnage 12,568; the Leedstown as the former liner Santa Lucia, 9,135 tons; the Scott as the former President Pierce, 12,579 tons; the Rutledge as the former Exeter, 9,360 tons, and the Hewes as the former Excalibur, 9,359 tons. All had been converted to naval use since the war began.

The British aircraft carrier Avenger lost was the former American cargo-passenger liner Rio Hudson of 17,500 tons, launched two years ago at Chester, Pa. It was owned by the Moore-McCormack Lines. Upon conversion as an aircraft carrier, the ship accompanied a convoy to England last spring and was turned over to the British.

Dutch Destroyer Sunk.

The three destroyers listed by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, as sunk were the Broke and the Martin, both British, and the Isaac Sweers, a Netherlands ship which had been towed half-completed to England when the Nazis invaded the Lowlands.

The cutters Walney and Hartland, two former United States coast guard vessels transferred to the British navy in 1941, were sunk in what Alexander said was "a gallant attempt to prevent the scuttling of blockships in Oran harbor."

Alexander told commons that, as against these losses inflicted on the great allied sea borne expedition, seven axis supply ships, three tankers, and two destroyers had been sunk in the Mediterranean by British submarines since the allied landing of Nov. 8. In addition, an axis cruiser, two destroyers, and four supply ships had been damaged, he said.

Alexander estimated that more than 30 U-boats had been damaged or destroyed. One successful attack he described as unique—the sinking for the first time, of a U-boat by an aerial torpedo.

ALLIES DESTROY 450 JAP TROOPS IN GONA BATTLE

Knock Out 21 Planes in Raid on Timor.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Dec. 4 [Friday]—(AP).—Allied troops have killed 450 Japanese in the Gona area of New Guinea with only slight losses themselves, and allied planes are attacking the remaining enemy coastal footholds at such low levels the Japanese are using their mortars as anti-aircraft guns, a spokesman said today.

The noon communique acknowledged the Japanese were "resisting stubbornly" every inch of ground, both in the Gona and Buna sectors, but said "our ground forces are receiving artillery and air support."

Details of Fighting.

At Gona two Japanese machine gun posts were captured during a slight advance and 450 of the enemy were killed. An allied patrol inflicted 20 casualties in the same area and artillery fire leveled several native huts in villages near Gona where the Japanese had entrenched themselves.

At Buna the allied advance also was slight—a matter of a few yards thru swamps where the Japanese resisted every foot of ground in close-quarter fighting.

Allied A-20 and B-25 bombers and Airacobra fighter planes continued to give the ground troops strong support, repeatedly strafing Japanese anti-aircraft posts, machine gun nests, and barges.

Jap Destroyers Vanish.

There were no further reports of the Japanese destroyers that attempted to land reënforcements and were beaten off. When last seen the enemy warships were 40 miles off shore and heading north away from New Guinea.

Belated reports said that Beaufighter planes in the Gona area sank two empty barges and two others, each containing about 20 Japanese soldiers. These barges were among those which apparently were intended to transfer troops to shore from the destroyers.

The Japanese lost 23 planes out of their screen over the destroyers, and today's communique added another 21 destroyed or damaged. The latter planes were the victims of a surprise blow by allied airmen on another sector—the Island of Timor, northwest of Australia. The raid was made at Koepang, on the southwestern tip of Timor.

Smoke shooting up from the transport Edward Rutledge just after it was hit by enemy torpedo.

TWO HURT BY STREET CARS.

George Wilson, 48 years old, 809 South State street, was struck by a street car in front of 2316 Madison street last night, and Frank Radecki, 54, of 24 North May street, walked against the side of a car at 617 Madison street. Both suffered skull fractures.

BRITAIN DISOWNS CONNECTION WITH DARLAN POSITION

Perhaps Set Himself Up, Eden Conjectures.

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The British government today disclaimed any connection with the assumption of complete political and legal authority in North Africa by Adm. Jean Darlan.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons that the government was not consulted on Darlan's move and did not consider itself bound by his assumption of power.

On the contrary, the government has endorsed President Roosevelt's description of the Darlan régime as temporary and announced it was standing by commitments to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Fighting French.

Eden announced an early but undisclosed date for the government's promised statement on Darlan at a secret session of commons.

Eisenhower Lauds Darlan.

Asked whether any other of the united nations was committed to Darlan's action, Eden said "as far as I know it was the unilateral inspiration of Adm. Darlan himself."

Meanwhile United States Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in cihef of the North African operations, in a message to the people of French Africa congratulated Darlan and others "on the manner in which they have rallied to the united nations to save France."

His mesasge, broadcast from Morocco, also spoke of French-American collaboration in terms not only of North Africa but of the eventual liberation of France itself.

"All Frenchmen worthy of their country's great past have forgotten their small differences of ideas," said Eisenhower.

De Gaulle Holds Aloof.

De Gaulle, whose Fighting French adherents held aloof from any dealings with the ex-collaborationist Darlan, was reported to be preparing to broadcast to France to clarify his own position.

The fact that Darlan was becoming a rival to De Gaulle as leader of the proallied French was illustrated by the Algiers radio announcement that Marcel Peyrouton, one-time French governor of Tunisia, once of the Vichy cabinet and collaborationist clique, had joined Darlan, not De Gaulle.

Peyrouton left the Vichy circle last April when he asked to be relieved as Vichy's envoy to Buenos Aires.

The Fighting French accepted his adherence to Darlan as "logical" since, he like Darlan, is a "personal enemy of Pierre Laval." When dismissed as the Vichy interior minister, a De Gaulle spokesman said, Peyrouton "made an indirect effort to contact the Fighting French but was frozen off."

LEND BINOCULARS AS A CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR NAVY

Chicagoans owning Zeiss or Bausch Lomb binoculars, sizes 6x30 or 7x50, have an opportunity to make a most practical Christmas gift to the United States navy—a gift that will be returned in good condition at the end of the war. Already dozens of Chicagoans have lent their binoculars, for which they receive $1 rent for the duration, but still more binoculars are needed. Dr. George Elgin, 8931 South Bell avenue, is the champion lender, having sent four acceptable pairs to the navy public relations office, 333 North Michigan avenue. Among the latest lenders is Capt. Frank J. Reynolds of the Chicago avenue police district.

CRANBORNE RAPS FOES OF BRITISH EMPIRE POLICY

Says 'We Have a Mission' to Aid Colonies.

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Lord Cranborne, mentioned as a possible successor to Lord Linlithgow as viceroy of India, declared today that "the British colonial empire is not coming to an end; the work we have to do is only beginning."

Cranborne, the retiring colonial secretary who replaced Stafford Cripps as lord privy seal in the recent cabinet shakeup, told the house of lords that "we citizens of the British empire have a mission to perform . . . essential to the welfare of the world . . . to insure the survival of the way of life for which the united nations are fighting and in harmony with the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

Aimed at Willkie.

"In that great mission we must not and shall not fail."

It was said by observers that Cranborne apparently aimed his remarks at critics, including Wendell L. Willkie, who have directly or indirectly accused Britain of fighting to maintain the imperial status quo.

Meanwhile, London political circles reported that Prime Minister Churchill might use the appointment of a new viceroy to shuffle the war cabinet again so as to include Air Minister Archibald Sinclair, thus giving the Liberal faction representation.

May Not Accept.

The present war cabinet, with four Tories and three Laborites, is hardly "national," the Liberals insist.

Sinclair has been subject to "strong representations" for the Indian post, but friends assert that it is not at all certain he would accept.

Chicagoan's Hals Portrait Is Auctioned for $30,000

New York, Dec. 3 [Special].—A portrait of a smiling clergyman by Frans Hals tonight brought $30,000 at an auction at the Parke-Bernet Galleries, Inc. The panel, measuring only 10½ by 9 inches, came from the collection of Frank D. Stout, Chicago.

Kiss and Make Up

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aluzas after their reconciliation in court yesterday.

"You have my blessing," said Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court yesterday when Charles Aluzas, 21 years old, 2321 Montana street, a war plant foreman, and his wife, Victoria, 20, kissed and made up on the advice of both Aluzas' attorney, Samuel M. Starr, and the judge. "We just realized we still love each other," they agreed, and abandoned divorce plans. The couple married June 27 and separated Nov. 13. Starr told them that three months was insufficient time to test a marriage and Judge Sabath added: "Why, you're still on your honeymoon! It's too soon for you to fight." After a conference, Mrs. Aluzas withdrew her divorce suit charging cruelty and desertion.

QUAKE JARS U.S. TROOPS AT BASE IN NEW ZEALAND

Post Exchange Rocked —Goods Scattered.

BY QUENTIN POPE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Dec. 3.—United States forces stationed in New Zealand rode thru an earthquake yesterday at noon time, and thought it ill timed. The men of one headquarters outfit had just finished early chow when the earth tremors showered them with plaster.

Goods at the post exchange were strewn around on the floor and some files were shaken off the shelves, but no damage was done. The building, which recently was checked over by building construction gangs, rode thru the shock in good condition.

The Yanks are finding the task of settling down into their new environment eased by the work of Voluntary New Zealand Helpers, who labor for the welfare of the troops. The organization includes restaurants, where meals can be had at any hour; night spots where the men can eat and dance, and various sports activities. The organization provides competition for the Yanks in both American and local pastimes.

Devised for Home Boys.

These facilities were devised originally to care for New Zealand's own soldiers, who have been mobilized on an unprecedented scale. The program has been extended to include the Americans, and now helps to occupy much of the men's leisure time.

This organization is the local equivalent of the USO. Like the USO, it works among all the services, so that Yanks meet New Zealand airmen, British sailors, or members of other united nations service units when they are on leave.

A high rating was given to all United States needs when plans were laid for the facilities for the service centers. An example is the United Services café, where many teams of women and girls work a 14 hour day seven days a week. The café owns refrigerators, which are far from universal in this climate; doughnut machines, and a huge grill from which comes many favorite dishes of the Yanks.

Provide Nightly Entertainment.

Several nights weekly, the various clubs stage dances. Other nights they operate games in rooms where the Yanks can have companionship and quiet fun.

In this fourth year of war, there is no room for road shows, for which New Zealand long has been dependent upon Australia, but which gasoline rationing and railroad control have halted for the duration.

The gasoline shortage and the taxicab priority system also have cut the movement to and from once popular out-of-town night spots. This automatically has increased midtown congestion.

BERNE AND SOFIA HAVE AIR RAID ALARMS: BERLIN

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—The German radio announced tonight that air raid alarms had been sounded during the evening in Berne, Switzerland, and Sofia, Bulgaria.

Air alarms in Berne usually indicate that British planes are en route to bomb Italy. Alarms have sounded previously in Sofia when allied planes were active over the Balkans. The radio said no planes flew over the Bulgarian capital during the 45 minute alert.

British Raid Enemy Shipping.

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—British planes today damaged enemy shipping off the Cherbourg peninsula of France after the royal air force had made its 36th raid on the western German city of Frankfurt last night.

BROKER'S HOME LOOTED.

Julian Lentin, a wholesale lumber broker, yesterday reported to police that burglars had broken into his apartment at 530 Belmont avenue and had stolen $225 and jewelry and furs valued at $1,165.

WICKARD DOUBTS U. S. WILL ORDER MILK RATIONING

Demand to Exceed Supply, However, He Says.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard said in Chicago yesterday that so far as he knew there will be no rationing of milk to civilians in order to meet increasing armed forces and lend-lease requirements for milk and dairy products. He said that altho 1943 milk output will fall short of demand by 18 billion pounds, there will not be a "shortage in average supplies."

Wickard is attending a three day regional farm production goals conference in the Morrison hotel. The nation's agricultural output for next year and the methods and problems connected with achieving it are being presented on a state by state basis to members of department of agriculture war boards, regional directors of government farm agencies, state directors of agriculture, and officials of farm organizations.

Ten middlewestern states are represented at the conference, the second of a series of four regional meetings which will cover the 48 states by mid-December.

Next year the nation could use 140 billion pounds of milk, Wickard said in a press conference, but all the nation can produce is 122 billion, despite the record dairy cow population. He asserted that the difference between what is wanted and maximum output does not represent a shortage in itself, but is a "shortage of what is demanded" since consumption of milk and dairy products has increased sharply.

Asked if canned foods were to be rationed, Wickard replied he is "not in a position to answer that." He referred a question regarding the rationing of meat on a point system by Jan. 1 to the Office of Price administration.

Defends Crop Control.

Wickard said the program of fewer government controls over farm production, and allowing the farmer to determine his own crops and output, which has been recommended by agricultural organization leaders at meetings in Chicago this week, would not be feasible if war goals are to be met.

"Turning farmers loose to raise what they want would be the same as telling automobile manufacturers to go ahead making cars instead of tanks and guns," he said. "Agriculture is also on a war basis."

The secretary also defended government subsidies for raising farm prices and ceilings to hold down prices to the consumer—a combination that has been criticized by national farm groups. He said that this form of price control is an attempt to solve the problem of keeping production at high levels by favorable prices, yet keep down the cost of living.

Contends Subsidies Pay.

"Subsidies cost the government less in the long run," he asserted, "since if the cost of living rises, labor costs go up and the cost of the goods the government must buy also moves higher. Subsidies might cost 200 million dollars, but the government will have a billion in the end. We must also reckon the cost of inflation, not only in dollars but in economic wreckage and human suffering. Subsidies are good investments."

SEE NO CHANCE FOR SHAKY ITALY TO ESCAPE WAR

Observers Say Nazis Keep Firm Hold on Country.

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 3 (AP).—Italy's exposed position and the strain placed on her morale by aerial bombardment and military reverses have forced the Germans to come to her aid for a second time, as they did in Greece, and at an hour when the Nazis need their greatest efforts elsewhere.

Foreign political observers here said tonight that they did not see how Italy could quit the war, even if her government and people were determined to do so, as long as German troops keep a firm influence in the country and prevent development of organized opposition to Premier Mussolini and his war policy.

From Mussolini down the Italians are aware that the allied effort is concentrating upon knocking Italy out of the war.

Already considerable German military forces are in Italy, and Mussolini promised yesterday that Germany would send further anti-aircraft aid. He said, too, that something would be done about more air raid shelters, a problem discussed almost daily by the Italian press.

Civilians Leave Cities.

These problems are not yet solved, however, and there are others.

Genoa, Turin, and Milan have been largely evacuated of nonessential civilian population, and civilians are being asked to leave Rome, Livorno, and other centers. Thus, both housing and transportation are becoming increasingly difficult.

In fashionable Florence, life outwardly goes on much as usual, but the correspondent of the Berne newspaper, Der Bund, reported:

"Underground lie worry and unrest. . . . Never before have so many people clustered around the radio. People from bombed towns have arrived in Florence. They believe this town will be spared because of its beauty and because the wise city administration has taken such good care of the many British and Americans still living there."

Report Demonstrations in Rome.

There have been reports of small demonstrations in Rome before the German embassy on Nov. 4, 9, and 10, with cries for peace.

Visits to Italy by Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German secret police, and other German leaders during the summer have been designed to impress upon Italy her place in the axis and her pledge to go along to the end, it is said.

Occupation of Italy Urged.

MOSCOW, Dec. 3 (AP).—Tass, the official soviet news agency, reported today in a Stockholm dispatch that during a recent council of war at Adolf Hitler's headquarters, Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German secret police, had urged complete German occupation of Italy.

The dispatch said there was reliable information from Berlin that the Hitler war council discussed the situation in Italy. Participants were Himmler, Goering, and "leading German generals, including Rommel," Tass said.

"Among those present, Himmler was the most zealous advocate of complete and rapid occupation of Italy 'from without' by troops transferred from Germany and the Balkan countries," the dispatch continued.

Death for Looters.

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The German radio today reported the death penalty had been invoked in Italy for persons caught looting—presumably in bombed areas. The death sentence also will be applied for thefts, rape, blackmail, and kidnaping during black-outs, the broadcast said.

TWELVE FAMILIES BURNED OUT.

Twelve apartments occupied by Negro families were destroyed yesterday when a $1,050 fire, apparently started near a boiler, burned down a two story frame house at 4430 Indiana avenue.

40 NAZI TROOP PLANES DOWNED AT STALINGRAD

German Lines Pierced West of Rzhev.

MOSCOW, Dec. 4 [Friday]—(AP).—Russian troops have destroyed 40 more Nazi transport planes trying to ferry aid to enemy forces pocketed in the Stalingrad area, captured a strategic height on the left bank of the Don river west of that city in a hand to hand fight, and smashed another hole in the enemy's lines west of Rzhev on the snow choked central front, the soviets announced early today. The siege of Stalingrad was in its 102d day.

102

More than 3,100 Germans fell yesterday to boost the toll of Nazi dead and captured to approximately 170,000, the Russians said.

Admit Nazi Counterattacks.

The midnight communique acknowledged strong German resistance and even counterattacks, but gave this picture of the situation on the various fronts:

Stalingrad—Inside the northern factory belt the Russians dislodged the enemy from a number of buildings and wiped out an enemy company. Fifty planes, including 40 big transports, were destroyed. The Russians two days ago announced the destruction of 50 transport planes trying to supply the Germans between the Don and Volga rivers.

Take Strong Height.

On the left bank of the Don northwest of Stalingrad where the Russians are trying to encircle the entire Nazi siege army by driving southward to link up with other soviet units, a strongly fortified height was taken.

Another 1,200 Germans were killed southwest of Stalingrad, presumably along the railway leading toward Kotelnikovo.

West of Rzhev the Russians scored new gains, one unit smashing a strong enemy defense line to capture a station on a branch railway line. Another unit killed 1,000 Germans, destroyed 6 tanks and 150 trucks, and seized several inhabited localities. Dispatches also said that a heavy fight was going on south of Rzhev on the railway leading to Vyazma.

British Church Bells May Ring Again at Christmas

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The ringing of church bells on Christmas morning is under consideration by the government, Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee told the house of commons today. Altho the ban against ringing church bells was lifted for a single Sunday morning recently in order to celebrate the victories in Egypt and North Africa, the bells now are back on war service and may be rung only as an invasion tocsin.

PLANS 15% ADDED MILEAGE CUT FOR DELIVERY TRUCKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—Early in 1943 the Office of Defense Transportation plans to reduce the mileage operated by delivery trucks 40 per cent from normal, officials disclosed today. Operations of such trucks were cut 25 per cent from normal by the ODT last July.

ODT officials said the program for a further mileage reduction does not necessarily mean that allotments to all delivery trucks will be uniformly slashed 15 per cent. This is the overall reduction planned for trucks, excluding common carriers, however.

Allotments to Be Reviewed.

"The reductions will be made by ODT district offices, which will review the present allotments in individual cases," an ODT spokesman said. "The ODT will not attempt, however, to decide whether one type of business is performing a greater public service than another, and will not change mileage allotments on that basis."

In making the reductions, he added, the ODT will try to determine how much mileage can be saved without substantially changing the individual operator's service to the public and with a minimum hampering of his present business operations.

Asked whether, for example, mileage for deliveries of newspapers, which have been termed essential by government officials, would be reduced to the same extent as mileage for beer deliveries, the ODT spokesman said that a comparison of the two types of businesses would not be the test applied.

Expect Individual Variances.

"The ODT will attempt to make mileage reductions without hampering one individual business more than another," the spokesman said. "Because of different operating conditions in various businesses, however, the percentage reductions will vary in individual cases. Every business that operates commercial vehicles is considered essential by ODT in making mileage allotments. There is no scale of priorities."

Certain classes of commercial vehicles were exempted from the previous 25 per cent mileage cut and will continue to be protected, however, he added. These include trucks transporting explosives, trucks serving public utilities or operating for the protection of life and health, mail trucks, and farmers' trucks.

Mileage for all commercial vehicles is now restricted by the ODT thru gasoline allotments provided in certificates of war necessity which went into effect Dec. 1.

Provide for Regional Appeals.

The gasoline mileage allotments provided in these certificates will be reviewed early next year by the 142 ODT district offices and reductions will be ordered, probably for the second quarter of 1943, it was explained. Decisions by local offices may be appealed to ODT regional offices, of which there are nine, officials said. No provision has been made, however, for appeals beyond the regional offices to ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman.

Officials said the ODT favors pooling of deliveries where this is practical and will save mileage, but that no general orders requiring pooling are contemplated for the present. The ODT has issued orders in several individual cases approving delivery pools worked out voluntarily by business organizations.

NEW DEAL FOE SINCE NRA DAYS IS BACK IN JAIL

York, Pa., Dec. 3 (AP).—Frederick C. Perkins, 72 year old battery manufacturer who served 18 days in 1934 for defiance of the NRA, was committed to York county jail today on a charge of failure to pay social security taxes.

Perkins is charged with failure to pay $51.16 taxes on a pay roll of $5,116 for the year ending June 30, 1942. Arrested today by Deputy United States Marshall William L. Capello, he was jailed in default of $2,500 bail.

Perkins refused to grant consent to removal from the middle to the eastern Pennsylvania federal district. A removal hearing will be held here before United States Commissioner Horace G. Ports.

Perkins claims the social security tax is "confiscatory, discriminatory, and unconstitutional," and says he will "go all the way to the Supreme court, provided I have some help from friends."

Awarded $168 in Triple Damages Against Landlord

Municial Judge Frank E. Donoghue awarded $168 to John C. Bates, now of 2710 Fitch avenue, yesterday in what was believed to be the largest triple damage judgment yet given in Chicago for violation of federal rent regulations. The defendant was James Conroy, landlord of a flat building at 6437 North Seeley avenue, where Bates formerly lived.

MARGIE HART.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Three officials of the Broadway show, "Wine, Women, and Song," were convicted by a General Sessions jury today on charges of producing an indecent stage performance.

Judge Owen W. Bohan continued bail of $500 each for the defendants to Dec. 13 on the condition that the show be closed immediately. Stars of the performance are Stripteuse Margie Hart and Pantomimist Jimmie Savo.

Conviction of the misdemeanor made the three liable to a maximum of a year in prison or an indeterminate sentence and a maximum fine of $500 or both. Those convicted were I. H. Herk, 59 years old, producer; Samuel Funt, 43, company manager, and Herman Shapiro, stage manager.

Two Children and Uncle Killed in Blazing Home

Warren, O., Dec. 3 (AP).—Two children and their uncle burned to death today when fire, whipped by a bitterly cold wind, destroyed their home in Brookfield township, east of here. The victims were Marylin Uber, 10 years old; her brother, William, 16, and their uncle, Benjamin Uber, 46. Joseph Uber, 18, escaped. The fire was caused by an overheated stove.

CUT FOOD PRICES BY LOWER TAXES: GOAL OF CANADA

Subsidies to Aid Radical Economic Policy.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 3 (AP).—Canada, which has been a test tube for many of the United States government's wartime economic policies, now proposes to reduce the retail prices of certain key foods in order to lower living costs, which have risen despite various controls, Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley announced tonight.

The Canadian government proposes, Ilsley announced over a radio network linking nearly every station in Canada, to lower the retail prices of coffee, tea, oranges, milk, and beef "by reduction of duties and taxes and by outright subsidy" in a program which he estimated may cost the treasury up to $40,000,000 a year.

Ilsley said that these moves, designed to offset increases in the cost of living due to price rises in spite of the ceiling control, will be aimed to bring the cost of living "at least part of the way back to the level of the basic period."

Cut 4 Cents off Coffee.

Coffee is to be reduced by four cents a pound, tea 10 cents a pound, and oranges to "about the levels of September and October, 1941."

In regard to milk, the general objective will be to cut two cents a quart off the retail price, and profit margins on beef taken by some retail dealers are to be reduced to "reasonable limits."

The consumer will benefit to the full extent of the subsidies and remission of taxes, Ilsley said, while the producer and dealer will not be affected.

Ilsley recalled that just 12 months ago the "bold and broad policy" of complete price, wage, and salary ceilings went into effect.

"We have had 12 months' experience," he continued. "It has been a hard but encouraging experience. The policy has stood the test of the year."

Cites First World War.

He continued: "The official cost of living index moved up during the 13 months from Oct. 1 of last year to Nov. 1 of this year only by 2.7 per cent. During the comparable period in the last war the cost of living increased by 20 per cent.

"During the 12 months to Oct. 1 last, the United States index increased by 8 per cent. In the control of prices we are doing better than has been done in other times and in other places.

Average weekly earnings per worker in manufacturing industries were reported to have risen 13 per cent in the 12 months ending Sept. 1 last. Farm incomes had "steadily increased." So far as the government could estimate, farmers' gross cash receipts were about 20 per cent higher than last year.

Extension rather than relaxation of strict rationing controls, especially in respect to imported necessities, remains the wartime prospect for Canadians, government officials said.

Four Items Rationed.

Canadian consumers now have ration coupons for gasoline, sugar, tea, and coffee.

The ordinary Canadian motorist who uses his car for pleasure or nonessential purposes has been warned that when his tires are worn out he will get no more. Gasoline rationing allows him a maximum of 64 gallons from Oct. 1 to April 1.

Half Pound a Week.

Last month the Prices Stability corporation, a branch of the Prices board, announced that subsidy payments on the importation of petroleum products were being provided to help meet higher war risk insurance and the greater use of ocean transport.

Sugar rationing by coupon became effective July 1, after voluntary rationing had been in effect since January. Consumers are limited to one-half pound a person a week.

The Canadian is permitted one ounce of tea a person a week, or four ounces of coffee. These limitations became effective Aug. 3.

WPB SURVEY AUGURS BRITISH MODEL CURBS ON U. S. USE OF PAPER

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—United States restrictions on the use of paper, patterned on British controls, were hinted today by an inquiry into paper regulation here just made by Morris Ernst, New York lawyer, for the American War Production board. Ernst left for Washington, D. C., yesterday after a two week survey.

Paper limitations here are due to shutting off of Scandinavian pulp sources and to reductions in shipping from Canada. They include control of the size and circulation of newspapers and a comprehensive civilian campaign, covering even the salvage of bus ticket stubs and the reuse of envelopes.

News of Ernst's trip to England was viewed as significant in paper circles in New York, in view of recent warnings by American and Canadian government officials that paper consumption in North America would have to be curtailed as a wartime measure.

The only step thus far taken has been freezing paper production in the United States and North America at levels no higher than for the second and third quarters of this year, effective Nov. 1 last. American paper men, however, have insisted that there was no similarity between British and North American paper problems, since Britain must receive her paper from overseas.

INJURIES FATAL TO WORKER.

Jack Hameister, 35 years old, of Beecher, Will county, died yesterday in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, of injuries suffered Wednesday while at work in the American Locomotive company plant in Chicago Heights.

BROTHER OFFERS LOFTUS ALIBI IN HOLDUP SLAYING

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 3 (AP).—The first defense witness in the murder trial of Robert J. Loftus, 44 years old, of Rockford, Ill., testified today it was his opinion Loftus was in a Chicago doctor's office being treated for an old gunshot wound at the time William E. Tennell, teller of the First State bank of La Cross, Ind., was killed in a holdup nearly 10 years ago.

The witness was Loftus' brother, Lester, also of Rockford, who admitted under cross-examination that Robert disappeared after learning he was wanted as a suspect in the La Crosse murder.

Dr. Ira D. Funkhouser, a La Crosse dentist, identified a photograph of Loftus as that of one of two thugs involved in the holdup. Edward Totts, a farmer, also identified Loftus.

The murder charge was filed against Loftus when he was released from the Illinois state prison recently after serving an eight year sentence. The trial recessed after the brother's testimony until Monday.

LEGION HEAD HITS SALARY LID AND SUIT AGAINST AP

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Col. Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, today criticized the order limiting net salaries to $25,000 yearly and assailed the government's anti-trust suit against the Associated Press.

The commander, speaking at a Legion luncheon, referred to the salary ceiling as "communistic in its inception." He said its purpose was to stifle personal initiative.

Waring declared that the government suit against the AP was "one of the most dangerous things that happened in this country."

"It is stifling freedom of speech, freedom of contract," he declared.

"It isn't intended as a suit to stop a monopoly. It is intended for the very purpose for which it is being done, to stifle private interests, private energy, private ability, and say to them: 'You have got to work under a regimented form of life and government.'"

All Montagnac* Cloth came from Sedan, France.

Fortunately, every available yard was safely on its way to Rogers Peet, U. S. A., before Sedan fell.

Beautifully tailored into men's overcoats by Rogers Peet's skilled needleworkers, there is nothing richer or warmer than a Montagnac for both day and evening wear.

Single-breasted, $125. Double-breasted, $135.

HOOVER FAVORS HIGH COUNCIL TO LEAD U. S. IN WAR

Says Each Fighting Nation Boasts Such a Body.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Experience in every major nation in this war and the last shows there should be a war council of head administrators sitting directly with the President, Herbert Hoover told the National Association of Manufacturers today.

The nation's former President said in a speech before the group's convention:

"There was a war council or a war cabinet in every principal nation in the last war. There is one in every principal nation in this war, except the United States."

However, Mr. Hoover favored individual control, rather than committee control, in the actual administrative jobs of the war.

Compares Two Wars.

The former President indicated he found standards of administrative efficiency higher in the last war than in this, considering the number of federal employés involved in each case. He said:

"Seventeen months after passing the conscription act in that [the last] war 4,400,000 men were in arms, largely trained and largely equipped. About 2 million of them were transported overseas. The war was organized by increasing the federal civilian employés by about 435,000.

"It is now 27 months since the conscription act of this war was passed. The present armed forces are about 6 million men. Less than 1 million are overseas. And we have increased the federal civilian employés by more than 2 million to do the job in this war. I know the differences in the two situations, but there remains a residue of tribute to Americans now mostly passed beyond, who have led their country in other periods of trial."

Offers 12 Principles.

Mr. Hoover said those who helped organize the last war had much to offer those directing this one and offered 12 principles to consider, "not as criticism but as recommendations." His 12 principles follow, in brief:

"First—All civilian activities should be directed by civilians and within limitations laid down by the legislative body.

"Second—Civilion activities must be directed by single headed administrators. In every country in the last war—and in this war—all boards, committees, or commissions proved a failure except in advisory or judicial functions.

"Third—The third principle is that all functions and authority in respect to a particular activity must be concentrated in the hands of a single administrator. The problems of production, distribution, conservation and price fixing in any particular material are interlocked.

President as Umpire.

"Fourth—The head administrators for such major groups should comprise a war council sitting directly with the President. Here alone the general economic and civilian policies should be determined, and conflicts and overlaps ironed out which the President present as the final umpire.

"Fifth—The first civil necessity of total war production is the maximum production of war essentials. The high cost producer must be brought into action. And with drastic taxes of excess profits, the low cost producer does not get away with anything consequental. There must be no rules of labor that restrict or retard effort or output beyond those which safeguard health.

"Sixth—We can better apraise our man power if we calculate the male man power available and assume that women can do the rest. There are certain jobs that only men can do.

Price Fixing at Source.

"Seventh—Fix prices of a given commodity or raw material at as near the source of production as possible and regulate the subsequent percentage addition for processors and the mark up for merchants. General price ceilings [or legal maximum prices as they were called in the last war] were tried out in every nation in that war and proved a failure. Fixing of wages is not wholly a factor in the cost of living. Men naturally drift to the highest paid calling and production is stifled in the lower paid industries.

"To freeze men to their jobs is a violation of the constitutional freedom of men from involuntary labor.

"Eighth—The eighth principle of war organization is to do no more regulating than is necessary to attain the major objective.

"Ninth—The ninth principle relates to the necessity to change from the normal bid and contract peace practice of governmental purchases of commodities and services.

"Tenth—Secure the enthusiastic coöperation of civilians with the government in order to mobilize their abilities, skill and sacrifice with the least burocracy and force.

"Eleventh—The 11th principle applies to the concentration of every governmental energy upon winning the war. Reforms cannot but dislocate the war effort.

"Twelfth—A major principle is to organize all these activities so as to assure the return to economic and personal liberty the moment war is over."

Confer on Feeding Other Nations

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Speed Is Urged

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover disclosed today that he had told Herbert H. Lehman, director of foreign relief rehabilitation, that it was imperative immediately to organize facilities to feed European nations occupied by the Nazis if the lives of millions were to be saved.

Mr. Hoover said at a press conference after a luncheon meeting with Lehman that food actually had been going into Greece for five months, with approval of the state department.

6 TRAITORS GET PAUPER RIGHT TO FILE APPEAL

Appeal of six Chicago men and women convicted of treason in the federal District court was docketed yesterday in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals when a pauper's petition declaring that each of the defendants is without sufficient funds to carry on the appeal was approved by the court. The court set Jan. 14 as the date for oral arguments.

Granting of the petition forgoes the payment of the usual $40 per person docketing fees and the cost of printing the transcript of the trial, estimated by "upwards of $3,000" by Attorney Paul A. F. Warnholtz who will represent the six.

The defendants are: Hans Max Haupt, father of Herbert Haupt, executed Nazi saboteur, Otto Richard Wergin, and Walter Otto Froehling—all sentenced to die on Jan. 22; the wives of the three men, Erna Haupt, Lucille Froehling, and Kate Martha Wergin, given 25 year prison terms and fined $10,000 each.

Wernecke Granted Change of Draft Charge Trial

Federal Judge William J. Campbell yesterday granted a change of venue to William Wernecke, former bundist charged with violating the selective service act. Wernecke's attorney, W. W. Smith, said Judge Campbell might be prejudiced as Wernecke's name was mentioned during the recent treason trial of the six relatives and friends of Hubert Haupt, executed German saboteur.

WEST COAST HAS SCARE AS FLYERS HUNT 'INVADERS'

Report of Mysterious Fleet an Error.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 3 (AP).—The reported presence of a "large number of unidentified surface vessels" off the California coast brought an unprecedented alert today, but the navy announced later the report was "considered in error."

It came from a naval patrol at dusk last night, and led to a radio broadcast ordering all fleet personnel to report to their ships immediately. The force was reported 450 miles off shore proceeding eastward. The resultant alert affected only service personnel and police, who were ordered to their posts.

A statement by Vice Adm. John W. Greenslade shortly before noon said a thoro search of the area did not confirm the presence of any unidentified craft. The broadcast to fleet personnel was discontinued.

Word of the naval patrol's report gave rise to considerable speculation as to whether the Japanese might be trying for a mainland attack on the first anniversary of the Pacific war—Dec. 7—but there was no official comment. There was no word of an alert other than in this area.

"A large number of unidentified surface vessels was reported by naval patrol at dusk on the 2d of December on an easterly course 450 miles off the coast of California," the navy statement said. "Since the presence of such a force would constitute a serious hazard to the west coast, every effort was made by army and navy aircraft to verify the reported contact and all available forces were alerted and steps taken to intercept any enemy forces.

"A thoro search of the area concerned failed to confirm the presence of any unidentified vessels and the report is considered in error."

HITCHES SLED TO AUTO; KILLED.

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 3 (AP).—Hitching their sled to an automobile caused the death today of Donald Wilken, 13 years old, and critically injured Richard Ingalls, 13, at nearby Aroma Park. Their sled was struck by another automobile.

Report Man Power Head Will Retain Post.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 [Special]. —President Roosevelt today was reported considering shifting the selective service administration to the War Man Power commission and continuing Paul V. McNutt as commission chairman.

This reported plan was disclosed today following the President's weekly conference with the combined American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations labor victory committee and was confirmed on Capitol Hill, where the subject was discussed informally among legislators.

Mentioned for Post.

Mr. Roosevelt was represented at the same time as desiring to find an administrator to replace Arthur J. Altmeyer, executive director of the Man Power commission, due to return soon to his post as chairman of the social security board.

Brig. Gen. Frank J. McSherry, director of operations of the Man Power commission, has been mentioned as a possible successor.

Outstanding among impressions labor leaders carried from the President's office was that there would be no change at present in the secretaryship of labor, held by Frances Perkins.

Favored in Congress.

Secretary Harold L. Ickes' inability to bend to the President's desire that he take both the labor and man power posts was said to have left the President temporarily without a candidate.

The reported plan to integrate selective service with the Man Power commission was received with approval by members of five congressional committees investigating the man power situation. However, they indicated that such a change would be but one of various major shifts necessary if war production, procurement, and man power policies are to be coördinated efficiently.

Members of these agencies feel that there is an imperative need for centralization of their efforts in a top office of war mobilization.

It was felt in congressional circles that transfering selective service to the man power commission was a step "in the right direction," but that an economic general staff comparable to the general staff on the military side still was required.

When the labor committee left the President today, William Green, AFL president, told newspapermen that word on the man power situation would come "very soon" from the President.

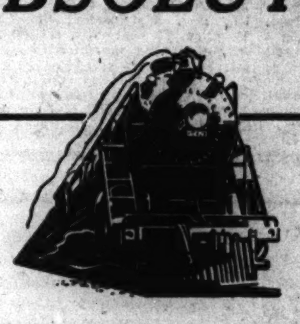
TRAINS WILL BE PACKED DURING HOLIDAY SEASON

IT WILL BE PATRIOTIC NOT TO TRAVEL BETWEEN DEC. 12 AND JAN. 12 UNLESS IT IS ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY



GOVERNMENT ASKS YOU TO STAY HOME

"It is not easy to ask the American people not to travel at Christmas time. Many families look forward through the year to annual reunions. But I must ask that these family gatherings be foregone this year, if they involve travel. A Christmas without travel will help win the war. It is a sacrifice that should and must be made."

Joseph B. Eastman, Director Office of Defense Transportation

Will you volunteer to stay at home between December 12 and January 12?

★ Cars and locomotives are needed to transport hundreds of thousands of our armed forces with their equipment on special movements—

★ Thousands of service men and women must be handled on furlough traffic that should not be delayed—

★ Trains will be crowded by persons traveling on war or government business—

★ In addition there will be the usual seasonal movement of students—

★ The gas rationing and rubber shortages have thrown a staggering additional load on the railroads.

You alone wouldn't overcrowd the railroad trains—but if you and other civilians travel as usual during this holiday season, there will not be enough coaches, sleeping cars, and locomotives to handle the loads.

The priority on steel has prevented building even the normal number of new coaches and sleeping cars.

As stated by Director Eastman:—"No more railroad passenger cars are being built. The equipment we now have has got to do for the duration."

We want your continued friendship and will appreciate your cooperation in the present emergency. Circle the dates December 12 to January 12 on your calendar, and label them "stay-at-home" days.

PLANE TO CARRY 400 AT 400 MPH READY TO BUILD

Could Bomb Europe, Return Nonstop, Says Girdler.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—A gigantic plane which could be trans-oceanic bomber, cargo ship, or transport carrying 400 passengers at a speed of more than 400 miles an hour has been planned to the point where industry could begin production on it. Tom M, Girdler, aircraft and steel executive, asserted today.

The engineers who designed the Liberator bomber have conceived this new airship, Girdler, chairman of the board of Consolidated Aircraft corporation, Vultee Aircraft, Inc., and Republic Steel corporation, told members of the New York Chember of Commerce.

"It could span the Atlantic in a few hours and carry a crew with 400 passengers," Girdler declared. "As a bomber it could make nonstop trips to Europe and return."

Not Near Capacity Output.

He added that in a modified version it could carry heavy loads of armament and military supplies to avoid hazardous sealane supply lines.

"Tomorrow speeds of from 400 to 500 miles an hour will seem slow," Girdler asserted, adding that the aircraft of tomorrow would make "the giant Liberator look like a toy plane."

The output of American aircraft, he said, was hardly 60 per cent of the present potential capacity. He attributed the lag to inability to obtain raw materials, much of which he said was the fault of "hoarders—those fellows who try to beat shortages by grabbing and hoarding—getting material into the plant before it is needed, and just sitting on it."

Favors Materials Control.

Girdler declared himself emphatically in favor of the new controlled materials plan as a measure to counteract the hoarders. The plan is designed to distribute materials in accordance with actual requirements of war industries.

He expressed optimism in the unsnarling of the war man power problem and said that his aircraft companies were increasingly hiring women and handicapped persons.

Recruiting News

The army air cadet selection board yesterday accepted 100 applicants and brought the total enlistments since Sept. 1, 1941, to 13,946, leaving 6,054 recruits to be obtained in the remaining 27 days of the month to make a quota of 20,000 for Chicago.

One of the new cadets is Robert H. Bodor, 18 years old, of 1215 Diversey parkway, a son of the late Louis Bodor, noted barnstorming stunt flyer and aviation instructor of the post-World war days. Bodor's older brother, Guy, is a radio operator and gunner on a navy reconnaissance plane assigned to the U. S. S. San Francisco.

Also enlisted was John J. Toljanic, 21, of 6144 Justine street, who was born in Juglo-Slavia, and whose father served as a private in the Austrian army in the last war.

James A. Jolly, 19 years old, of 642 South Lombard avenue, Oak Park, a football, wrestling, and track star at the University of Dubuque, also was among the recruits.

CRITIC OF LABOR POLICY BANNED FROM U. S. MAILS

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—The last four issues of the Militant, a Trotzkyite weekly published in New York, have been banned from the mails, Albert Goldman, counsel for the publication, said today.

"The Militant has been critical of the government on its labor policy and its treatment of Negroes," Goldman said. "It has also been critical of the pact between Gen. Eisenhower and Adm. Darlan in connection with the African invasion by American forces."

to add to the number of votes which were cast for the Republican candidate. If we let them go on, however, they are going to destroy the influence that congress does have and should have all over the country.

"All of you from the south, all of you who stand for constitutional government, who are trying to preserve this nation of ours, are due for more of what a lot of us got during the last campaign, and I think the members on the Democratic side would at least like to know three things—who is back of this thing; who furnishes the money, and what are they really trying to do?

Appeals to Majority.

"My purpose in directing these remarks to the house is to ask whether those on the majority side cannot over Friday, Saturday, and Sunday induce some of their colleagues—60, 75, or 150 of you to support the resolution I introduced today, and which I wish you would take a look at, so that we can have these men in here and demonstrate that their element of the press does not tell the truth and that their ultimate purpose is the destruction and overthrow of the government."

Hoffman said he will have more to say Monday about the resolution and the purge campaign which it seeks to expose. Today he merely asked his colleagues whether or not they can honestly say that they felt as free to express their opinions on questions of public policy after the smearing began as they did previously. He indicated he expects each member to vote on the resolution according to his answer to this question.

ALEDO PASTOR DIES.

Aledo, Ill., Dec. 3 [Special].—The Rev. James A. Leonard, 75 years old, retired Baptist minister, died this morning in a Moline hospital. During his residence in Aledo he occasionally served Baptist congregations in this locality. He was pastor of the Marston church 10 years, and had served at Salem, Ill., and in Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri.

Mary Martin, of "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" fame, paid Chicago a brief visit yesterday on her way to New York from Hollywood, where she recently completed three movies. Richard Halliday, her husband, who is a movie story editor, accompanied her. Miss Martin said she liked the "invigorating Chicago weather" better than Hollywood sunshine, as she toasted her fingers and toes at a radiator in the Dearborn street station.

Woman Clears Doctor, 76, on Charge of Abortion

A charge of performing an abortion against Dr. Frederick Hobbs, 76 years old, 3506 Indiana avenue, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Joseph B. MOVE TO EXTEND DEPENDENT AID OF MISSING YANKS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—Failure of the Japanese to comply with the Geneva convention in reporting men held as war prisoners prompted the senate naval affairs committee today to approve a bill extending the period under which dependents of men missing in action are entitled to various benefits.

Under present law, the secretary of the navy or of war is required to declare a missing man legally dead after a 12 months period has elapsed.

Early enactment of the legislation was urged by both the army and navy in view of the fact that nearly 12 months have elapsed since the opening of hostilities with Japan.

The committee was told that the Germans and the Italians had been prompt in furnishing reports on men they had taken prisoner but that the Japs had reported on only 10 persons, who were listed as severely wounded in Java.

2 Million Payments Going to Soldiers' Dependents

Newark, N. J., Dec. 3 (AP).—Two million payments, totaling more than $150,000,000, will be sent this month to dependents of soldiers, Col. Harold N. Gilbert, director of the office of dependency benefits, announced today.

PANAMA PACTS INVADE RIGHTS OF SENATE: TAFT

Insists Agreements Should Take Treaty Form.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—President Roosevelt's practice of making personal commitments and agreements with foreign nations, replacing treaties, was denounced by Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] today as usurpation of the rights of the senate. Taft asserted such agreements are not binding on the people.

Taft spoke in the senate against a joint resolution requested by the administration for approval of a series of agreements with Panama.

Taft and other senators contended that the Panamanian agreements should be embodied in a treaty, requiring the constitutional two-thirds vote of the senate, rather than a mere resolution needing only majority approval of the house and senate.

Gillette Makes Admission.

Even one of the sponsors of the measure, Sen. Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], chairman of the subcommittee of the foreign relations committee which considered the resolution, admitted that he would have preferred to have the Panamanian matter handled as a treaty.

However, it was Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] who suggested a possible reason why the administration preferred to by-pass the senate with a joint resolution rather than a treaty.

Lucas pleaded that Panama's people wouldn't understand it if the agreements were submitted as a treaty and failed to get two-thirds approval of the senate. He said this would antagonize the Latin American neighbors.

Nye Assails Proposal.

Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] said the resolution has "all the earmarks of an unusually liberal gift from Santa Claus" given without the consultation of those who should have been consulted. Nye and Sen. Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.] earlier had filed a minority report of the foreign relations committee, assailing the attempted legislation as establishing a dangerous precedent.

The resolution provides for the transfer to Panama of the physical properties and responsibility of administering the water and sewage systems constructed by the United States in the cities of Panama and Colon; conveys to Panama the right, title and interest in and to land belonging to the United States in the two cities; and would assume the indebtedness of Panama to the export-import bank for loans covering Panama's share of a highway. This indebtedness totals $2,700,000.

Taft declared he was attacking Presidential procedure rather than the proposal's subject matter itself. He would vote against the resolution solely because the administration was attempting to evade the rights of the senate, he said.

Cites Atlantic Charter.

"I believe," said Taft forcefully, "that the senate should insist that matters which should properly be in treaties be handled by treaties. I am very much concerned about the extension of the theory that when anything can be done by treaty it can be done by agreement."

He cited as one example of the executive agreement policy the so-called Atlantic charter enunciated by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain.

"The so-called Atlantic charter, of course, was never submitted to the senate for ratification," said Taft. "It is stated that the President and Mr. Churchill deem it right to make known certain common principles in the national policies of their respective countries.

One Real Policy Clause.

"There is one clause, however, in which the President assumes to make foreign policy for the future. It commits the United States to give every other nation access to our trade and to our raw materials — not only to our raw materials but apparently to our domestic trade.

"That would mean an abandonment of the entire tariff policy so long established in this country. Since the President did not submit it to congress, however, it is clearly not a treaty and I believe it can do no more than express the policy of the President and his administration.

"It is unfortunate, however, to give foreign people who do not understand our system the impression that we have entered into some kind of binding obligation."

Vandenberg Joins Attack.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] interrupted Taft at one point to observe that a new postwar economic agreement between Canada and the United States calling for freer trade was announced on Tuesday thru a mere exchange of notes.

Sen. Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] declared that he had been informed by "a man with unusually accurate information" that state department officials have no intention of even submitting a peace treaty to the senate after conclusion of the war with the axis.

ARRAIGN WELDER IN SLAYING OF CHICAGO WOMAN

Palo Alto, Cal., Dec. 3 [Special].—Florencio [Frank] Alcalde, shipyard welder, today was charged formally with first degree murder in the slaying of Bernice Curtis, 30 year old former Chicago woman. The woman, a clerk in a San Francisco cigar store, was found beaten to death Nov. 23 in a field near the Stanford university campus.

Alcalde, 29, has denied knowing Miss Curtis. He was silent at his arraignment today during the reading of the brief complaint filed by A. Andreucetti, assistant district attorney. Justice of Peace Edward E. Hardy set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 15 at which time Alcalde plans to plead innocent.

The welder, questioned in 1935 in the slaying of his sweetheart, Kathleen Robinson, San Mateo, today was represented by 73 year old Joseph Bullock, the attorney who appeared for him seven years ago.

IF HITLER TOPPLES.

Herr Hitler's battle lines—Corp. Hitler's if you wish to follow Mr. Churchill—now extend from the North Cape of Norway to the Pyrenees, follow the Mediterranean coast of France and Italy, the Adriatic coast of Italy, Jugo-Slavia, and Greece, along the Black sea borders of Bulgaria, thru the Crimea into the Caucasus, up to Stalingrad on the Volga and north by Leningrad until they almost close again with their beginning in the Arctic. They also are across the Mediterranean in North Africa, and everywhere the Hitler armies are on the defensive.

Within the lines is the greatest concentration of hatred Europe has ever known to be compressed all over its continental area at any one time. Wretchedness which cannot be described or forgotten is the fruit of Hitler's 10 year career as fuehrer. Misery's hands have not been kept off the Italians, Rumanians, and Bulgarians who are feebly fighting as his conscripted allies nor do they rest lightly on the Germans for whom the rest of Europe has been ravaged. This winter they will have the worst diet they have had during the war and it will not have added to it the moral calories of good news from the fronts.

Hitler's title to government is success. Therein is his only legitimacy. Strip him of it and he is a shoddy little man who if he were found ranting on the curb would be removed to a psychopathic hospital for examination. Success is slipping away from him. In his fourth year of war he is more extended than before; his fronts, actual or potential, are everywhere; his generals are being defeated and killed or captured, his forces know what it is to be routed and his enemies are growing more powerful. He has no prospects better than the present.

Now these are not exaggerated statements regarding the Nazi position nor do they bloom from wishes and hopes. The German army is still a tough nut, but the nutcrackers are getting the clamps on. The German military collapse came swiftly in 1918. The great offensive of March [Russia then out of the war] took the kaiser's army to the Marne by the end of May. In mid-July the Germans, again starting for Paris, were driven across the Marne by the Americans at Chateau-Thierry. In early August Ludendorff knew that the end was in sight and wanted peace.

If Herr Hitler could be wiped out in the operations of this winter and spring, the immediate consequence to the western world would be almost fantastically good. Sea borne commerce would be resumed in the waters of this hemisphere and to Europe. Trade in the Americas would be unrestricted by the submarine activity which apparently can be completely removed only by destroying the authority for it in Berlin. Supplies which are rationed here because of the U-boat sinking of ships would recover delivery. Tankers could resume the carrying of oil as ships were built not to be destroyed but to serve their purposes. All the ports of North and South America would be freely opened and normal relations reëstablished. The ports of Europe would be opened and trade resumed as tonnage increased. Over half of the world would be restored to something like normal conditions as rapidly as unterrified shipping could recover its volume.

Europe's political and economic problems might change in character rather than in volume, but on this side of the ocean we would make great strides toward a resumption of normal living if the administration would permit it. Then, also, Japan would be thoroly isolated, with its opponents free to devote their military strength, their concentrations of ships, planes, and men against the Asiatic marauder. Mr. Churchill has said that then the United States would have the full assistance of Great Britain and other interested nations in coming to a final settlement with Tokio. We should hope so. The material stakes in the far east are British, Dutch, and French. America has no imperial holdings to repossess, it has no lands to reoccupy in its own name, and no wealth to retake. It would return to the Philippines only to complete the transfer of those islands under a free and entirely independent government of their own.

We don't know what's going to happen in Asia. Russia is an unknown quantity there and so even is China. It would be strange, however, if Russia did not, once victor over Hitler, think the time ripe to dispose of its Asiatic enemy.

A FRAUD ON FARMERS.

The Congressional Record, despite the number of jokes that have been hung on it, is not a joking matter. It is the official proceedings of the legislative branch of the government and is so regarded by the courts. In construing legislation the courts habitually consult the Record to find from the discussions carried on there what the intent of congress was in passing the law.

Thus, the contemptible action of either Sen. Prentiss M. Brown or C. David Ginsburg, OPA counsel, in slipping into the Record a doctored interpretation of the so-called anti-inflation bill was something more than an affront to the senate. It was an action as grave as the crime of forgery, even tho the statutes may provide no punishment for it. It was designed to injure millions of American farmers thru a fraudulent interpretation of an act of congress.

Brown was the manager of the bill and thus his interpretation of it would have carried great weight with the courts. The language inserted in the Record was not actually delivered on the floor of congress but apparently appeared as an extension of remarks. Thus, no member of the senate had a chance to controvert Brown's claims. The price control bill provided guarantees of parity prices to farmers. The summary of the bill which Ginsburg prepared and which Brown inserted in the Record declared that in determining whether the farmer had received a parity price any federal subsidies or benefits which he had gotten should be taken into account. President Roosevelt has ordered Leon Henderson to act accordingly. Members of the farm bloc have contended strenuously that this was not the intent of congress in passing the bill, and by withdrawing the language Sen. Brown has admitted that they are right.

Sen. McNary has intimated that Sen. Brown inserted the Ginsburg summary in the Record without reading it. This may be senatorial courtesy, or it may be that Sen. Brown was actually that careless or reposed that much trust in a tricky burocrat. In either event the senate should not let the matter drop. If Ginsburg actually resorted to deceit in getting into the Record language which gave a perverted version of congressional intentions, the fact should be established. If punishment is available he should be punished. If not, penalties should be provided to prevent future abuses of the sort.

THE RATIONERS ATTACK THE PRESS.

A classification of newspaper delivery trucks in the same category with beer trucks, as respects gasoline allowances, has the earmarks of a slur deliberately contrived by the New Dealers. Newspapers, which have already restricted their editions and rearranged their deliveries to save 40 per cent of their delivery mileage, are required to make additional slashes of as much as 35 per cent more.

The essential contribution of the newspaper to the war effort thru the distribution of information was well recognized in the last war, when newsprint was placed high on priorities lists. The story in this war is different. The gas rationing regulations are another addition to the accumulating evidence that the New Deal burocracy, despairing of controling the press, is using the war as an excuse to destroy it.

The first of these attacks was the phony paper shortage of last spring. The claim that there was a shortage brought in such a flood of waste paper from the basements and attics of the nation that within a few weeks the dealers in paper were swamped and refused to make further purchases.

There followed the grand jury fiasco aimed at THE TRIBUNE. While it was intended that this newspaper be the primary victim of that persecution, the warning was implicit to all other newspapers that similar treatment might be expected by any editor who had the courage to disclose the blundering and incompetence of the administration.

Next came the anti-trust suit against the Associated Press. Here, again, the immediate motive is to misuse the power of government to assist an administration puff sheet subsidized by tax deductions, but the fundamental objective is to establish the Associated Press as a public utility so that Mr. Thurman Arnold and his burocratic comrades can get control of the news gathering and disseminating machinery of the country and convert it into a New Deal propaganda agency.

Meanwhile, Mr. Henderson and his crackpots in the OPA, along with other burocrats who have long been on record as asserting that advertising is an economic waste, have been conducting an offensive against the revenue of newspapers. The treasury and the war and navy departments have joined in with vague intimations that advertisers may not be allowed to deduct their advertising expenditures as necessary and normal business expense.

Just the other day Mr. Ickes was quoted as saying there would be no trouble about gasoline rationing if people would just quit reading the newspapers. Honest Harold disclosed more than he meant to of the viewpoint of the New Dealers. As they bungle the war effort and abuse the people in the name of war necessity they know that their greatest enemy is the free press that exposes their blunders and tyrannies. It would be so much nicer if there was no one to tell the people what is going on—only a subservient administration publicity machine to tell them what they should think.

THE WILLKIE INTRIGUE.

The effort of the Willkieites to grab control of the Republican party machinery in this country is as determined as it is absurd. This small group, composed chiefly of easterners, tried to prevent the nomination of Thomas E. Dewey, the governor-elect of New York. They also tried to beat Congressman Fish for reëlection. They are said to have intrigued against Sen. Lodge in Massachusetts. Under the leadership of Mr. Willkie himself, they undertook to bring about the defeat of some scores of the most effective Republican representatives in Washington.

In all these efforts they failed signally. The Republican landslide in the north on Nov. 3 was as much a defeat for Willkie as for Roosevelt. Nevertheless the intrigue continues. The Willkieites are seeking now to elect one of their number as chairman of the Republican national committee when it meets in St. Louis on Monday to select a successor to Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr.

By this time it should be obvious that the purpose of this maneuver is to divide and weaken the Republican party in 1944 and thus endanger its success. Certainly the many congressmen who overcame the Willkie opposition will be indignant if the party machinery falls into the hands of men they regard as enemies—almost as alien enemies. Certainly, too, the voters who in the election expressed their opinion of the Roosevelt-Willkie program will be outraged to see their intentions disregarded by the party's leaders.

Editorial of the Day

OLD GLORY TO THE FRONT AGAIN.

[New York Times.]

Modern troops don't carry flags in battle. The color bearer and the color guard are for parades and ceremonials only. It was not always so. In the Civil war the flag was borne forward in the charge, not only to add to the fervor of the advancing soldiers but for the practical purpose of marking the line. In fighting of any intensity the color sergeant could expect to be hit. It was a point of honor for the nearest man to grab the staff before it fell. The loss of flags and standards was a disgrace, their capture an achievement. By the time of our war with Spain the flag had about disappeared from the actual firing front, altho it is shown in artists' imaginings of what happened on San Juan hill. In combat the colors were not expedient.

So modern troops don't carry flags in battle. But ours did when they landed in North Africa. Photographs published in this newspaper showed the color bearer on the beach at Surcouf, and the Stars and Stripes being carried under guard to the Maison Blanche airdrome, near Algiers. The reason for doing this is obvious. Our soldiers wished to identify themselves beyond all doubt as Americans. They hoped the French would not fire upon our flag. In the first landings, at least, they could not have been sure that this would not happen. If it had happened in the instances photographed the color bearer would have been the first to fall. The men who carried the flag in that advance were true heirs of those who carried the Stars and Stripes — and why not say the Stars and Bars as well? — at Gettysburg and Chancellorsville. Their names should be known and remembered.

With time turning backward in its flight, the Joneses would have to keep up with us.—Detroit News.

HANNIBAL'S LAST STAND.

One of the decisive battles of the world was fought 2,144 years ago upon a Tunisian plain which American troops recently crossed in their North African campaign. Our supply trucks and depots may be in occupation of that historic field at this moment. A world war ended there, but the correspondents at the front have been too busy to mention it.

* * *

The exact location of the battle of Zama is a matter of doubt, but it was five days' march southwest of Tunis—say about 100 miles. A Roman army under Scipio did the marching to meet a weaker army under Hannibal, and when the dust had settled in the pools of blood, Carthage was doomed.

* * *

Hannibal led with his elephants, 80 of them, but clever Roman tactics softened this attack. The beasts were frightened by trumpet blasts and shepherded by light-armed troops thru spaces left in the massed legions. Nevertheless the elephants caused some havoc. Note the resemblance to an attack by tanks.

* * *

Then the Roman cavalry, with Numidian allies, drew the weaker Carthaginian cavalry, on both wings, into a free-for-all that whirled away from the infantry lines. The highly trained Roman spearmen and swordsmen broke the first and second Carthaginian lines, but the third stood and smote the tired Italians hip and thigh. Hannibal began to show his class and was winning on points. Then the Roman and Numidian horsemen, having finished their job off-stage, came roaring into Hannibal's rear. That charge was the payoff; then came the massacre which inevitably followed an army's collapse in ancient warfare.

* * *

The terms of the peace treaty which followed recall the first World war: Carthage to hand over all warships and elephants, to make no future wars without the consent of Rome, to reinstate the king of Numidia, and to pay an indemnity of about $16,000,000.

* * *

Under Roman persecution Hannibal became a refugee among the states of Asia Minor, still leading armies to battle. Then the Romans picked another quarrel with Carthage and came back, 56 years after the battle of Zama, to destroy the city and put a curse upon it by dedicating the site to the gods of the underworld.

VILLAGE POSTOFFICE.

She read the card postmarked in foreign lands:
"Arrived here safely, love to all, your son."
And smiled at me. "Perhaps you'll understand
Just what I meant, 'You are the fortunate one.'
Your boy is a mere child and every night
You tuck him safely in his little bed,
And steal a kiss before you dim the light,
Then hear his prayers and leave him comforted.
While every night I pray, 'O, Lord above,
Guard my dear boy and keep him from all harm;
Instill Your strength and courage in my beloved;
Bring him back safely to my longing arms.'
And when He brings sweet victory thru my son,
I hope that yours need never bear a gun."

Armistice Day in an Army Camp.

The day broke cold and clear, and about 8 o'clock an order came thru to wear overcoats. It was the first time we had worn them, and at the command, "Fall in!" we were startled at the impressive appearance of our ranks. The long coats, reaching to our leggings, made us look bigger, heavier; our green helmets gave us added height; woolen gloves lent uniformity to the rows of hands clutching rows of rifles.

We were no longer rookies; you could see that by the precise execution of our "right face" and the cadence of our step as we marched toward the parade field. A northwest wind caught us full in the face, turned up the flaps of our overcoats, sent the loose sand streaking from our footprints.

To majestic band music, units moved from all directions onto the field—companies merged into battalions, battalions formed regiments, regiments and attached troops comprised the division.

Have you ever seen a massed division standing at attention? Rows upon rows of men [endless, endless!], motionless, straight, alert. Against the earth-colored uniforms and gray-blue sky, flags and standards stood in brilliant contrast: bright red, purple, maroon.

We were facing the review stand, listening to our commanding general. One phrase differentiates this Armistice day from all the rest: "To remember not only the heroic dead of 1917 and 1918, but also those of 1941 and 1942. . . ."

Then the chaplain: "Let us pray."

There is a moment of silence. It is so quiet you can hear the rustle of the huge flags whipping and snapping in the wind. Timosius.

"HOW SLEEP THE BRAVE."

Now I lay me down to sleep,
The night is black, the ocean deep;
Now I lay me—ocean's billow
Be my rest and be my pillow;
If I should die, not I alone,
Trumpets be from heaven blown;
If I should die before I wake,
I pray earth's better dawn may break.
Now—I lay me—down—to—sleep—

S'Amuser.

In this year's Linebook I find five contributors sporting noble pseudonyms: Duke Bakrak, the Duke of Pravaria, Sir Benjamin, the Count of Clasticono, and the Purple Prince. Since THE TRIBUNE has decided to crack down on titles, these fellows will have to shop around for down to the earth handles, but the rule certainly will not affect Tumblewood, Bluenose, Persimmon X. Nagger, Chet Swital, or Shanty Al.

What has become of all the inspired compositors? Nearly every day I read that one of our globe-trotting, good-will emissaries has been received in this or that foreign city with much applause, but I never perceive that an "s" has inadvertently been inserted between "appl" and "ause." Maxellus.

O, happy day! I've got a date with a 4-F with a C card. Silly Sally.

This is passing strange! Nobody laughed when the Linemaster's blizzard-buster cap made its annual debut day before yesterday.

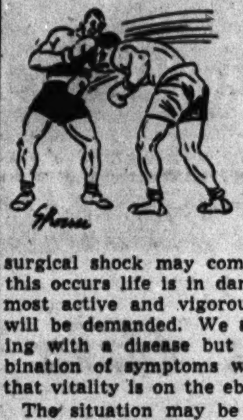
GENTLE AND EFFICIENT CARE FOR SHOCK VICTIMS.

We are all sustaining shocks these days. Try as we will, we cannot become immune to the upheaval which has so altered the course of existence. At any rate, we are all striving earnestly to understand and to make every adjustment.



After a severe injury, particularly involving the crushing of tissues, surgical shock may come on. When this occurs life is in danger and the most active and vigorous treatment will be demanded. We are not dealing with a disease but with a combination of symptoms which signify that vitality is on the ebb.

The situation may be acute when a hard blow is sustained in the region of the solar plexus [which lies behind the stomach]. Breathing may cease temporarily, the blood pressure fall, and the patient go into collapse. Only when this nerve center regains it power to perform will recovery ensue. The same effect may follow hemorrhage. The individual may sink into a state in which he possesses but a slender hold upon life for hours after the catastrophe. This means that treatment must be instituted without delay. It is as tho important functions of the body were fading away.

The causes are legion and much depends upon the temperament and physical stamina of the victim. During World War I., thousands of soldiers developed this condition, the result of relatively slight lacerations. They were just too tired, too exhausted. Weakness came on because of improper and insufficient food and inadequate sleep. There was no lack of bravery. It was simply that reserve had been lost.

How will we recognize the early signs? Marked pallor of the countenance is significant, especially if the pulse is rapid and weak. As the state advances the skin becomes cold and feels clammy. At first these patients may be alert and responsive. Later, mentality becomes dulled because the blood pressure is dropping. In consequence the circulation to the brain is not up to par.

The master word in dealing with an injured patient is "gentleness." The avoidance of rough handling and jolting transportation cannot be stressed too strongly. Pain is also a factor. The physician who reaches the site of the accident quickly and who can administer a narcotic immediately will assist in forestalling many of these hazards. While no specific rules can be laid down for prevention, we realize that bleeding must be stopped and the sufferer kept warm. Direct, orderly movements will be beneficial. Anxiety must not be exhibited.

Usually packing the victim in hot water bottles will be helpful. If a substantial amount of the vital fluid has been lost this will need to be replaced promptly. A transfusion is ideal. Glucose ranks next in value.

We must recall that in any serious trauma we are facing an emergency. The afflicted person should be moved speedily to the nearest hospital where lifesaving equipment and materials may be found. Thereafter the management of the patient is one requiring experience and judgment. Perhaps the most essential element in convalescence is rest, with plenty of warmth and comfort.

DON'T WORRY.

C. writes: Is asthma contagious? There is a cook making meals for 100 people every week and they are concerned.

REPLY.

The wheeze bug has never been identified. Sensitivity to some irritant is responsible. This trait is a personal and private affair. It cannot be loaned or swapped.

"HICS" AFTER MILK.

H. S. writes: What causes a child to hiccup immediately after drinking milk—whether warm or cold?

REPLY.

Some slight irritation of the diaphragm or the phrenic nerve. This is occasioned by distention of the stomach and resulting pressure. Oldsters may also perform in this fashion.

WINEBIBBING.

M. T. writes: Will three or four glasses of wine a day make me fat?

REPLY.

Yes, if thereby you float several hundred unneeded food calories into the stomach. If the effect is to increase appetite, have a care.

NO COMPROMISE POSSIBLE.

Fort Thomas, Ky., Dec. 1.—There can be no compromise at St. Louis next Monday. Either the Republican national committee repudiates Wendell Willkie or it repudiates the hundreds of thousands of Jeffersonian Democrats who supported Republican candidates last Nov. 3, as well as its own party members and supporters from the Alleghanies to the Pacific. The issue involved—American nationalism versus internationalism — permits of no compromise. And no satisfactory compromise candidate, "acceptable" to all, can be found because no man without definite convictions in the matter has the stuff in him that it will take to put across an overwhelming Republican victory in '44.

The Republican party may as well face the inescapable fact that it will have a split within its own ranks just as had the Democratic party. The same international interests strongly influence the titular head of the former as well as the leader of the New Deal faction in the latter. What independent Republicans, free from these influences, must realize is that the minority they will lose by repudiating Willkie will be more than offset, vastly more than offset, by the following of Jeffersonian Democrats they will gain by this action.

Willkie's political strength is being grossly overestimated. In 1940 22 million American voters cast their ballots against Roosevelt and war, not for Willkie and his then obscure views on foreign policy. If that farce is repeated in 1944, the next President of these United States will be either Norman Thomas or the candidate of a new coalition party.

LEWIS R. KIMBERLY.

SIXTY SPEEDERS.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—During 80 miles of necessary driving on U. S. route 66 on Saturday, Nov. 14, with the speedometer needle at 35 miles an hour, I was overtaken by 60 cars—one every one and one-third miles—doing from 40 to 70 miles an hour. Among the drivers were men and women civilians, soldiers, and sailors. Some cars contained entire families.

Since I had just spent two 14 hour days in registering people for the gasoline ration I was not favorably impressed by the patriotism of citizens in the matter of rubber conservation. If the wearing out of rubber tires results in a breakdown of production and transportation, are not these heedless drivers guilty of sabotage? HARRY L. TATE.

HOTHOUSE VEGETABLES.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 25. — With threatening food shortage, here's a further plan: Have all the hothouses produce vegetables in winter. Doubtless research engineers and agricultural experts, etc., could produce vast quantities. The thousands of acres of rich soil under glass could be worked to help the war effort and doubtless owners of greenhouses would lend 100 per cent effort. N. G. C.

DOTTIE'S DIALECT.

Park Ridge, Ill., Nov. 30.—Has the letter "R" been dropped from the alphabet in the east? Heretofore the war party and its cohorts have referred to the war as the wah or the wauh, but yesterday Dorothy Thompson said on the radio that she thought Chuhchill gave a nice speech about the waw. Which is it? PUZZLED.

EASTMAN'S FUMBLES.

Wausau, Wis., Dec. 1.—Well, folks, Joseph Eastman and his ODT have fumbled the ball again, this time behind the goal line.

You will recollect his first fumble was ODT order No. 18 which required you to fill freight cars up to the roof. What a headache he must have had on that one. One concern I know of had to spend two days trying to break loose the top boards in a car of lumber before they could unload it. Another lived up to the letter of the law on a carload of cheese and the fellow on the other end found the bottom two layers as flat as the proverbial pancake. Mr. Eastman isn't enforcing that law altho it's still on his books.

Now comes the second fumble, order No. 21, covering the rationing on gas for trucks. Mr. Eastman doesn't believe in just clipping your wings as other New Deal agencies do. He cuts you off at the upper part of the neck. We are told by Mr. Wickard that food will win the war and the War Production board urges us to produce more lumber, which is an extremely critical item. Hundreds and hundreds of farmers in this community produce both milk and logs—they must have gas to bring both to market, and yet they have been cut on gas for their trucks to the extent where they cannot even bring in their milk. Consequently, not many logs will be produced, mills will stand idle and the War Production board will whistle for the lumber.

When you look at this, it is so ridiculous it is laughable—save rubber at all costs, even if it loses the war—but you could cry when you think of the boys scattered all over the world who are depending on us to produce the goods back home to help them do their job.

SMALL BUSINESS MAN.

WASTERS ARE FAVORED.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—I used a little over 1,200 gallons of fuel oil last year for my six room home. I was very economical, closing off bedrooms and keeping the thermostat at 72 degrees, because we couldn't afford to waste heat. We are just ordinary working people and have to watch our pennies. Now we're cut to 900 gallons and must keep one bedroom heated due to illness. That means we'll be lucky to keep the temperature at 65 degrees.

But how about the many people there are who could afford to be careless with their oil and heat the place to 85 degrees last year? Cutting them one-third still keeps them plenty warm. In other words, the person who has had to be economical with fuel oil other years takes the dirty end of this. The wasters have nothing to worry about. MRS. F. K.

SOME CATTLE!

Paw Paw, Mich., Dec. 1.—In the Voice of the People today, Dec. 1, you printed an article, "Lost Tonnage of Beef" signed, "D. L. R., Alliance, Neb." I would like to know where this fellow went to school? He states that in a Sioux City stockyards there were 2,500 cattle out of 4,500 that were not finished, further states that on feed these cattle would have gained 62½ tons a day or 125,000 pounds, multiply by an additional 100 days on feed and you get 12,500,000 pounds lost in one day on the Sioux City market. Some cattle! I haven't taken a pencil to figure out this gain per head, but it would be somewhere about 50 pounds per head a day. Some cattle! And 100 days of such feeding they would have gained 5,000 per head pounds in addition to their original weight. Some cattle! R. G. ELLIOTT.

WHY HONEST HAROLD DOESN'T LIKE NEWSPAPERS.

Chicago, Nov. 25. — This morning's paper states that Secretary Ickes has a remedy for stopping the public from complaining about the oil and gas rationing. Mr. Ickes says the public should stop reading the newspapers. That would suit him fine. Then he and the rest of the squanderers could go the limit without the knowledge of the public. They will not know about the sumptuous suite being fitted out for him in Chicago, nor would they know about his famous bathroom, trimmed in gold and blue marble. All this when they are asking the public to sacrifice and deny themselves — for what? That they may have more money to waste. I. M. WEARY.

VINCI REVEALED AS A POWER IN WARD POLITICS

Slain Deputy's Business Interests Bared.

Five shots rang out in a gangland assassination early yesterday, and by nightfall the noise had reached the steps of the City hall, County building, and Democratic headquarters.

John Spoto.

It was no ordinary vendetta killing, investigation quickly showed. The man slain was Charles Vinci, 34 years old, 718 West 25th place. Officially he was only a deputy sheriff earning $180 a month. Unofficially he was a powerful figure in 11th ward politics who ran a prosperous tavern and currency exchange among his sidelines.

Four hours before he was found slain, Vinci attended an 11th ward Democratic party "benefit," dance in the Trianon ballroom and he had with him at that time a roll of bills totaling more than $1,200. When his body was found, police discovered nearby a bag containing $700.

Sheriff-elect Takes Hand.

Sheriff-elect Peter B. Carey, who takes office Monday, gave immediate attention to the killing. He announced that every member of the sheriff's staff of 700 persons would be put thru the police bureau of identification to determine whether any have criminal records. Also, said the sheriff-elect, every member of his staff will be investigated to see if any one is operating a sideline, legal or illegal.

"Being a deputy sheriff is a full time job," said Carey, who is a newcomer in political office. "I will not tolerate any deputy who has outside interests or connections that interfere with his job."

Vinci's sudden death followed a family tradition. Two of his brothers, Michael and James, were killed in the gang wars of 1925.

Another brother, Salvatore [Sam], shot to death John Minatti while Minatti was testifying at the inquest into the slaying of Michael. Sam was found guilty and was sentenced to prison for 26 years. He was paroled for sanitarium treatment in 1939 and the next year was returned to Stateville prison for violation of parole.

Joseph, another brother, was acquitted of a charge of stuffing a ballot box in an election held in July, 1939.

Found Slain in Tavern.

Charles Vinci was found dead about 4 a. m. yesterday in the Point Inn tavern, 2501 South Halsted street. He had been shot five times with .32-20 caliber bullets.

Behind the bar of the tavern was a bloodstained wrist watch which appeared to be an important clew. Capt. William Collins of the Deering police seized for questioning the tavern bartender, John Spoto, 37, of 2810 Wallace street, who admitted hearing the shots that killed Vinci.

Spoto said he and Vinci were alone in the place about 3:15 a. m. when he went outside to move a no-parking sign. He said he heard several shots inside the tavern and fled in fright.

Police gave Spoto a lie detector test, but did not announce the results. Half an hour after he was taken into custody Attorney Harold Levy appeared and filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro of the Criminal court ordered police to release Spoto or to file charges by 10 a. m. today.

Capt. Collins learned that the license of the tavern had been issued to Frank Spoto, who is not a relative of John Spoto. Frank also was taken into custody. He said Vinci was the real owner of the place and that he worked there only as a bartender. He denied being near the place at the time of the killing. Spoto gave several home addresses, and police held him while they investigated his story.

Seen with $1,200 Roll.

An inquest into Vinci's death was opened and continued to Dec. 24. The principal witness was the slain man's brother Joseph, who told of seeing Charles with the roll of $1,200 in bills at the dance held by the members of Ald. Hug. B. Connelly's Democratic organization.

Police said the slain man was reputed to be a protége of Ald. Connelly and one of his dispensers of political favors.

TOMAN REVEALS 33 MILLIONS OF '41 TAXES UNPAID

County Treasurer John Toman issued figures yesterday showing that of $223,492,000 of 1941 taxes levied in Cook county, nearly $189,000,000 have been collected. Still uncollected is $33,400,000. Of the total of collections, real estate has paid in $142,381,000.

Of the real estate levies, only 9.7 per cent is delinquent for the year. Uncollected personal property taxes total nearly $18,000,000, or 33 per cent of the total personalty levy.

Of the 1940 levies, the real estate percentage still uncollected is nearly 8 per cent and the personalty tax uncollected is 39 per cent. The total collections to date for 1940 are $2,400,000 less than the total of 1941 taxes paid in as of Nov. 30.

CLAIMS SULLIVAN COST CITY $60,000 THRU STONE DEAL

Witness Says Union Chief Prevented Saving.

Patrick F. Sullivan, president of the Chicago and Cook County Trades council, one of nine defendants in the retrial of a case charging conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust laws, caused a loss of $60,000 to local taxpayers to guarantee work to Chicago stonecutters, a witness told the jury in the federal court of Judge Michael L. Igoe.

The government charges the defendants conspired to bar the use of prefabricated Indiana limestone in the construction of the South Side Vocational school, altho it was cheaper than stone cut by Chicago labor. All were found guilty in May, 1941, but were granted new trials by the late Judge Charles E. Woodward. The second trial opened Monday.

The witness, J. B. Blackburn, now a government insulation expert but formerly associated with the Indiana Limestone company, quoted Sullivan as saying that he was not interested in cutting costs and that he wanted Chicago cutters to get the job. Blackburn testified that Sullivan made the statement at a meeting of union men and contractors.

The government charges that because of threats and sympathy strikes called by labor organizations supporting the trades council, the Indiana contractors were forced to let subcontracts allowing Chicago cutters to work on 38,000 cubic feet of stone of the original contract total of 100,000 cubic feet.

Sullivan started the meeting held in his office in 1938 with the statement that "local taxpayers' money is paying for this job and all fabricating work should be done here by Chicago workers," Blackburn said.

G. O. P. OF WEST AND SOUTH RISES TO FIGHT WILLKIE

Fight Over Chairmanship Waxes Hotter.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—The battle over the chairmanship of the Republican national committee waxed hotter today.

Western and southern committeemen, it was learned, are overwhelmingly opposed to the election of a chairman dominated by Wendell Willkie or subscribing to Willkie internationalism. They are prepared to fight it out with Willkie if he appears next Monday at the St. Louis meeting of the committee called to receive the resignation of Chairman Joseph W. Martin and choose his successor.

Their view is that the outcome of the recent national elections vindicated the Republican candidates, whom Willkie undertook to read out of the party because they were prewar noninterventionists, and repudiated the internationalist doctrine Willkie is now expounding. To accept Willkie domination, according to his opponents, would be to sell out the party to the New Deal which Willkie in important respects has embraced.

Schroeder Far in Lead.

According to Republican leaders who have been sounding sentiment Werner Schroeder, Illinois national committeeman, is far in the lead in the race for the chairmanship. Some of his supporters are confidently claiming a majority of the 104 votes in the committee by the time it assembles.

Willkie partisans are proclaiming that it would be ruinous to the party to elect Schroeder or any other prewar isolationist. They are bringing forward compromise candidates such as former Congressman John B. Hollister of Ohio, who is a law partner of Sen. Robert A. Taft, a leading prewar noninterventionist, but was an adviser of Willkie in the 1940 campaign. The anti-Willkieites would prefer Alf Landon of Kansas or Harrison E. Spangler of Iowa if Schroeder should fail to make the grade.

Western leaders shied away from the latest entrant in the race, Frank E. Gannett, the Rochester, N. Y., publisher, partly because they believe the chairmanship should go to the middle west where the Republican comeback was staged in the 1938, 1040, and 1942 elections and partly because he has been pronounced acceptable by Willkie.

Friends of Gannett were active in efforts to disabuse the minds of committeemen of any notion that the publisher was a prewar interventionist, as was inferred from the attitude of some of his newspapers, or shared the views of Willkie in any respect. They cited numerous speeches by Gannett that were thoroly noninterventionist and denunciatory of the Roosevelt intervention policy. For example, at St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 23, 1940, Gannett said:

"I say with all the emphasis I possess, that we must keep out of war and yet the President has played fast and loose with this question of peace and war. He has taken sides in the terrible European conflict. He has denounced in violent terms one side against the other. He has assumed the right to scold three important governments.

Promised to Declare War.

"In a speech on Aug. 18, 1938, at the dedication of an international bridge he assumed the right to declare that if Canada were attacked this nation would come to her rescue. Under our constitution, only congress can declared war and I maintain it was a dangerous, unwarranted assumption of power on the part of our President to promise that this nation would go to war at any time with any nation, under any conditions.

"Since that frightening speech, Canada has become involved in war and may be attacked at any time by a foreign foe. If she should be attacked by a German air fleet or German battleships, are we bound by the rash promises of the President to declare war on Germany? It is tragic that we should be brought into such a position by the impetuous utterances of our President."

New York, Dec. 3 [Special].—Thomas E. Dewey, New York's governor elect, received new mention today as a possibility for the 1944 Republican Presidential nomination when Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota said:

"I think Dewey will make a great governor, and I think he is well worth watching for 1944."

39 CITY OFFICIALS WILL BE INDUCTED IN STYLE MONDAY

Democrats Will Redeal Several Jobs.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Patriotic speeches will feature the induction Monday—Pearl Harbor day—of 34 Democrats and five Republicans elected Nov. 3. Throngs of friends and bowers of flowers are expected to be as large as usual.

Peter B. Carey, Democrat, whose campaign pointed up his business career and the shortcomings of his predecessor, will take over the sheriff's office from Thomas J. O'Brien, again a congressman after Jan. 3.

Continuing the reshuffling of offices, Superior Court Clerk Victor L. Schlaeger will step into the place of County Treasurer John Toman. And Toman, forbidden to succeed himself by law, will hurry from the Schlaeger festivities to those arranged for his own induction as a member of the board of tax appeals.

Another on Tax Board.

Ald. James J. McDermott, of the 14th ward and city council, will star in ceremonies making him Toman's colleague on the tax appeals board.

Rep. Harry P. Beam of the 4th congressional district will be sworn in as a Municipal court judge, in place of Judge Thomas A. Green, who was not reslated by the Democratic organization. Wendell E. Green, until recently a city civil service commissioner, will succeed another Negro, Patrick B. Prescott Jr., appointed to fill a vacancy by Gov. Green but kept out of the office until Nov. 24 by the Democrats.

The only new Republican face in any office in Cook county will be that of John Mackler of Chicago Heights, one of the five G. O. P. members of the county board.

All of the other inductees Monday will take a new lease on their old jobs.

Trustees Come Later.

On Tuesday, the four Democrats elected as sanitary district trustees will take office. Those new to the office will be Rep. Anton F. Maciejewski of the 6th district [moved out of Sheriff O'Brien's path to congress] and James J. Polodna, who will fill a vacancy.

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, will not start his new term until Aug. 2.

Around Democratic headquarters yesterday there was renewed talk of an attempt to slate Benjamin S. Adamowski for city treasurer. Whoever gets this spot may be appointed to fill a vacancy from Jan. 3, when City Treasurer Thomas Gordon goes to congress, until the April election.

Friends of Adamowski believed the job would be no proper setting for the talents he displayed as nominee for congressman at large in the Nov. 3 election and as former majority leader of the house in Springfield. They said he turned it down in 1939.

City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber has long let it be understood that he wants to return to full time business, giving Democrats another problem.

Postoffice Needs Drivers for Christmas Mail Trucks

Chauffeurs for postoffice mail trucks are urgently needed to aid in handling Christmas mail, Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said yesterday. Employment of such temporary workers will terminate Jan. 1 he said. The drivers will be paid 65 cents an hour for all work before 6 p. m. and 71 cents an hour thereafter until midnight. The working schedules will be assigned to the men in aoccordance with, their free time. All applicants must have drivers' licenses he warned.

BEN L. BERVE, G. O. P. LEADER, WEDS TOMORROW

Ben L. Berve, head of the Republican state central committee, will be married tomorrow to Mrs. Ethel Melvin Straubridge, it was learned yesterday. The wedding will be in the home of Perry John Ten Hoor, 4937 Woodlawn avenue.

Gov. Green will be best man. The bride's attendant will be Miss Genevieve Ten Hoor. The guests will include Mrs. Green, Sen. and Mrs. Wayland Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Nance, Mr. and Mrs. Werner Schroeder, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Tyrrell.

Immediately after the marriage the couple will leave for a brief honeymoon. They will make their home in Rochelle, where Mr. Berve has an insurance business, but will live part of the time in Chicago, the state G. O. P. offices being located here.

Berve and Mrs. Straubridge met last September, when she took up her duties in the G. O. P. speakers' bureau of the state central committee.

PRAIRIE STATES FIND A CHAMPION IN GOV. BUSHFIELD

Senator Elect Is Believer in American Way.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 3.—Shortage of farm labor, in the opinion of Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield, now United States senator elect, may cause a reduction next season in crop acreage in this food producing state. Gas rationing, too, on the present four gallon a week basis, he holds will seriously injure the economic structure of the state, which is based on distance travel.

Gov. H. J. Bushfield.

Bushfield, who demonstrated himself a practical minded governor by reducing the cost of state government 29 per cent in the last four years, suggests it might open the eyes of some of the heads of rationing and other wartime agencies if they'd take a trip to the midwest and find out the problems of prairie states. This might aid in food production, which he deems essential to the nation-wide war effort.

Sees Too Much Fumbling.

"Everybody is for winning the war as quickly as possible," said Gov. Bushfield today. "Everybody is doing his utmost. Out here the election indicated our people, as in other states, had become convinced there is too much fumbling at Washington in the conduct of the war effort.

"In my opinion the vote showed that our people disapproved of the New Deal because of the concentration of power in Washington, wasteful spending, and the failure to prepare our defenses in eight years during which the New Deal was spending enormous sums for WPA work."

Another matter which stuck in the memories of the voters, the governor said, was the use of public relief funds by New Dealers a few years back to influence elections. Observers here say that in the "dust bowl" period pressure of this sort was such that many Republicans were afraid to declare their party, fearful of being cut from relief. The legislature in 1939 passed a law making it a criminal offense to play politics with relief.

As to 1944, Gov. Bushfield says the signs point to a Republican year.

"In 1944 the New Deal will be completely defeated if the present trend of public sentiment continues," he said.

The campaign of the Democrats in this state was directed especially against Gov. Bushfield, whose election to the senate as successor to Sen. William J. Bulow is a Republican gain.

It makes the entire South Dakota congressional delegation, two senators and two representatives, Republican. Bushfield defeated Tom Berry, ex-governor and Democratic nominee for senator, by a majority of 31,823 votes in a total of 181,765 votes cast.

M. Q. Sharpe, Republican, was elected governor and the rest of the Republican state ticket went thru. The newly elected legislature is overwhelmingly Republican. In the senate there are 31 Republicans and 4 Democrats; in the house 69 Republicans, 6 Democrats. On percentages of total votes cast, the Republicans say South Dakota is the strongest Republican state in the country. Last month it registered a 3 to 2 G. O. P. sweep.

Believes in American Way.

Bushfield, who started as a printer's devil in a country newspaper shop, says he is not going to Washington with a brief case full of legislative bills—"I'm only a freshman," he says. But his friends say he has plenty of convictions and people here regard him as a strong acquisition for the constitutionalist group in congress. He is a firm believer in the American system of government.

"The farmers," he said, "are much worked up over diminishing man power on the farm. Not that they object to the use of man power elsewhere if essential, but they believe in the war effort there should be a balanced man power program. Enough men must be left to run the farms. Food production is an essential industry."

On gasoline rationing, Bushfield pointed out as have other newly elected governors and senators in such prairie states as Iowa, Kansas, and Nebraska, that the four gallon quota does not take into account the longer distances to be traveled here than in eastern seaboard states.

"As to fuel oil, we have plenty of it, which comes thru the same two pipe lines. I figure that at least 20,000 homes are equipped for oil heating. They'll get along some way, but many homes have oil burning equipment which cannot be transformed into coal burning, and you can't buy new furnaces, anyway."

Must Win War.

"To win the war is the only job we've got right now," he said. "After the war is won, our American system of government by the people thru representatives of their own choosing must be retained. Concentrated powers given to the executive in the emergency of war, must be returned to the people."

Bushfield, who becomes senator next month, is 60 years old. He is the son of homesteaders who came to South Dakota in territorial days. His father established a paper in Miller, a town of 1,200. In his boyhood days Bushfield learned to set type and run the press. He studied law at the University of Minnesota, and won a reputation as "the poor man's lawyer" because he was always ready to take cases in which he believed, regardless of fees. He is married, has two sons and a daughter, and is fond of hunting and fishing. Besides being a lawyer, Bushfield owns and operates three farms in Hand county. He is a 6 footer, husky in build, pleasant of manner, and has one of the finest private law libraries in the state.

Getting Up Nights
Nervousness and Kidney Strain

If you're feeling out o'sorts, Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. Worry, Colds, working too hard, or over-eating or drinking may create an excess of Acids and overload your Kidneys so that they need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the heart pumps blood about 200 times an hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded. Fourteen years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in these three simple ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To palliate burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, which may easily make you feel years younger.

Guaranteed Trial Offer

Usually, in non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder disorders the very first dose of Cystex goes right to work helping the Kidneys flush out excess Acids, poisons and wastes. And this cleansing, purifying Kidney action, in just a day or so, may easily make you feel younger, stronger and better than in years. An iron clad guarantee insures an immediate refund of all your money unless you are completely satisfied. Get Cystex from your druggist today for only 35c.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: Cystex is produced under the direction of a licensed physician for The Knox Co., one of the largest drug companies in the world with laboratory connections in the U.S.A., Canada, England, Australia and South America. The guarantee of money back unless satisfied is enforced 100% and is a dependable form of assurance to all users of Cystex.

ENJOY NELSON EDDY — SINGING OVER WBBM — 7 P. M. EVERY WEDNESDAY

WARNS CONGRESS IT FACES STATUS OF A REICHSTAG

Californian Raps Dictator Powers for Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—A protest that congress might be reduced to the same state of impotence as Hitler's reichstag was voiced today by Rep. Bertrand W. Gearhart [R., Cal.] as the house ways and means committee began hearings on President Roosevelt's request for authority to suspend tariff laws to aid the war effort.

Bluntly asserting that powers already granted have been "abused and misused," Gearhart declared that "it is time for congress to check up before it finds itself in the low and lonely position of the German reichstag."

"Millions in the United States," he said, "feel that we are filing down the same pathway as Germany" in yielding legislative powers to the executive. "Step by step," he added, "it can only lead to moral degradation."

Rewriting Move Gains Force.

Meanwhile, within the committee itself, a movement to rewrite the measure—already twice redrafted—and to specify in detail just what laws could be suspended appeared to be gaining ground.

It was reflected on the Republican side by statements and questions by Rep. Allen T. Treadway of Massachusetts, the ranking minority member, Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio, and Gearhart; among the Democratic members by the comments of Rep. Wesley Disney [Okla.].

Such a course, if followed, probably would mean the sidetracking of the legislation for the time being, for less than a month remains of the 77th congress.

"A burned child fears the fire," declared Disney late in the day as he joined in protesting "interpretations of laws which never were intended by congress." He attacked in particular an executive order limiting salaries to a net of $25,000 after taxation and other deductions. He said this was part of a "communist party platform."

Charges Millions Wasted.

Gearhart cited also the construction of the "Pentagon monstrosity," huge new home of the war department. He said it had been built at a cost of 50 million dollars in excess of the amount authorized by congress.

Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Assistant Solicitor General O. S. Cox appeared before the committee today, reiterating arguments previously given at an executive session and later made public by the committee.

"I think the bill is pretty well pared down; there's nothing superfluous in it," argued Patterson after telling the committee that the war department considered the measure necessary to remove impediments to the war effort.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] asked him directly whether President Roosevelt had asked for the new authority as a result of requests by the war department, "or to enlarge his own powers."

"I understand that it was made on the recommendations of the war department," the under secretary replied.

FIRST OF WOMEN AUTO MECHANICS TO GET TRYOUTS

Don Burrows, business manager of local 701, Auto Mechanics union, said yesterday that the first few women mechanics to be taken into the union will have tryouts in the garages of local trucking companies starting Monday.

Opening of the union ranks to women is the result of the critical shortage of skilled mechanics. Burrows said all of the 40 major trucking companies in Chicago have agreed to the use of women auto mechanics, providing they have the skill and experience necessary for the work.

A national survey by the National Automobile Dealers association shows a shrinkage of nearly 50 per cent in the ranks of male auto mechanics in 9 major cities since the beginning of 1942.

"This means," the association points out, "that not only will civilian cars be unable to function, but transportation needed in the war industries likewise will be dangerously curtailed."

ILLINOIS MARKS BIRTHDAY: 124 YEARS A STATE

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3 (AP).—Illinois observed its 124th anniversary of statehood today, with perhaps more of its sons off to war than ever before.

By the time of the Armistice in 1918, Illinois had furnished 351,153 men to the army and navy. The number of Illinoisans serving in this war hasn't been made known, but in an anniversary statement today Gov. Dwight H. Green said:

"If the total of Illinois men in the present war has not already reached the 1918 figure, it will soon do so."

The governor said he was taking into consideration estimated enlistments and selective service inductions. During the Civil war 256,297 Illinois troops were engaged.

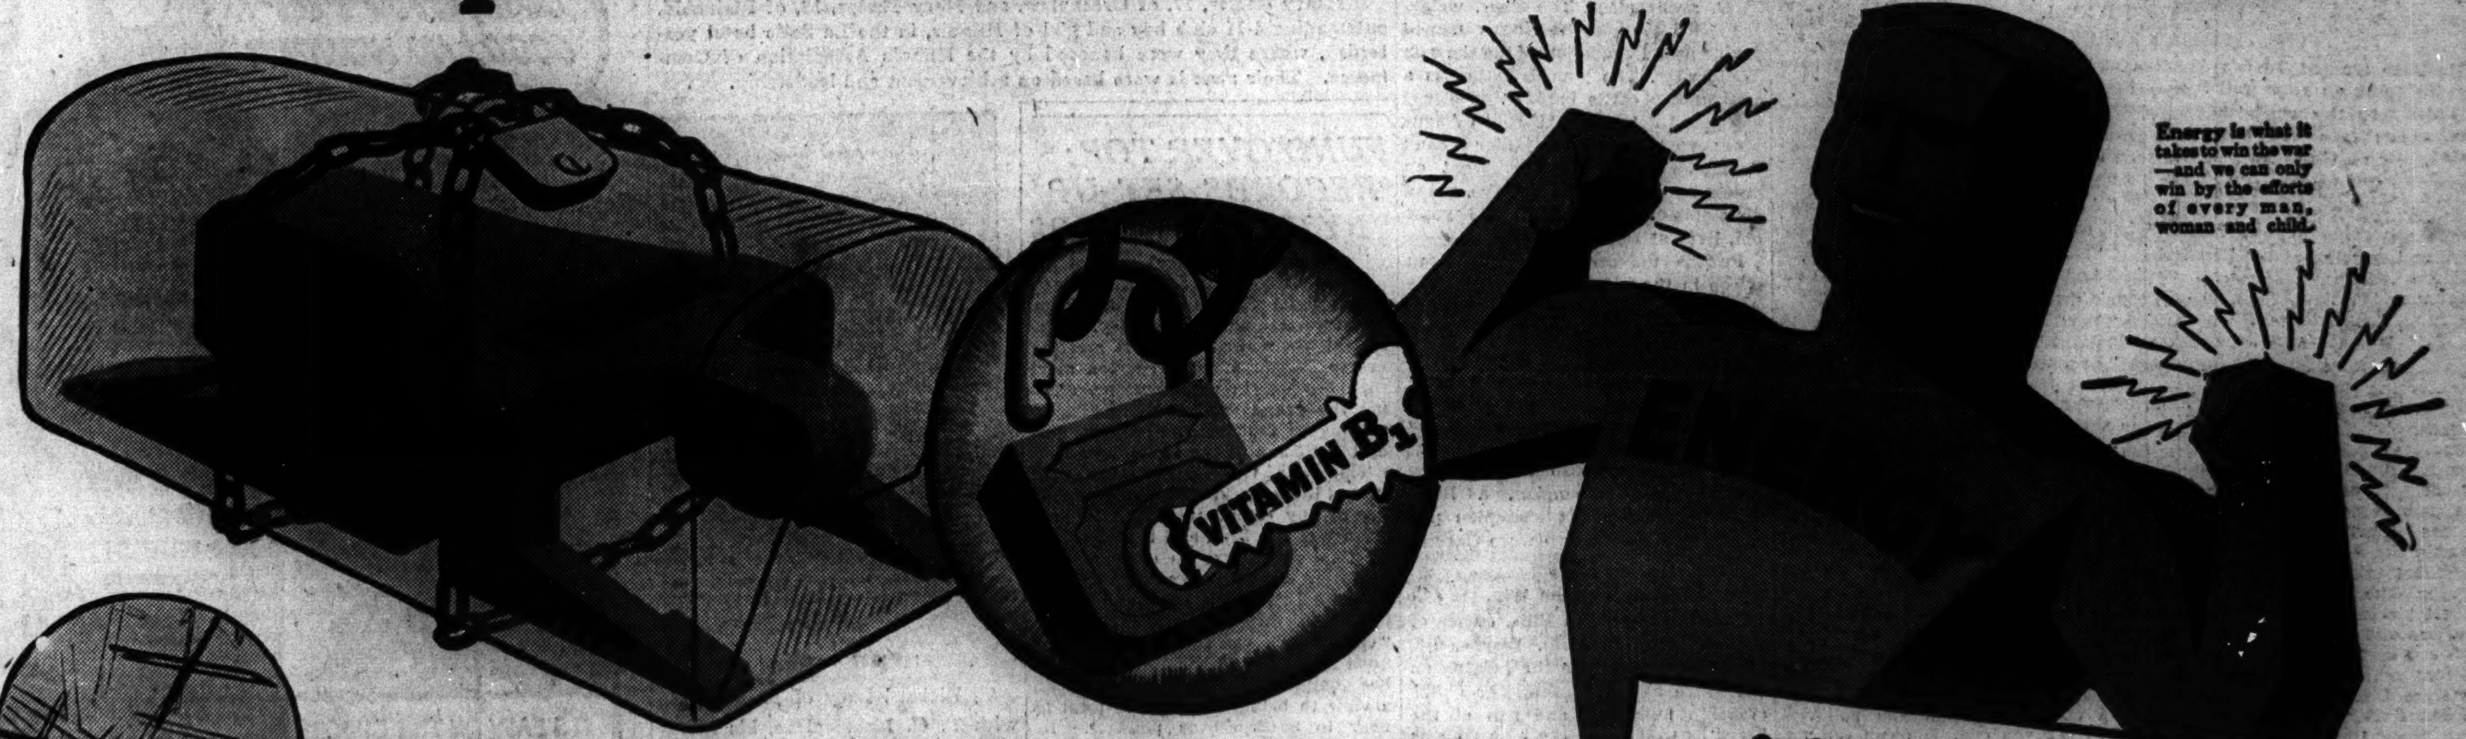
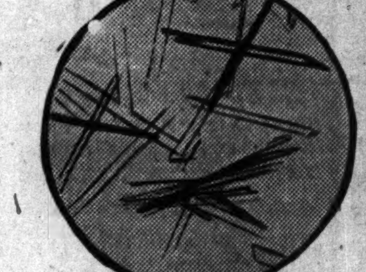
Science Discovers Vitamin B_1 Necessary To Help Transform Bread Into Energy



Energy is what it takes to win the war—and we can only win by the efforts of every man, woman and child.



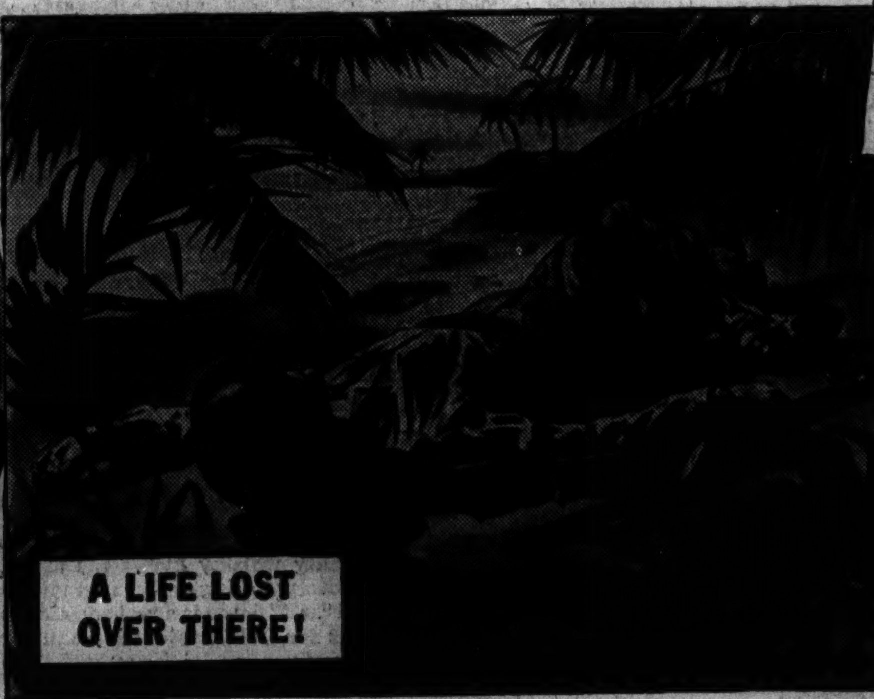
Photomicrograph of Vitamin B_1 Magnified 1000 Times. In One Year An Adult Needs 121,545 Units Of Vitamin B_1.

Yet Of The Millions Who Rely Upon Bread For 35% Of Their Daily Energy—3 Out Of 4 Fail To Get Plenty Of Vitamin B_1, U. S. Officials Say

3 Out Of Every 4 Fail To Get Plenty Of Vitamin B_1

A New York State Committee estimates that industrial production could be increased 25% if everybody ate the right kinds of food. One of the most serious shortages in the human dietary in this country is the deficiency of Vitamin B_1. Because 3 out of every 4 people fail to eat a good diet, say U. S. Government Health Officials. For example, wise Mother Nature put Vitamin B_1 into wheat. But unwise man took it out to make a whiter bread. The new process by which the flour used in the new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread is made keeps more of the natural vitamins and minerals of wheat than ever before.

90,000,000 Man-Days' War Work Will Be Lost This Year Due To Nutritional Illnesses Alone



Government Looks To The Wives And Mothers Of Nation To Give Their Families The Right Kind Of Food

② Because It Stays Fresh Longer

What everybody knows is that bread is a major source of energy—millions of people rely upon their daily bread for 35% of their energy.

But what you may not know is that, according to present scientific findings, you must have Vitamin B_1 to efficiently transform the bread you eat into the energy you need every day.

This brings up the question—do you get enough Vitamin B_1 naturally from the food you eat—the way Nature intended you should? According to U. S. Government Health Officials, 3 out of every 4 people fail to eat correctly to get enough Vitamin B_1.

Now this does not mean that you do not get enough Vitamin B_1 so that the bread you eat does you no good. What it does mean is this—unless you have sufficient Vitamin B_1, you cannot transform bread—or any other food—into energy properly.

It's Up To You

The facts show that 90,000,000 man-days' work will be lost this year due to nutritional illnesses alone. A New York State Committee estimates industrial production could be increased 25% by better food. The problem will be solved when wives and mothers put better food on the table and in the lunch boxes of the nation.

A New Kind Of Bread

One place to start is bread. Remember—bread accounts for 35% of the daily energy millions need.

Now, wise Mother Nature put Vitamin B_1 as well as other vitamins and minerals into wheat. But man took it out—trying to make bread whiter.

Then, the noted mining engineer, Theodore Earle, patented a way to prepare wheat for milling which keeps in the flour more natural vitamins and minerals than ever before thought possible. Further additions made possible the baking of a loaf containing the Vitamin B_1 needed.

The name of this new loaf is "patented flavor" Wonder Bread. A bread better for flavor and better for health than old-style white bread. So much so, it has already taken the place of the old kind in over 540,000 American homes.

You see the difference. Gone is the chalk-white look of the ordinary baker's bread. Instead, this new "patented flavor" kind has the color of the cream on the top of a bottle of milk.

To obtain this amazing new "patented flavor" loaf—ask your grocer today for the new Wonder Bread. And see for yourself why women everywhere are quitting ordinary white bread for this new creamy kind at the rate of over 5,000 weekly.

It's Doubly Fresh

Then, too, this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds.

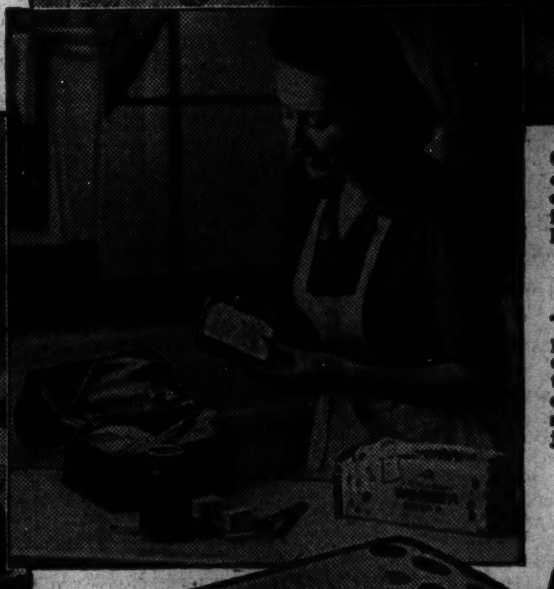
Remember—this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread contains Vitamin B_1. Get it at your grocer's today. You'll be glad you did!

Only Wonder Bread has "patented flavor." Because only Wonder Bread is made this way from Earle Patented Process Flour under U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696.

Nothing makes a meal taste better than good, fresh bread. You'll find this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread an adventure in deliciousness—and doubly fresh!



The lunch-box sandwich provides energy to tide the child or worker over. Be sure the bread your family eats contains Vitamin B_1. And stays fresh, so they will enjoy more of it!

"Wedding Postponed"

By Susannah Shane

[Copyright: 1942: by Harriette Ashbrooke.]

SYNOPSIS.

Guests arrive at the church for the wedding of Tessa Devlin and elderly Jayson Plaice, friend of Tessa's father, Tom, and stepmother, Alice. But the bride fails to show up and the minister announces the wedding has been postponed. The guests do not know that Tessa is running away from a cottage where a woman has just been murdered. The story flashes back 10 months and brings us up to the present time. In this flashback, we learn that Tessa has only recently come to live with the Devlins, as she had been brought up by the Shaws, medical missionaries in India, and did not learn her real identity until Dr. Shaw's death. He left her a diary, explaining that her mother died when she was born and that her father, a prospector, left her in their care but never returned. Dr. Shaw advised her to leave India, where she was studying to be a nurse, and go to her father, Tom Devlin, now a rich man. She takes Dr. Shaw's advice, but in her new home she feels oddly strange and finally goes to a New York hospital to complete her nurse's course. There she falls in love with a young intern, Dr. Bart Carson, son of Phoebe Carson, who with Kate McLaughlin, runs Phoebe, Inc., fashionable dressmaking establishment. Phoebe makes most of Alice Devlin's clothes, and she has only recently bought a cottage near the Devlins' estate, and close to the summer place of Mrs. Carol Kimbark, who is trying to marry Jayson Plaice. Uncle Billy Boomer, who lives with the Devlins but is no blood relation, sold Phoebe the cottage. Tessa feels that Dr. Carson returns her love but suddenly she receives a note from him saying he is going to work in a hospital in Denver, and he dismisses their romance as a passing fancy. Heartbroken, Tessa gives up her nursing career and decides to marry Jayson Plaice. Phoebe refuses to make Tessa's trousseau, and seemingly worried about something, she goes to her cottage alone. Plaice takes the bridal party, with the exception of Tom Devlin, on a yachting trip and returns just a few hours before the wedding is supposed to take place. Tessa's wedding dress is late arriving but she finally gets it. When she puts the dress on she rushes out of the house and does not appear at the church. Strangers pick her up at Carol Kimbark's door and bring her home. There is a bloodstain on her dress and she is babbling an incoherent story. Police find Phoebe Carson has just been murdered in her own cottage. Dr. Carson arrives soon after the police, and tells them his mother had sent him a wire to come immediately. He sent an answer to the wire and it is learned that Bart's wire was delivered first to the Devlin home by mistake. Tom Devlin admits that Phoebe tried twice to get in touch with him recently, but he claims he did not know why as he only knew her in a business way.

INSTALMENT XVII.

TESSA'S STORY.

Steelman ignored Tessa's question and put one of his own. "Where were you going on your walk?"

"O, just thru the woods!"

"Were you going to Mrs. Kimbark's house that lies just beyond the trees on Old Lane road."

"No."

"Were you going to Mrs. Carson's cottage to the north of the Kimbark house?"

"No. I wasn't going anywhere. I just wanted to walk."

"Then why didn't you?"

"Jay wouldn't—Mr. Plaice asked me not to, asked me to rest instead."

"And did you?"

"Yes."

"Am I to understand that you did not leave this house from the time you arrived home from the cruise with Mrs. Devlin and Mr. Plaice, until after dinner in the evening?"

"Yes, that's right."

"I see." The inspector paused to consider his next question. Then: "How well did you know Mrs. Carson?"

"Not at all. I only saw her once when I went to her shop with my stepmother."

"You knew Dr. Carson somewhat better, did you not?"

Steelman wondered if there were a faint tightening of her jaw at the mention of the name. Funny. Dr. Carson had had the same reaction when her name was mentioned.

"He—was an intern at the hospital where I was in training."

"You knew him well?"

"I sometimes worked with him."

"But outside of your work?"

"Student nurses are not supposed to—hospitals are very strict about that sort of thing."

She was flustered and he knew it and took advantage of it. "What sort of thing?"

"I—I never knew Dr. Carson outside of the hospital."

"Did you know that his mother was Mrs. Phoebe Carson of Phoebe, Inc."

"No."

"Now, Miss Devlin, suppose you tell me what happened yesterday evening."

He waited for a moment for his was not the bludgeoning type of interrogation—except when the occasion demanded. She took a great, deep breath as if drawing on some inner reservoir of strength. Then she began speaking in that curiously flat voice used by people under great strain.

"I was getting ready to go to the church. I had on my dress. Then I put on a coat and went thru the east door and across the lawn and thru the trees to the little cottage. There weren't any lights on, but I went in and called, and then I—I fell over something in the dark. I found the light switch and turned it on. And it was—her."

Only the brief pauses gave any hint of the terrible wrenching emotion with which the words were torn loose.

"And then what did you do?" Quietly, insistently.

"I—I don't know. I mean it was so horrible. I can't remember everything. I must have run out of the house and along the road. And then I saw another house and I ran in and pounded on the door but no one answered. After that there were some people. Strangers. I don't know who they were. And they took me away in a car. And then they brought me back here. I can't remember things very clearly."

"I know. But try. You say that when you got to the Carson cottage the lights were off?"

"Yes."

"Was the door open?"

"Yes—no. No, it wasn't open."

"You knocked?"

"Yes, but there wasn't any answer."

"Did you hear anything inside the house?"

"No."

"So you opened the door and went in?"

"Yes."

"In the dark?"

"Yes."

"Had you ever been in that house before?"

"No."

"But you turned on the lights?"

"Yes."

"If you had never been there before how did you know where the light switch was?"

"But I didn't. I had to hunt around That's when I stumbled over——" She broke off, unwilling to finish the grisly sentence.

"Now when you turned the lights on, what did you see?"

"Then what did you do?"

"I—I must have stooped down, leaned over her."

"Why?"

"I wasn't sure that she was—dead."

"When did you make sure?"

"Almost right away. After all I've seen dead people before. I was a nurse—once. Then there was something lying beside her, something from the fireplace I think. I must—I think I picked it up."

"You say you think you picked it up. You're not sure?"

"I'm not sure about anything. I was terribly—shocked."

"Quite so. Now you admit, Miss Devlin, that you had seen Mrs. Carson only once and then very briefly on a matter of business."

"Yes."

"And that as a nurse you have had experience with death?"

"Yes,"

"And yet the sight of Mrs. Carson's dead body was a shock?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"Because—I'm not used to—to that kind of death."

"Why did you go to that cottage in the first place?"

"Because I— it was just an impulse I suppose."

"I see. On your own admission Mrs. Carson was almost a complete stranger to you. Yet on the night of your wedding in the midst of putting on your wedding clothes you were suddenly smitten with an impulse to see her again. Is that it?"

Her glance wavered and the "Yes" that finally came out was uncertain.

"You don't really expect me to believe that, Miss Devlin, do you?"

"I can't help what you believe."

"O, yes you can. You can tell me the truth."

"I'm telling you—the truth."

Suddenly Steelman's whole manner changed. It was one of those quick metamorphoses that are sometimes effective when truth plays hide and seek. His easy gentle manner melted away, and his voice matched his name, steel like a sharp, prying blade.

"Isn't it true that the real reason that you went to the Carson cottage was because you knew that Dr. Carson was coming to his mother's cottage and that she was going to tell him something that you preferred left untold?"

She jerked back like one struck.

"Bart—there?"

"Do nurses in training refer to doctors by their first names, Miss Devlin?"

[But she didn't seem to hear the question or realize the slip she had made. "Do you mean he was there—that he came last night?"

"Dr. Carson arrived last night from Colorado and came to his mother's cottage. Are you trying to pretend that that is news to you?"

She didn't answer the question. She just sat there clutching the corners of the bench to keep the violent frisson of her nerves from betraying her.

• • •

"Listen here, you bloody fool, don't you realize I'm a material witness?"

Uncle Billy Boomer stood at the white picket gate where the path to the Carson cottage gave onto Old Lane road and argued indignantly with Patrolman Keeley.

"Sorry Mister, but I got orders not to let any one by. Inspector Steelman's in there now."

"O him!" Uncle Billy sniffed contemptuously. Then he got confidential. "Tell you something, son. He don't know his business."

"Yeah?" Keeley was amused.

"Yeah." Uncle Billy was emphatic. "Reminds me o' one time up in B. C. That's British Columbia and I was prospecting for gold and. . . ."

POLICE PUT QUICK END TO A FELON'S TAXICAB BUSINESS

Raymond R. Buckley, 32 years old, an ex-convict, was arrested at La Salle and Division streets yesterday morning as he sat at the wheel of a parked taxicab which he confessed stealing less than an hour before. Irate at his quick arrest, Buckley told police he had stolen the cab, picked up a fare, and had just discharged his passenger when he was arrested. He had planned on "getting a little capital and going straight," he said. Buckley's finger print record showed he had been sentenced to 10 years for forgery to St. Cloud, Minn., penitentiary in 1926. He later was returned for violation of parole and then escaped from a prison camp in Walker, Minn. Buckley also served five months in the Bridewell for tampering with an automobile.

Engine Derailment Ties Up Two Railroad Lines

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 3 [Special].—Main line traffic on the Burlington and Milwaukee Road railways was halted here today after a locomotive hauling an empty train plunged off the track near Rockford college. The tracks were washed out by a break in a high pressure line which runs from the Central Illinois Electric and Gas company plant to a dump. Less than an hour before the locomotive had pulled a seven car loaded train over the same tracks.

WINNING STEERS ARE EXHIBITED BY 2 4-H CLUB BOYS

To T. Richard Lacy Jr., 16 years old, of Kansas, Edgar county, Ill., went the award of showing the grand champion steer with his Hereford, T. O. Masterpiece. The steer, weighing 1,135 pounds, had been named junior grand champion of the show on Wednesday. The youth's father is a well known cattle breeder.

Howard Johnson's Aberdeen Angus steer named reserve junior grand champion on Wednesday, went on yesterday to win the reserve grand championship. The youth, 16 years old, lives at Ida Grove, Ia.

Purdue university made a clean sweep in the judging of swine at the show. The university was awarded the grand championship on the showing of a Chester White hog, weighing 210 pounds and called Purdue's Model No. 7. This was the seventh time in the last 12 years that Purdue has won the grand championship.

The university also exhibited the reserve grand champion, a Berkshire, and the grand champion pen of three barrows which were Chester Whites.

Woman's Swine Win.

Mrs. C. Groverman Ellis, owner of the Killybracken farm, Wayne, Ill., took a clean sweep in the judging on Yorkshire swine, winning the championship individual and pen of the breed as well as all the blue ribbons in the classes.

Madison county, Ind., took first prize in the county contest for the three best animals, with Henry county, Ill., taking reserve. In the state contest for the best ten, Iowa was placed first with Illinois named reserve.

The sales of champion cattle and steers got under way with prices held down far lower than those of last year becaues of price ceiling regulations. The grand champion car lot of Herefords, raised by Karl Hoffman of Ida Grove, Ia., went to Swift & Co. for $20.50 per hundred weight.

HAIL 4-H LEADERS

Illinois honored its outstanding 4-H boy and girl yesterday.

A pair of blonde, clean-cut American youngsters, the two were the principal speakers at a special luncheon meeting of the state and agricultural committees of the Illinois Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel. Both had been brought here at the expense of the association for the 21st National 4-H Club Congress which closed Wednesday.

They are Mary Phelps of Plainfield, 18 years old, and Henry Kaiser of Greenview, 17, who were selected as the representative 4-H youth of Illinois for their excellent records in leadership and achievements.

Miss Phelps, a pretty co-ed at Joliet Junior college, is an eager worker on her parents' 219 acre farm and has been active in 4-H club work for eight years.

Kaiser carries much of the burden on his father's 160 acre farm. He raises stock, corn, and soy beans.

N. U. FINANCIAL CONDITION BEST IN ITS HISTORY

Northwestern university is entering the critical wartime period in the best fiscal condition of its long history, Harry L. Wells, vice president and business manager of the university, said yesterday before the Northwestern university associates in the Chicago club.

The report was as of the close of the university's fiscal year, Aug. 31.

"We have read of the probable closing of 500 colleges thruout the country as the result of the war," Wells said. "We do not intend to be one of those 500 colleges."

As the university now stands, Wells said, it has a plant valued at $28,500,000, with $2,500,000 in book, laboratories, and teaching equipment. The university occupies 2 million feet of floor space and owns 122 acres of land. Endowments, trust funds, and student loan funds aggregate $30,000,000. Thus, the total worth of the university, he said, is $60,000,000.

During the year ending Aug. 1 the total income of the university was $6,653,000, and it spent $6,462,000, Wells reported. He explained that five years ago it was decided to stabilize all income from invested funds at 4 per cent, with any balance to be set aside for emergency reserves. He disclosed a half million dollar reserve fund had been built up.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FUND OVER TOP; RECORDS SET UP BY THE WORKERS

Surpassing its original goal of $3,750,000 by more than $25,000, Chicago's 12th annual Community Fund campaign was concluded yesterday. Workers, at their final progress meeting in the Palmer House, reported more than $800,000 in contributions, sending the grand total to $3,777,374, according to Charles Y. Freeman, general chairman of the campaign.

This was the largest sum ever turned in by workers at a single meeting in any campaign in the 12 year history of the fund and it also set an all time record for an early windup of a fund campaign, Freeman said.

James L. Palmer, chairman of the industrial division, announced that "clean up" work would continue until all of the 68 solicitation groups had completed their assignments with a view to bringing the final total as near to $4,000,000 as possible. Increased burdens placed upon the participating private welfare agencies by war conditions will require every dollar outstanding, he said.

QUESTIONNAIRE WITH LONG TITLE QUITE HARMLESS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—The budget bureau took to task today those who have made a great ado over a government questionnaire topped by the awe-inspiring symbols, "1-1071-PLOF-5-NOBU-COS-WP."

Calling the criticism which developed at a congressional hearing this week "another example of the tendency to jump at conclusions," Budget Director Harold D. Smith said the symbols had nothing to do with the questionnaire.

Here is Smith's translation:

1071—Serial number of job performed for OPA.

NOBU—No back-up. Printing instruction.

WP—Wrap. Also printing instruction.

END TESTIMONY IN MURDER TRIAL OF MRS. PAYNE

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 3 (AP).—Presentation of evidence was completed today in the first degree murder trial of Mrs. Caroline Payne, Bloomington newspaper woman accused of slaying Charles O. Mattingly here almost a year and a half ago. This is Mrs. Payne's second trial. The jury at her first trial was unable to agree on a verdict. Attorneys agreed to limit their arguments to three hours each for the state and defense, and it was indicated the case would reach the jury tomorrow noon.

QUESTIONNAIRES, CEILINGS CALLED DOOM OF GROCERS

U. S. Accused of Gestapo Tactics in Snooping.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—Charges that government "snoopers" employed by the Office of Price Administration and the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation were using "gestapo" tactics in their investigations, were made today before the senate committee seeking ways of reducing nonessential government expenses.

The charges were made by Fred A. Baughan, general manager of the Retail Food Dealers' Association of California, who was one of five witnesses to inform the committee that government red tape and questionnaires seriously threaten the nation's economy.

One witness told the committee that business had been so flooded with government questionnaires that business men now have a theme song they sing to their secretaries as they prepare to start their day's work, that goes, "Praise the Lord and pass the inquisition."

Food Being Strangled.

The committee also heard charges made by businessmen and representatives of agriculture that [1] production and the marketing of food is being strangled in government regulations; [2] the government is seeking to drive the retail grocer out of business with red tape and price restrictions so that it can take over the distribution of food; and, [3] the nation is heading for a combination of technocracy and national socialism.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], chairman of the committee, and other members, which included Senators Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.], Gerald P. Nye, [R., N. D.], Walter F. George [D., Ga.], and Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] were ensconced behind four large volumes of OPA "interpretations" during the hearings and frequently were hidden from the view of the witnesses.

Stack of 900 Page Books.

The senators were so impressed with the size of the OPA volumes—each book contained over 900 pages—that they ordered a note of their size be entered into the hearing record. Later they had their picture taken standing behind the books which contained information issued by OPA to business men during the last nine months.

Because of the serious nature of the charges made concerning the volume and size of questionnaires from government agencies flooding the nation's business enterprises, the committee immediately sent letters to all government agencies asking for copies and a report on the number of all questionnaires sent out between July 1, 1941, and Dec. 1, this year.

Sees U. S. Taking Over.

Baughan went so far in his testimony as to inform the committee that OPA price ceilings and other government restrictions appeared to California retailers to be part of a far reaching New Deal plan whereby the administration eventually would take over all food distribution. He said the price regulations and other federal regulations were so designed that they were forcing practically all independent retail grocery stores out of business.

"If we don't get relief from these questionnaires and ceiling prices soon, all the retail grocery stores are going to be forced to close and the government is going to have to take over the distribution of food and feed the people," Baughan asserted.

He told the committee that storekeepers were having to spend more time filling out questionnaires for OPA than they did in running their business. When asked if he knew what the questionnaires were being used for, he said ton upon ton of them were piled up in garages of local rationing boards in California. Asked if the boards had used them, he replied, "They're garage men."

The Inquiring Camera Girl

THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by THE TRIBUNE. Today's question was submitted by Andrew Ference, 205 Glen Park avenue, Gary Ind.]

THE QUESTION.

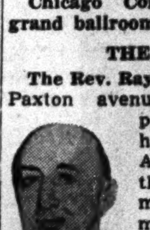
What is the most unusual fee you have been offered for your services? [Asked of ministers.]

WHERE ASKED.

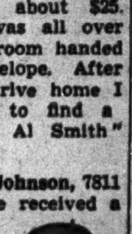
Chicago Congregational union, grand ballroom, Palmer House.

THE ANSWERS.

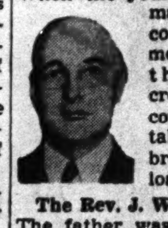
The Rev. Ray Freeman Jenney, 6752 Paxton avenue—My traveling expenses to the wedding had been about $25. After it was all over the bridegroom handed me an envelope. After my long drive home I opened it to find a "Vote for Al Smith" button.



The Rev. S. Lawrence Johnson, 7811 Eberhart avenue—I once received a most unusual fee. Just after I said, "I now pronounce you man and wife," the happy but flustered bride flung her arms around my neck and gave me the kiss that was intended for the bridegroom.

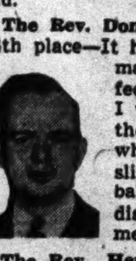


The Rev. A. A. Bell, Blue Island—When the young couple came to be married they said they couldn't afford to pay more than 50c, but when they harvested their crops they'd bring me a couple bushels of vegetables. That fall they brought me a wagon load.



The Rev. J. W. Davies, Waukegan—The father was so thrilled that his daughter was marrying the man of his choice that he gave me $100 before the wedding. A week later he said he felt he should send me an extra $100—and he did.

The Rev. Donald Bond, 3342 West 64th place—It has never been customary for us to accept a fee for baptisms. While I was baptizing a baby the father handed me what I thought was a slip of paper with the baby's name. Later I discovered he had given me a dollar bill.



The Rev. Henry C. Hoover, 6508 West 34th street, Berwyn—After I performed the wedding ceremony the groom asked me if it would be proper to pay me a fee. I told him he could pay me what he thought it was worth. He handed me 50 cents.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE TASKS TOLD BY COL. GOWENLOCK

Co-Ordinator Cites First Year's Activities.

The task of providing civilian defense in wartime was reviewed in a report yesterday by Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock, coördinator of all law enforcement agencies in the state. The report covered the activities of the coördinator's office during the last year.

Col. Gowenlock, who was appointed coördinator by Gov. Green the day after the attack on Pearl Harbor, has welded into one defense organization the facilities of federal and state law enforcement bodies, sheriffs, city and rural police departments, and army, navy, and coast guard intelligence units.

During the last year, he reported, 64 meetings were held thruout the state to organize plans for defense emergencies. The meetings were attended by 2,000 law enforcement officials, and persons interested in defense work.

Plans for Protection.

The office has coöperated actively with the Illinois Sheriffs' association in effecting a plan thruout the school districts of Illinois to insure protection to power lines, pipe lines, important bridges and the machinery and facilities of the farmers, and to guard against fires," he said.

"We hope to have an organization of more than 500,000 men in the rural areas of this state," he continued. "The old anti-horse thief organization, with its 5,000 members, was used as a nucleus for this effort."

Col. Gowenlock said that three main principles guided the activities of his office. They are:

1. To confine all activities, as nearly as possible, to assisting the war effort.

2. To assist all law enforcement agencies, especially in aiding them to obtain necessary man power, equipment and laws and regulations.

3. To protect law enforcement groups against everything that might seriously interfere with or impede their work.

An example of protecting law enforcement agencies, he said, was the fight to have the war department and the communications commission lift a ban on the operation of police radios during blackouts.

Equipment for Police.

The coördinator's office has obtained equipment, including automobiles, ammunition, and radios, for many police departments in the state, and also has been successful in having local municipalities appropriate funds for additional policemen.

Many activities of the office are of a confidential nature and could not be outlined in the report. The coordinator reported that 196 confidential investigations were made for the armed services of the country and other branches of the federal government.

Because of the initiative taken by the coördinator's office in having local officials stamp out vice around army and navy camps, it has not been necessary to invoke provisions of the May act in this state. That act provides that federal officials will supersede local authorities when the latter fail to suppress vice.

FALL FATAL TO FLORIST.

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 3 [Special].—Swan Peterson, 81 years old, Rockford florist, died Wednesday night at Swedish American hospital. He had fractured a hip in a fall at his home. He was known as a hybridizer of many varieties of carnations.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mrs. R. R. writes: "I am the wife of a navy man. My husband filed an application for an allowance for me in October. The navy department sent me a notice this month, stating that I would receive the allowance and also giving me his serial number. Since that time I have heard nothing further. Can you tell me if there is anything I can do to inquire about it? I am expecting a baby in less than two weeks and need help. I have been waiting for the money, and I am now quite worried about it. Can you tell me how soon I can expect my first check?"

ANSWER: If you received a notice from the navy department you will undoubtedly receive your allowance, but it is not possible to say just when your first check will come. Meanwhile I would suggest that you write to Chaplain Andrews, Naval Relief society, Great Lakes, Ill. He will be glad to give you any necessary advice and assistance until your check comes thru.

M. O. asks: "Is it possible to send a cable to a soldier thru his army postoffice address? He is located in Australia, and we do not have a cable address for him."

ANSWER: Yes, it is quite possible to send a cable to a soldier via his A. P. O. address, if that postoffice is open for such messages. The wire service over which you send your cable can advise you as to whether the particular number is available for such service.

Mrs. B. C. writes: "My son has been overseas for some time. I received no mail from him for several months. However, recently he wrote advising me that he had been demoted. Previous to receiving this letter, I had given his address with his former rank to many of his friends and relatives, who wish to send him Christmas mail and packages. What worries me now is the fact that he will in the future receive mail and parcels addressed to him with his former rank. I am now wondering if whatever the cause for his demotion this fact will add to his troubles when he receives his mail under his old rating. He had been sending me an allotment from his pay, and in his letter mentioned that it would be necessary to cancel it due to his demotion. However, during the following month, the check came thru as usual. Does this mean that he will have no money at all, because this check was sent to me, or will I be called upon to return this check? It makes me feel badly to think that he will be without funds because of this transaction. If I send him a money order will it be possible for him to cash it?"

ANSWER: Army authorities here inform me that the fact that letters and packages have been addressed to your son with his former rank will not cause him any further embarrassment. His superiors will realize that letters take time to reach this country, and that persons here could not know of his demotion immediately. I do not believe you need to worry that he will be left entirely without money, since it is an army regulation that men keep at least $10 of their salaries for necessities. I also doubt that you will be asked to return the check. The money due will probably be deducted from his future pay in small amounts. It is always best to send money orders rather than cash to men in service. Any army postoffice will cash such orders.

Mrs. F. K. writes: "I have a son in the navy, but have been told that I am not eligible for a family allowance because I am able to support myself. By working I do earn a substantial salary, but my son always gave me a part of his earnings before he went into the service. A friend of mine who is a widow with one son in the service and has several pieces of property and an excellent income, for which she does not work, is now receiving a family allowance, and yet, because I am compelled to work, I am not entitled to it. I can't understand the situation."

ANSWER: If the facts are as stated, your friend is liable to a severe fine for misrepresenting her financial situation. However, it may be that she is receiving a purely voluntary allotment from her son, paid entirely from his salary. Government allowances paid under the service men's dependents bill are made up of a contribution from the sailor, plus a government contribution, but they are provided only for mothers who can prove both dependency and relationship. If you are self-supporting, under the wording of the bill, you are not eligible for such benefits. Your son may, of course, send you a voluntary allotment from his earnings.

COURT DECISION PERILS DIVORCES WON IN SUBURBS

Judge Harrington Says It May Void Decrees.

Divorce decrees that have been granted to Chicagoans and other nonresidents of Chicago Heights and Calumet City by the city courts in those localities may be voided by a recent Illinois Supreme court ruling, in the opinion of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington of Circuit court, the judge said yesterday.

"I have read the decision and studied it," said Judge Harrington, "and I am convinced that it applies to the granting of divorces just as to all other types of litigation. I believe that either party in one of the Chicago Heights or Calumet City nonresident divorces may take advantage of the ruling to have the decree set aside."

How Supreme Court Ruled.

The ruling was handed down in the case of Werner vs. Illinois Central railroad. The plaintiff had brought action against the railroad in the City court of East St. Louis as a result of injuries which he said he suffered while employed by the railroad in Pana. The Supreme court ruled that the jurisdiction of a city court is confined to causes of action arising within the city.

The Illinois legislature in 1939 passed a law validating divorces in city courts for any resident of the county if evidence warranted a decree and the defendant filed an appearance. Judge Harrington pointed out, however, that in Werner vs. Illinois Central railroad the Supreme court held that the legislature could not give the courts power not granted by the state constitution.

"This decision not only appears to invalidate nonresident divorces granted by city courts," said Judge Harrington, "but also affects the title of any property in settlements made in such divorces."

Lawyers and Judges Agree.

Many other judges and attorneys agree with Judge Harrington's interpretation of the ruling. Judge Robert A. Meier Jr. of Chicago Heights City council, said: "I believe the decision is broad enough to cast a doubt on the right of those courts to grant divorces to nonresidents."

Judge Thomas J. Lynch of Circuit court and Judge Joseph Sabath of Superior court said they believed the ruling would apply to divorce decrees granted by the city courts. Several attorneys in Chicago Heights, however, maintained that the ruling did not affect chancery or divorce cases.

Bar to Study Problem.

"I always doubted that the 1939 amendment could give city courts added powers of jurisdiction not granted them by the constitution," said Benjamin B. Davis, a Chicago attorney. Robert E. Cantwell Jr., another attorney, also said he never had considered divorces granted nonresidents by city courts valid.

The Chicago Bar association committee on laws pertaining to matrimonial relations will study the Supreme court ruling, said Judge John C. Lewe of Superior court, head of the committee, and if it believes the ruling applies to the Chicago Heights and Calumet City city courts, efforts will be made to halt divorces to nonresidents there.

The Chicago Heights court, which handled 80 divorce cases in 1938, had 438 in 1941. Calumet City divorces increased from 192 in 1938 to 340 in 1941. Mrs. William Dale Bost was recently granted a divorce in Chicago Heights.

Murals Sought to Depict Negro's Part in U. S. Life

New York, Dec. 3 [Special].—A series of mural paintings to depict the contribution of the Negro to America will decorate the lobby and library of the Recorder of Deeds building in Washington, D. C. Announcement has just been made by the federal work agency of a competition, open to all American artists, for seven murals, for which $5,600 will be paid. Artists may submit designs for the entire series of murals or for a part.

ASSURE FAMILY HOMES FOR 1,500 IN WAR INDUSTRY

4 Housing Units in City Near Completion.

Migrant workers flocking to Chicago war plants will have almost 1,500 additional homes and apartments available within the next few weeks, the Chicago Housing authority announced yesterday. All of the homes, located in four housing projects, are in the low rent category, ranging in price from $20.50 to $38 per month for 2½ to 6½ room units.

Altho service men have been accepted in a few instances, war workers will be given preference in the new units, all of which are of permanent, fireproof construction, and equipped with heating facilities, gas, electricity, and hot water.

128 in Lawndale.

One hundred and twenty-eight of the homes will be available at the Lawndale Gardens housing project at 26th street and California boulevard on or about Dec. 15. An additional 141 units will be ready for occupancy in the Bridgeport homes at 31st street and Lithuanica avenue about Jan. 1.

Only families with children will be accepted in the Lawndale and Bridgeport buildings because of the size of the units which range from 4½ to 5½ rooms with 2 or 3 bedrooms each.

The Frances Cabrini homes at Chicago avenue and Larrabee street will open 386 additional units early in January. Two hundred units in this 586 unit project already have been occupied.

The Robert Brooks homes, located at Racine avenue and 14th street, will have 834 units ready for occupancy early in 1943.

Base Rent on Salary.

Rentals will be based on workers' salaries. In the Lawndale and Bridgeport buildings, workers whose salaries range from $1,800 to $2,100 per year will pay $36 and $37 monthly for 4½ and 5½ room units, respectively. Men with incomes between $1,500 and $1,800 yearly will pay $31 and $32; those who earn $1,200 to $1,500 per year will pay $26 and $27, and workers with incomes less than $1,200 yearly will be charged $21 and $22 for the apartments.

In the Cabrini and Robert Brooks homes, which range in size from 2½ to 6½ rooms, rentals will run from $20.50 to $38 per month, also depending on the workers' incomes.

ADVANCE PLANS FOR PASSENGER BOATS ON RIVER

Engineer to Study New Travel Facilities.

Maj. R. F. Kelker, engineer for the city council committee on local transportation, said yesterday he plans a thoro study of proposals to establish scheduled boat service on the Chicago river as a supplement to the city's transportation systems, crippled by wartime restrictions.

The local transportation committee referred the matter to Maj. Kelker at a meeting yesterday in which use of the river boats was advocated by Ald. Walter J. Orlikoski [35th].

Maj. Kelker said he would investigate to learn what companies would be interested in establishing such a line, just where the proposed service could be operated to the best advantage, and the number and types of boats which would be available.

Doubts City Authority.

Such lines have been operated for some time in European cities, where motor transportation facilities always have been restricted, Maj. Kelker said. He expressed the view such a service here would be warranted in view of wartime transportation curtailments.

Maj. Kelker expressed doubt the city would have regulatory authority over such a service and suggested this regulation might come under jurisdiction of the Illinois Commerce commission or some federal agency. A spokesman for the ICC said the matter might have to be referred to the state attorney general for an opinion.

Altho manufacture of boats now is restricted to wartime needs, representatives of boat manufacturers said a number of vessels suitable for such service now are in storage here. Michael F. Mulcahey, OPA administrator for the Chicago metropolitan area, said restrictions on use of gasoline would not affect such boat operation should gasoline be used instead of Diesel oil.

Ald. Orlikoski and Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the local transportation committee, both favor a test of the plan. Among others who joined them in these sentiments yesterday were Ald. George D. Kells [28th] and Ald. William F. Cowhey [41st].

Seek Fill-in for Buses.

"We've got to make up for reduced bus service," Ald. Kells said. "Boat service could carry a lot of people without using rubber. I think it is a good idea and think such a service might be extended on a practical basis some distance from the business district."

Ald. Cowhey advocated use of a tug type ferryboat. He predicted such a service between the Union station and the Michigan avenue bridge would prove faster than existing bus transportation, as it could follow a more direct route without traffic interference.

Ald. Thomas P. Keane [31st] said people won't use such a service unless substantial boats are provided, but added he favored a thoro investigation of the plan.

DIES AFTER HEART ATTACK ON "L."

Ralph Roberts, 38 years old, 915 Wilson avenue, an instructor in a school of aeronautics, who was stricken with a heart attack Wednesday on an elevated train and removed at the Wilson-Broadway station, died yesterday in the American hospital.

OHIOAN NAMED BY DEWEY AS BUDGET CHIEF

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Gov. Elect Thomas E. Dewey, making his first appointment to a state office, today named John E. Burton, native of Ohio, to be New York's budget director. Burton, research economist, now resides at Garden City, N. Y. Dewey described Burton as "the ablest student of government financing that I know." He succeeds J. Buckley Bryan in the $12,000 a year post.

Burton, 34 years old, married, and the father of a son, was research secretary to the committee on taxation of the President's conference on home building and home ownership in 1931; director of research of the mortgage committee of the state of New York, 1935 to 1938; director of his own research group since 1938; a president of Transcontinental Research, Inc.; lecturer at Northwestern university, 1931-'33, and lecturer at New York university in 1937, 1938, and 1941.

Since 1938 he has been research counsel to Republican leaders in the legislature and adviser to the legislative committee which investigated unemployment insurance in 193[illegible].

ADMITS SLAYING WOMAN HE TOOK FOR RIDE IN AUTO

Laredo, Tex., Dec. 3 (AP).—Chief of Police D. O. Gallagher said tonight Wayne Edward Banning made a signed statement admitting the slaying Nov. 18 of Mrs. Doris Munt of Windsor, Ont.

Mrs. Munt's body was found in a Detroit suburb Nov. 19, the head beaten in. Banning, charged with murder in the slaying, was arrested at the International bridge here Tuesday. He is being held for Detroit officers.

Gallagher said Banning in the statement told of going for a ride with Mrs. Munt on the night of Nov. 18, of turning into a side road on the outskirts of Detroit.

COUNCIL PASSES NEW ZONING LAW TO CURB BLIGHT

Reduces Business Area, Opposes Skyscrapers.

A new zoning ordinance, a drastic revision of the present ordinance passed in 1923, was approved yesterday by the city council without opposition and with little discussion. The action climaxed five years of reseach and public hearings on the measure.

The new ordinance greatly increases the area zoned for residences, and sharply reduces the area open to commercial and apartment house construction. It discourages construction of business skyscrapers and tall apartment buildings, and makes it mandatory to provide adequate parking space in any new developments, commercial or residential.

Aims to Remove Blight.

Aldermen had hailed it as the first step in a concrete plan for city development and for removal of blighted areas.

A resolution designed to discourage the shipment of milk produced in the Chicago area to other sections of the country for consumption, and thereby aid in averting a possible milk shortage here, was introduced by Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] and referred to the council's health committee.

Milk Inspection Plan.

Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], health committee chairman, was instructed to report on the resolution at the council's next meeting on Dec. 9.

An ordinance providing for prorata refunds on any type of city license for persons called into the armed services, or whose business is taken over by the government, was introduced by Ald. Joseph S. Gillespie [29th] and passed. As originally introduced, the measure included only city vehicle licenses, but it was amended at the suggestion of other aldermen to include all licenses.

Ald. George D. Kells [28th] introduced an ordinance that would make felons eligible for chauffeur licenses after convincing police of their good conduct for at least eight years following release from a penitentiary. After a heated controversy, the measure was referred back to the traffic committee for further study.

Street Lights to Burn Longer.

The council approved an order providing that street lights be kept burning an hour later each morning after Mayor Kelly said he had had a number of complaints from persons who start out for work in darkness. The cost was estimated at $16,500 a year. The time the lights are shut off varies according to seasons.

Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] introduced an ordinance making it unlawful to drop used paper handkerchiefs or facial tissue in public places. It was referred to the health committee.

The 1943 budget estimates of City Controler Robert B. Upham were presented and referred to the finance committee for hearings expected to begin next week.

TRIPLETS APPEAR TODAY WITH TOM, DICK, AND HARRY

The Affairs of Tom, Dick, and Harry show is likely to be even livelier than usual today on W-G-N. Tom, Dick, and Harry expect to have as guests on their matinée at 3 p. m. Tom, Dick, and Harry Krause, the 6 month old triplet sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Krause of Des Plaines.

Mrs. Krause, Chief of Police Howard Becker of Des Plaines, W. L. Fabian, local editor, and perhaps several friends will be on hand with the triplets. A preview of Des Plaines' plans to have its Christmas observance revolve about the triplets will be given. Des Plaines' Christmas festival opens tomorrow with a celebration in the town hall in which both sets of Tom, Dick, and Harry will participate. What the triplets will contribute to today's broadcast remains to be seen—perhaps heard!

● Good to eat and good for you! Uncle Sam urges fruit for a balanced diet, particularly fruit grown near home. So use plenty of those fresh, ripe Michigan apples that are on the market now. Canned Michigan apples and canned apple sauce supply the flavor and wholesomeness of fresh Michigan apples in convenient form.

APPLE-RAISIN BETTY

6 apples; 1 cup raisins; 2 cups freshly crumbed day-old bread; 1 cup granulated sugar; 6 tablespoons butter; water.

Wash, pare, core and slice apples. Place alternate layers of apples, raisins, crumbs and sugar into individual casseroles with crumbs as last layer. Dot with butter; add small amount of water if apples seem dry. Bake in oven 325° F. for 45 minutes. Serve with whipped or plain cream.

CITRUS FRUITS SHOULD BE PART OF DAILY MENU

Grapefruit, Tangerines Are Bargains Now.

Fresh grapefruit and tangerines, which have been produced in record-breaking quantities this year, are the Victory Food Specials for the period from Dec. 3 thru Dec. 12. If you haven't already formed the habit of including a serving of some citrus fruit in the daily menu, start doing so now while large supplies are available.

Choose thin-skinned grapefruit that feel heavy for their size when weighed in the hand if you want to obtain a goodly amount of juice for your money. Don't worry about the russet-colored marks on the skin, for these spots do not affect the quality of the fruit, but be sure that the fruit is firm, well shaped, and springy to the touch.

Tangerines should be bright in color and firm in texture. When the skins are puffy, the fruit is likely to be dry and pithy and the yield of juice will be small. Tangerines are especially good additions to the lunch-box.

Chilled Grapefruit Halves.

Cut chilled grapefruit in halves crosswise. Remove center with sharp knife or scissors. Loosen sections by cutting around each section with sharp knife along membrane and skin. Place a small scoop of orange, lemon, lime, or raspberry ice or sherbet in the center of each half for a first or last course. Or, place small wedges or ripe olives outlining the edges of the grapefruit sections, then pour over several tablespoons of French dressing and serve as first course or salad. For company breakfast fill the center of prepared grapefruit halves with a spoonful of strawberry, raspberry, or cherry preserves.

Broiled Grapefruit Halves.

Cut grapefruit in halves crosswise, remove center with sharp knife or scissors. Loosen sections by cutting around each section along membrane and skin. Sprinkle each half with a tablespoon of sugar and a dash of cinnamon, mace, or nutmeg; dot with butter. Place grapefruit on broiler rack 3 to 4 inches from the heating unit. Broil 10 to 15 minutes or until fruit is slightly brown and heated thoroly.

For variation omit the sugar and spices and spread grapefruit halves with 2 tablespoons mashed mint or currant or apple jelly before broiling; or pour over grapefruit halves 1 to 2 tablespoons grenadine or crème de menthe sirup. Brown sugar, maple sugar, or maple sirup may be used instead of granulated sugar if desired. And for company breakfast sprinkle the grapefruit with 2 tablespoons sugar, omit spices, and pour over 1 tablespoon sherry before broiling.

Ten Minute Tangerine Jam.

2 cups tangerines, pulp and juice
1 lemon, pulp and juice
1 teaspoon grated tangerine rind
1½ cups sugar

Remove seeds from tangerine pulp and juice. Combine all ingredients and boil rapidly for 10 minutes, or until sirupy and clear. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal with paraffin. This jam is delicious with cream cheese for nut bread sandwiches.

Tangerine Salad Mold.
[Serves 6.]

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
⅓ cup diced celery
1 cup tangerine sections, cut in halves
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
Lettuce
Mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in hot water, then add cold water and chill. When mixture is partially thickened add remaining ingredients. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. To serve, unmold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise.

Tangerine Cream Custard.
[Serves 6.]

4 egg yolks
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup tangerine juice
1 cup evaporated milk
1 teaspoon grated rind

Add sugar, cornstarch, salt, fruit juice, and milk to the well beaten egg yolks. Cook in double boiler until thickened, or until mixture coats a spoon. Add grated tangerine rind and cool quickly. Serve as a simple dessert or as a dessert sauce.

Cooking Dried Fruits.

Cooking dried fruits quickly without soaking gives a better product than long, slow cooking. The fruit will have a firmer texture and the sugar will be retained in the fruit, rather than lost to the juice.

TIPS ON RATIONED MEATS OFFERED BY MARY MEADE

Do you know which meats are unrestricted, that is, exempt from being counted when you figure your week's total ration of 2½ pounds? And would you like to know of interesting ways to cook these unrationed meats?

Mary Meade has prepared some mimeographed sheets of recipes and information about unrestricted meats and other meats that are likely to be most available in markets these days.

All you need to do to get your copy is send a business-size stamped, self-addressed envelope to Mary Meade, department A, Chicago Tribune. It will be mailed promptly.

HERE ARE THREE WAYS TO FIX UP 'COMMON' FOOD

Sprouts with Chestnuts a Fancy Dish.

Everyday foods like broccoli, brussels sprouts, and lima beans need no introduction, but they do cause comments when they're prepared in unusual ways. Choose any one of these dishes for the company dinner.

Brussels Sprouts with Chestnuts.
[Serves 6.]

1 quart brussels sprouts
½ pound chestnuts
⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
2 teaspoons sugar
Salt and pepper

Cook the sprouts until tender in boiling salted water and save the water. Cook the shelled, skinned chestnuts gently in boiling water until they are tender and the water has evaporated. Brown 2 tablespoons of the butter, add the sugar, stir constantly, adding the chestnuts. Allow them to brown well. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add the flour, and then 1 cup of the water in which the sprouts were cooked. Cook until sauce is smooth and add sprouts, chestnuts, remaining butter, and seasonings. Heat thoroly and serve.

Broccoli Hollandaise.
[Serves 6.]

1½ pounds broccoli
½ cup butter or margarine
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Sprinkling of cayenne pepper

Clean the broccoli, cut off the heavy leaves and tough portions of the stem, soak for 20 minutes in cold water, and cook in lightly salted boiling water only until tender, about 15 or 20 minutes. The pan should be uncovered. Drain the broccoli, but keep it in a warm place or in a pan of hot water while preparing the sauce.

Divide the butter into three parts. Melt one part in the top of a double boiler, adding the lemon juice and beaten egg yolks. Stir constantly and add the second piece of butter after 5 minutes. Stir until well blended. remove from heat, and add remaining butter and seasonings. Pour over the hot broccoli and serve at once.

Lima Beans in Baked Tomato Cups.
[Serves 6.]

6 medium sized tomatoes
Salt and pepper
2½ cups cooked or canned lima beans
1 teaspoon minced onion
½ cup dry bread crumbs, buttered

Wash tomatoes, remove stem ends, and scoop out center pulp, leaving a shell ¼ inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add finely minced onion to the lima beans and fill tomato cups with the mixture. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, for 20 minutes. Serve at once.

Save Leftover Butter.

Meat Saving Casserole.
[Serves six.]

1 8 ounce package macaroni
3 tablespoons butter
⅛ pound package dried beef
¼ cup green pepper, chopped fine
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
¾ cup grated sharp cheese
Salt and pepper

Cook the macaroni in boiling salted water; then drain. Frizzle the meat and cook green pepper in butter. Stir in flour, mixing until smooth. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add ½ cup of the cheese and stir until melted. Season to taste. Pour this sauce over macaroni which has been placed in a greased casserole. Sprinkle remaining cheese on top. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for 40 minutes.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Miss Anne Davis, war training consultant of the United States Employment service, speaking at a Girl Scout conference yesterday, warned that more than 5,000,000 women now engaged in white collar or other sedentary work would be needed on the production front before the end of 1943. She spoke at the Palmer House, at the opening of a three day conference of Girl Scout executives, meeting to study scouting as a community force and the wartime job of the scout executive. One hundred and fifty executives from the southern, eastern, and middle west states had registered at the opening session.

Miss Davis said there are now 13,000,000 women employed in the United Sates, and 600,000 more will be added by Jan. 1. Of the total now employed, she said, 1,750,000 are in war industries.

Other speakers were Pierce Atwater, executive director of the Community Fund, and Robert MacRae, managing director of the Council of Social Agencies of metropolitan Detroit. Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse of New York, national director of the Girl Scouts, presided. At the final general session tomorrow afternoon she will summarize the conferences. Round table discussions completed yesterday's program and will be continued today and tomorrow.

Organization of a woman's statewide advisory committee to disseminate salvage information and to promote the continuous coöperation of all women in a day to day reclamation program will be the business of a luncheon meeting at 12:15 o'clock today in the Electra club in the Civic Opera building. Nathaniel Leverone, state salvage director, began the organization by inviting presidents of every statewide woman's organization to send a representative. Fifty are expected to attend. Speakers will include Mr. Leverone, Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, state salvage director of the women's division and head of the new advisory committee; Ben Regan, executive secretary of the salvage division for the WPB, and George Eisenberg, co-chairman of the salvage committee of the Illinois State Council of Defense.

Last May Mrs. Linda L. Keller and her husband, Charles, decided to break up housekeeping and join the WAACs and navy, respectively. Both were rejected. Subsequently Charles enlisted in the coast guard and Linda tried the WAACs again. Yesterday she was one of 50 inducted at the enrollment office, 166 West Van Buren street. Mrs. Keller, a factory secretary, lives at 6515 West 26th place, Berwyn.

Nutrition instructors of the Chicago Red Cross chapter will meet at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow at chapter headquarters, 529 South Wabash avenue, to consider food and nutrition problems which may arise from shortages and shipping difficulties. The speakers will include Dr. Lydia Roberts, chairman of the Red Cross nutrition advisory committee and also chairman of the home economics department at Chicago university, and Miss Helen Walsh, regional nutrition director for the Office of Defense Health and Welfare. Mrs. Jana G. Krause, director of nutrition for the Chicago Red Cross, says there are 130 volunteer instructors in her group. All have home economics degrees.

Alpha Iota chapter of Iota Phi Lambda sorority has arranged a series of practical clinics for women workers on Friday evenings from 8 until 9:30 o'clock at the Walker college, 4703 South park way. The discussion for tonight's meeting will be led by Mrs. Mayme Mason Higgins of the United States employment service on the subject, "Work Attitudes and How They Affect Us." A registration fee of 25 cents admits those who attend to all the discussions.

Mrs. Agnes McClellan of 7743 Ridgeland avenue, who recently finished training in junior ordnance inspection at the Illinois Institute of Technology, represents the distaff side of a fighting family. Her two sons, Bill, 18 years old, and Bob, 20, are on active duty with the army air corps and the navy, respectively. And her husband, Elmer McClellan, a veteran of the first World war, wants to volunteer for the army again.

Mrs. Agnes McClellan.

With her boys in the services, Mrs. McClellan set out to find a way to be self-supporting to permit her husband to apply for enlistment. So she enrolled in the women's war training program at Illinois Tech and qualified for the institute's earn-as-you-learn program. As a junior ordnance inspector trainee she was paid $120 a month by the Chicago ordnance district while she learned. On completion of the nine week course she has left the classroom and gone to work in a war industry, the Seng Manufacturing company, 1450 North Dayton street.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the December meeting and pre-Christmas party of the Navy Mothers club. Mrs. Helen Joyce was reëlected president, with Mrs. Charles A. Deneen, Mrs. Bruce Smyth, Mrs. Reginald Reid, and Mrs. Ralph Jennings as vice presidents. Mrs. Horace Kennedy and Mrs. Jay Seadler take over the duties of recording and corresponding secretary, respectively, and Mrs. George Meister is the new treasurer.

Thru the Looking Glass

Help for the poor working girls—or the exhausted shoppers or women with war nerves, for that matter—is offered at one of our loop beauty salons. It's a pick-up treatment that takes only half an hour and costs practically nothing! And it's quite wonderful for tired muscles, frazzled nerves, and low spirits.

In 30 minutes flat you have three treatments, really. First of all you are popped into either a moist heat cabinet or a warm foamy bath, as you wish. Either is guaranteed to make you relax, pleasurably, and forget any troubles you might have. When your jitters are vanished, as they will be in 10 minutes, you're whisked under a needlepoint shower and then you have a complete alcohol rub, than which, if you ask us, nothing is more delightful. But if you'd rather, you can have an oil rub instead—a little process that may be less invigorating but is a bit kinder to very dry skin.

Then you have a makeup. A beautiful and beautifying one that tones down your defects and highlights any latent beauty of skin, coloring, or feature.

All this, mind you, takes no more than half an hour out of your busy day. You can be glorified on your lunch hour if you're a business woman or even fairly close to the dinner hour, since stores are now open later than they used to be. And if you're a shopper with a big evening engagement ahead you couldn't do a smarter thing for your good looks and your spirits than to take time out from your traipsing for a jiffy treatment like this.

Women Urged to Recruit for Armed Forces

"Winning the War and the Preparation for Peace" was the theme about which the 4th annual state-wide forum of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs revolved yesterday at an all-day session in the Hotel Sherman.

Maj. Floyd M. Showalter, officer in charge of recruiting army air cadets in the 6th service command, urged that each member of the federation become an unofficial recruiting officer for the army, navy, and marine corps air forces. He declared it is possible, if air force recruiting in the city continues at its present speedy rate, for Chicago to become the aeronautic center of the world.

"The air forces must be increased that the other froces can operate in the best manner possible," he said. "Therein lies the welding of the links—the linking together of the ground forces, the sea forces, and the air forces. Welded together they will form one single force to operate successfully."

Howard A. Lane, associate professor of education at Northwestern university, in a talk on "Education for Peace," advocated drastic changes in the school system. Schools must become smaller units, he said.

"Don't build another large school in your community," he advised the women. "Let's not have any more of these high concentrations of children which now exist in our large cities. Keep the school and its activities close to the parents, and see to it that the relationship between parents and teacher and teacher and students is one of friendliness, understanding, and coöperation."

The increasing need for trained nurses was discussed by Frank G. Thompson, director of the Illinois department of registration and education. He said that as more men are drawn into the fighting forces more nurses will be needed to care for the fighters.

J. T. Meek, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, spoke at the forum on the wartime rôle of the retail merchant. He said that the first objective of the retailer is to win the war and to work for a lasting peace. The second objective, he said, is to eliminate any suspicions and disunity created by those who have a mistaken idea of the functions of retailing.

Chicago's part in the war effort was praised by Mayor Edward J. Kelly, who told the audience that the city leads the country in civilian defense work, in enlistment for the armed forces, and in every war activity. The fact that industry and labor get a fair deal in Chicago, he said, is not accidental; it is the result of careful planning and organization by the mayor and the city council.

Mrs. Preston L. Wettaw is president of the federation. Mrs. William T. Bruckner is chairman of the war service committee and general federation director. Among other speakers at the forum were Miss Kathryn Judkins of the Illinois Institute of Technology; Dr. Walter A. Foy, regional business consultant of the department of commerce; Mrs. Hilda Gitlin, director of the Metropolitan Housing council; Miss Mary Murphy of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial fund, Mrs. James A. Cathcart of the Red Cross, Mrs. George Hartford, chairman of ways and means; Lieut. Doris Epperson of the WAACs, and Lieut. Mary Daily of the WAVES.

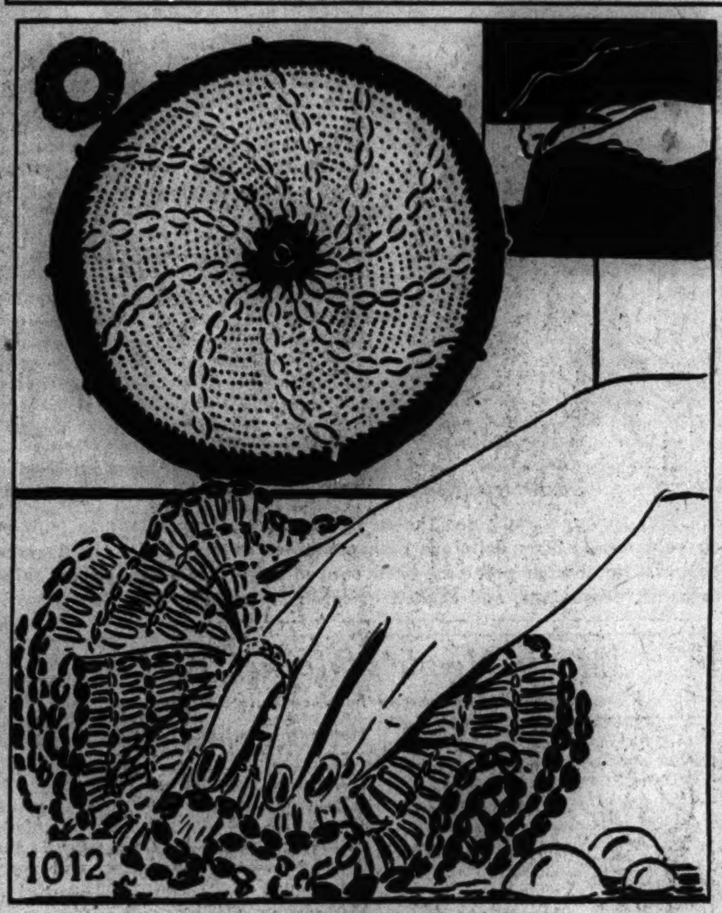
Crocheted Dish Cloth



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

The crocheted flower dish cloth is one of the favorites among housekeepers. It requires little time to crochet, yet it is attractive and durable. Carpet warp is the medium, and candlewick forms an edging which is most desirable for washing dishes. The crocheted potholder is made from the same material, and worked in a spiral design, the spiral being emphasized by a simple popcorn stich.

For instructions in crocheting the potholder and dish cloth, No. 1012, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Patriotism Note.

A lady we know who lives in a small southern city adjacent to an army camp [This is the new order; army camps once were adjacent to the cities.] spoke ruefully and sadly. "I was walking down Main street," she recalled, "when all at once I saw this parade of soldiers coming. We are so used to them now that no one pays any attention any more, and somehow it just made me boil. I said to myself, 'That's patriotism for you! Hundreds of boys marching down the street, and not a soul stops to look or clap!' So I just leaned up against a store front and clapped as hard as I could. I clapped and clapped. Well," and she sighed. "I doubt if I ever clap again. It was a military funeral."

This Is Morale.

He had finished officer's training at Fort Benning, Ga., ten days ago, and was saying that somehow he wondered whether he might not be happier still a private with air borne troops. "But still," he added somewhat dreamily, "I wouldn't give anything for the day at Benning when they crossed the Chattahoochee river. What I saw that day has become almost a part of me. They used every kind of equipment, even paratroopers, with great transport planes flying overhead and dropping both paratroopers and equipment. The paratroopers came down with their white chutes like clouds above them, and then came the equipment, suspended from beautiful scarlet and soft blue chutes. To see them float down and go right into action, to see that river crossed, to see everything dovetail to the split-second . . . it was a magnificent feeling. You found yourself saying, 'This is it. I want to do it that way, too, and by heaven I will.' . . . Every one talks about morale, but that is morale."

Beware! Child Story.

The child, not quite five and a bit precocious, went to the neighborhood grocery to make a few purchases for her mother. She found the only clerk busy with another customer. She endured this for about five minutes and then flounced up, hands on hips, to demand, "Say, mister, are you gonna wait on me or are you gonna let me stand here and forget what I came for?"

Ingenuity.

Upton Close, W-G-N news commentator, tells a tale we frankly do not believe. He says he has a friend, a sufferer from insomnia, who took up the study of Braille so that he can read in bed all night without disturbing his wife with a light.

Purely Metropolitan.

Courtesy.

During what is known as interior guard practice at Camp Robinson, Ark., a week or so ago, a lieutenant approached a private and was halted. When asked to identify himself, he replied, "Gen. Rommel." The private peered at him and said quietly, "Recognized, sir. Pass on."

2 Chicagoans Head Ball at U. of Michigan Tonight

The University of Michigan's largest social event of the fall, the Interfraternity ball tonight, will be headed by John Fauver, president of the Interfraternity council, and Paul Wingate, secretary and treasurer of the council, of Chicago. Proceeds from the formal party, the 10th of its kind, will go to the university's bomber-scholarship fund.

Morgan Park High School Cadet Officers to Hold Ball

The Cadet Officers' club of the Morgan Park High school reserve officers' training corps will hold its 20th annual military ball tonight in the Union League club. Miss Joyce Faragher, a member of the senior class at the school, has been chosen honorary colonel and, with her court, will lead the grand march.

Pearl Harbor Sunday to Be Observed Here

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, executive director of the Illinois state council of defense, has received almost unanimous response on the part of church and synagogue to his call for appropriate observances of Pearl Harbor Sunday. Gov. Dwight H. Green, chairman of the council, has formally designated Monday, the anniversary, as time for civic, veterans', professional, and other organizations to observe the occasion.

"Let us this day, remembering the American boys who have already made the supreme sacrifice, freshen our sense of duty and pledge ourselves anew to redouble our efforts in the great tasks that lie ahead," Gov. Green asked.

The Catholic church thruout the country, in answer to the request of the American hierarchy, has set a three day period of prayer for victory and memorial services beginning Sunday. The period will culminate in masses Tuesday morning, which is the feast of the Immaculate Conception. Solemn mass will be offered Sunday noon at Holy Name cathedral, with many service men present. On Tuesday mothers of men in the service will be special guests of the cathedral at all masses.

Northern convention Baptists thruout the country will commemorate Sunday as a day of sacrifice when special offerings will be received for the Baptist world emergency fund of $600,000. The largest item in the fund will be $160,000 for world relief of war sufferers, and one-fourth of the fund will go to religious work for service men and persons in new war industries' communities.

Methodist students on the various college and university campuses of that church will arise early Monday morning to the call of the chapel bells for devotions recalling the attack on Pearl Harbor. Townsmen also will be invited to attend these services, set to mark the hour when the attack came.

An example of Jewish observance of Pearl Harbor Sunday takes place thruout the whole day at Temple Sholom, 3480 Lake Shore drive. About 125 service men from Navy pier and from units 1 and 2 in the old Stevens and Congress hotels, will be taken to the temple by the Young Married group of the temple for 11 o'clock memorial services. Lieut. Philip Nicholas, senior chaplain from Navy pier, was announced as the preacher, with Rabbi Louis Binstock conducting the service. Following the service, the men will be taken to dinner by their hosts, and then to Lakeview center for recreation. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock at the temple, followed by a dance.

Two hundred and fifty Methodist churches of the nearby Chicago area will memorialize Pearl Harbor at special services Sunday conducted under auspices of youth groups. Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, resident bishop of the Chicago area, has recommended that special Pearl Harbor memorial prayers and for the nation and for world peace be offered in all Methodist churches.

In contrast with the shock and regret occasioned by the attack on Pearl Harbor, the Rev. Steuart D. White of Epworth Methodist church, 5253 Kenmore avenue, announces his sermon subject Sunday morning to be "Good News Today." Three succeeding Sunday morning sermons will emphasize the same theme.

Dr. Lynn Harold Hough to Be Speaker for Sunday Evening Club

Dr. Lynn Harold Hough, former president of Northwestern university, will address the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall Sunday night. His subject will be "Seeing Eye to Eye." During recent months Dr. Hough, who is dean of Drew Theological seminary, Madison, N. J., has been in England, where he talked with American soldiers and preached several times in the famed City temple, London. In 1939 Dr. Hough was "select preacher" at Oxford university and two years later delivered the notable Cato lectures in Australia. His most recent trip to England by plane was made at the request of the British ministry of information. Dr. Rollyn Moseson of Presbyterian Theological seminary will give the Bible talk at the 7 o'clock service.

Chanukah Observances

Festival dinner, Hotel Sherman, Sunday night; Dr. Ludwig Lewisohn, speaker.

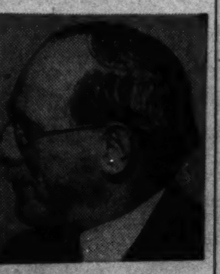
Maccabean festival, Rockefeller Memorial chapel, 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon; Temple Anshe Emet choir; Dr. J. G. Heller, Cincinnati, O., preacher.

Jewish Youth league's festival, Bialik hall, 220 South state street, 7 o'clock Sunday night.

Religious News Notes

A call has been sent from headquarters to all Kiwanis clubs to support the churches to the fullest extent. The call notes that 22 million persons have changed their residences due to the war and urges members of the service clubs to help readjust these persons to church life in their new communities.

Twentieth anniversary services of South Shore temple will open tonight with Dr. Julian Morgenstern of Cincinnati, O., the special preacher. The anniversary observance will close Sunday night with a dinner at the Shoreland hotel. Gov. Dwight H. Green, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, and Dr. James Heller, president of the American Conference of Rabbis, will be the speakers. Dr. George Fox, spiritual leader of the temple, also is celebrating his 20th year as rabbi at the South Shore temple.



Dr. George Fox.

The late Walter R. Mee, former executive secretary of the Chicago Church federation, will be memorialized Sunday morning at Rogers Park Presbyterian church when a bronze illuminated cross will be dedicated to his memory. Mr. Mee was an active ruling elder of the church for many years.

Chicago's "country church in the city," the Granville Avenue Methodist church, Granville and Lakewood avenues, will institute its traditional Christmas vespers Sunday night at 5 o'clock and again at 7:30. The Rev. Benjamin M. Will, pastor, will speak on "When Christmas Comes."

The Presbyterian union of Chicago will hold its annual fall banquet Monday night at the Chicago Real Estate board dining room, 105 West Madison street. The Rev. Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchison, moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, will be the speaker.

A half century of service by the Mennonite Home mission, 1907 South Union avenue, will be observed on Sunday, with the pastor, the Rev. Raymond Mark Yoder, officiating at a dedication service for children and baptism in the morning. Bishop J. D. Hartzler, of Gridley, will participate. In the afternoon the Rev. Amos Hershey Leaman, pastor of the mission from 1897 to 1920, will be the preacher. Like all Mennonite churches, the mission uses no musical instruments, and at communion the biblical rite of foot washing is observed.

Theodore Maynard, poet and author, will speak under auspices of the newly organized St. Leo Women's club, in the auditorium of St. Leo parish building, 79th and Peoria streets, Sunday night.

"The American Way" will be the theme of three addresses this afternoon before the Arché club in the Shoreland hotel, under auspices of the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews. The speakers will be Mrs. George R. Wilson, Thecla Doniat and Mrs. Avis Shulman.

Unity church, 656 Barry avenue, will observe its 85th anniversary next Thursday at a bazar and dinner. The church became famous under the ministry of Dr. Robert Collyer, and was the organizer of Eli Bates settlement which it now rents for social work at a dollar a year. The church was also instrumental in the organization of the Chicago Woman's club, and the present minister, the Rev. John Rushton Heyworth, was the organizer and first president of the Lake View council on religious action.

The Congregational and Christian conference of Illinois, has announced that the Rev. John H. Westbrook has resigned as president of the board of the conference to enter the navy as a chaplain. He has been pastor of the Central Congregational church, Galesburg, for the last five years.

Five missionaries who have recently returned from war areas will speak in five coöperating churches simultaneously for five nights next week beginning Sunday. Thus each church will have a different speaker each night. The churches are Emerald Avenue Baptist, 59th street and Emerald avenue; Elim, 73d street and Greenwood avenue; South Shore, Coles avenue and Cheltenham place, and Roseland Swedish Baptist church, 144 East 111th street.

The Rev. L. A. Buuck, repatriated missionary who was a Japanese prisoner for six months, will speak Monday night at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Menard avenue and Iowa street; on Tuesday at Jehovah Lutheran church, Belden and Ridgeland avenues; on Wednesday night at St. John's Lutheran church, Montrose and Laverne avenues, and Thursday night at St. Stephen's Lutheran church, 65th and Peoria streets.

The First Methodist church of Downers Grove, will observe its 106th anniversary Sunday morning by honoring two of its members, each of whom is more than 90 years old. Mrs. Elizabeth Heartt, who will be 97 next Thursday, is the oldest living member of the Downers Grove community, and a community pioneer. The other is Mrs. Minnie Mikolet, who was 93 last July.

Dr. Oswald W. S. McCall, minister of New First Congregational church, Union square, is slated to be elected president of the Kobe College corporation tonight at the corporation's annual meeting at the Chicago Woman's club. He will succeed the late Dr. Shailer Mathews. Kobe college is in Japan, and while no contacts are now possible, the American group is preserving its organization thruout the war.

After-Symphony Teas on Friday Continuing in Their Popularity

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE war and gasoline rationing may have doomed a number of winter social events, but the Friday afternoon symphony teas which are included on the calendars of many clubs seem destined to continue in their popularity. During the last war the Chicago Symphony's Friday afternoon programs were only dress rehearsals to which the public was admitted. The present Friday series, however, draws as fashionable an audience as its sponsors could hope for, and many of the concertgoers have formed the comfortable habit of dropping in for tea later at private clubs within a short walking distance of Orchestra hall.

The English Speaking union is giving a tea at 4 o'clock today at the Art institute to present a painting from the British fire fighters' collection to the institute. Frank A. Hecht, the union's president, is presenting the picture, and Potter Palmer is accepting the gift in the name of the institute. During the program Frederick Sweet, curator of painting at the institute, will discuss how war is affecting art.

Mrs. Hecht will be hostess at the union's tea next Wednesday when the group gathers in its headquarters to meet T. A. Ramon, London newspaper correspondent in India. Mr. Ramon, a Hindu Brahmin, was educated in Madras, India, and at King's college in London, and in 1931 attended a round table discussion in London with Gandhi.

Arts Club Tea to Mark Opening of Exhibitions.

The Arts club will serve tea from 4 to 6 o'clock today to mark the opening of three exhibitions by Moise Kisling, Franklin C. Watkins, and Jacques Lipchitz. Mr. Kisling had expected to be present at the tea but at the last minute was unable to make the trip to Chicago.

Miss Evelyn Davis, concert master of the Woman's Symphony orchestra, will be the special guest after the symphony today of the Cordon club. Pouring will be Mrs. Keith Preston, Miss Ada Dallas, Miss Margaret Smith, and Miss Bessie Williams Sherman.

The Cliff Dwellers have discontinued their Friday teas, so consequently there won't be a party today to mark the opening of an exhibit of paintings and sculpture by professional members of the club.

Miss Alice Foster will be hostess at the Chicago College club's regular Friday tea this afternoon.

Christmas Seals Making Their Usual Appearance.

The familiar Christmas stickers sent out each year by the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook county are beginning to appear on the envelopes of holiday invitations. Again this year the sale of the gay red, white, and blue seals showing an old-fashioned sleigh being pulled thru the snow is helping the institute to safeguard health on the nation's home front.

Mrs. Francis R. Blossom and Mrs. Henry Faurot Jr. are planning a small dinner party at the Casino for their debutante daughters, Miss Carol Blossom and Miss Alys Faurot, preceding the Gerald M. Butlers' supper-dance Dec. 26 for their daughter Joan.

Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman Jr. have cards out for cocktails at 5:30 o'clock next Tuesday in their State parkway apartment. The party will be a welcome home to Lieut. Freeman, who arrived yesterday after completing an officer's training course. It will be a farewell party, too, for Lieut. Freeman is being sent to Fort Benning, Ga., where Mrs. Freeman will join him from time to time.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Church are entertaining at cocktails on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Church, a landscape architect, has been in Detroit frequently, working on a government housing project.

Joseph Millers Become Parents of a Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Miller [Odessa Schipfer] became the parents of a daughter, their second child, yesterday at the Passavant hospital. The baby has been named Chloe Elizabeth—Elizabeth after Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Lloyd A. Schipfer of Winnetka. Mr. and Mrs. William S. Miller of Winnetka are the paternal grandparents of Chloe and her little brother, Henry G. Miller II.

In a simple ceremony at 3 o'clock today in the Kenilworth Union church Miss Martha Hale will become the bride of Ensign F. Rolland Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pirie Carson of Glencoe. Only members of the two families will be present, and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Vernon Hale of Kenilworth, will give an informal reception later at the Skokie Country club. Ensign Carson's sister, Margaret, will attend the bride, and their brother, Aviation Cadet Samuel P. Carson Jr., is to be best man. Ensign Carson, who received his commission this week at Columbia university, will take his bride on a short wedding trip before reporting for further orders.

Capt. and Mrs. Graham P. Smith are enjoying a 10 day stay in New York before going to Orlando, Fla., to reside. The former Eleanore Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thompson Jr. of Lake Shore drive, and Capt. Smith, who was her devoted escort at Chicago parties for several years before he joined the marine corps, were married on Wednesday in the marine base chapel at Quantico, Va. The bride's father, who gave her in marriage, was the only member of her family present.

White Collar GIRL

Creed of a Copywriter.

Let me remember [if buyers I'd sway]
That readers were not born yesterday.
Let me be friends with my dictionary;
Of doubtful words let me be wary.
Let me abstain from cliches as sin:
"Glamorous gown" and "caressable skin."
Let me remember that "copy writers"

Can't Say Yes, Can't Say No Dept.

"QUESTION," writes Miss D. E. C.: "If a secretary can type a letter in half the time it takes her boss to dictate it, does that make the secretary twice as efficient as the boss?"

"Speaking about the dishonesty of employés in using or 'borrowing' stamps in an office and the difficulty of dealing with the situation, why bother?" asks a secretary. "It would never occur to my employer to say anything about this—he isn't the penny pinching type. I have yet to come across a man who gets angry at this practice. A GOOD employer [man] is rarely bothered by such small items—it's the woman employer who complains about little things."

Country Cousins.

It happened on Thanksgiving day. It was one of those "incidental incidents" which not many persons know about—an inconspicuous, unpretentious act of kindness of a telegraph operator, once a small town girl herself. She — Esther Kjell is her name — reported at work at 8 a. m. Thanksgiving morning and was unexpectedly excused for the rest of the day about 11 a. m. At the La Salle street station, where, homeward bound, she went to take a suburban train, she fell into conversation with a couple of forlorn looking girls from a small town in Indiana. They had missed their train by a few minutes and tho they would love to see something of Chicago, they had never been to the city before and admitted they were too fearful of getting lost to venture forth.

So, the friendly white collar took the young strangers under her wing. On the L and the bus to the Field museum; over to State street [where they window shopped to their heart's content], down La Salle street, past the large buildings, back to the station she took them in time to put them on a streamliner . . . then the white collar girl went home to her warmed over turkey.

Add Feminine First.

"For the first time in the history of chess the three leading women players at chess in Chicago, Mrs. Nils Paulson, Mrs. Russell Williams, and Mrs. Dan Wigren, will play simultaneous chess against service men at the Auditorium Service center next Sunday from 3 to 6," writes Bruno A. Czaikowski.

Skirt and Blouse Combinations Are Still Good Fashion Tricks

BY REA SEEGER.

It's still a good fashion trick to mix and match colors; smarter than ever to change your entire wardrobe with separate skirts and blouses. A clever mixer can accomplish wonders with either the short or long skirts that are sold separately. There are wide, full gathered skirts of dull textured jersey, gathered skirts of velveteen and some gored models also of the same materials. Bright red, lots of black, a few navy blues, and whites and some stunning beige tones offer a good foundation with which to do the top contrast trick of silk, knitted yarn, wool, or metallic blouses or jackets.

Very distinctive dinner costumes can be evolved with such skirts and you can top them with long sleeved evening sweaters liberally studded with simulated jewels or aglitter with sequins. You can choose one of the cozily snug padded and quilted jackets with long sleeves made of crêpe, satin, or velvet, or you may wear the delicate foamy beauty of airy net lace or combinations of both and look like a picture.

If the blouses don't click try any of the numerous jacket blouses, the kind to be worn outside the band of the skirt with a peplum effect well down over the hipline. These jacket blouses are available in a well nigh bewildering assortment of colors and materials, very dress parade or simple tailored effects.

The short daytime skirts are, of course, more plentiful, than the floor length models. You'll like the dirndl effect, rather restrained in area but still artfully gathered at the sides. Bows at the side keep them in position and there are three buttons down the placket at the back. Black velvet, a heavy ribbed material and some dull crêpes and a fabric like broadcloth come in dark daytime shades, [black, blue, and brown]. The color is provided with the blouse of jacket tops and there isn't any ceiling to the colors or combinations. The brighter the better.

Cellist Kurtz and Mr. Lange Share Honors

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange, conductor; Edmund Kurtz, violoncellist. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Dec. 3, 1942. The program:
Passacaglia from "Noblissimi Visione" .... Hindemith
Concerto for Violoncello, B minor.. .... Dvorák
Variations Symphoniques, "Istar".. .... d'Indy
"Iberia," three sketches.... Albéniz-Arbós
Evocación, Fête-Dieu A Seville, Triana

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The warm, spicily fragrant Dvorák concerto, beautifully played by Edmund Kurtz and the Chicago Symphony orchestra, was the only really familiar music on Hans Lange's diverting program at Orchestra hall last night. The passacaglia from Hindemith's "Noblissima Visione," better known to the balletomane as "Saint Francis," was new in the subscription répertoire, as were two of the three sketches from "Iberia," while the "Istar" variations had not cropped up at a downtown concert in five seasons. The combination made zero weather seem unimportant.

Mr. Kurtz's success reminded me of that scored last season by John Weicher and Milton Preves in the Mozart Symphonie Concertante for violin and viola. That is, all three men occupy first chairs in the orchestra, and all three won the kind of triumph usually reserved for the festive visitor. Mr. Kurtz's playing had focus and coördination and pungency of tone, and it was at once a part of and a solo pattern with the orchestra.

Mr. Lange found it tough going with the Hindemith—or, rather, with an audience which so far remains indifferent to the strong linear surge of Hindemith's music. Yet he gave an extremely interesting performance of the passacaglia from the noble score written for the noblest of contemporary ballets, and the performance was worthwhile, tho the applause it evoked barely served to get him safely offstage.

Far more to the audience's taste were the concerto, the disrobing variations of the daughter of sin, one Istar, and Arbós' brilliant arrangement of three of the 12 piano pieces that make up Albéniz's spectacular "Iberia."

Vincent d'Indy's symphonic variations, the cabalistic seven in number, do not state their theme until the seventh, or culminating variation, when Istar stands revealed in an extraordinary purity of orchestral sound. The score as a whole is a discreetly bejeweled work, a far cry from the seven stages of Strauss' "Salomé," which removed seven veils, while Istar was denuded of six sequences of jewels and one veil.

The Albéniz trio seems destined to be one of those infallible afterpieces dear to the heart of an audience that likes to go home happy. "Evocación" is a little fandango, flashing in the sun of orchestral approval. "Fête-Dieu à Séville" is a feast day processional heard from afar and at hand, pierced by the "saeta," or arrow of sound that is the celebrants' lament. "Triana" is the gypsy aftermath, glittering as the flamenco.

Arbós' orchestration is magnificent. He has retained the flair of the originals by refusing to weigh them down with instrumentation. He has handled the orchestra lightly, yet richly, so that it seems to swing in the air of improvisation. Mr. Lange respected that treatment, and the result was an unqualified triumph.

Play Will Open Tonight at Boys' Latin School.

Music, lights, and curtain at 8:30 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night at the Boys' Latin school will find the gymnasium filled with doting parents and friends who will witness a production, given jointly with students at the Girls' Latin, of "The Royal Family." Miss Emily Goehst, the Service club's favorite comedian and director, has been in charge of the production.

The young people in the leading rôles are Philip Oxman, Graziella Polacco, Dorothy Conover, Richard Hammerman, and Harrison Ray Anderson Jr. Those in supporting rôles are June Edelstone, William Keirnan, Peggy Hill, James O. Wood Jr., Martha Ashby, Howard Carroll, Tracy Alden, Willard Thompson, William F. Petersen Jr., Edwin Dato, and Jane McKenna.

The north shore young people who gather twice a month in the Winnetka postoffice for old fashioned Virginia reels and barn dancing will be swinging their partners again tonight. Miss Margaret Bell and Miss Marjorie Kelly are in charge of the seris, which was started several years ago. Before tonight's gathering there will be several informal dinners, including one given by Miss Jane Cheney.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations has reserved the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House for a luncheon address at 12:30 o'clock on Wednesday by Miss Charlotte Whitton, consultant to the Canadian war time prices and trade board and one of Canada's most distinguished citizens. The visitor will speak on "Canada in the Fourth Year of War." Miss Whitton organized the Canadian welfare council and served in the ministry of trade and commerce.

The Woman's Athletic club is substituting another speaker for Harold Kennedy, who originally was to have given next Tuesday's program, since Mr. Kennedy will be unable to appear because of illness. In his place the club will hear Miss Dorothy Day's talk on "Intimate Glimpses of Famous People of the Theater." Following the 11:30 o'clock talk by the actress, dramatic critic, and playwright, luncheon will be served.

The Stage

By Cecil Smith

The draft is beckoning to Federico Rey, known to his New York draft board by his real name of Freddy Wittop. After Sunday night's performance of "Priorities of 1942" he will abandon his career as Argentinita's dance partner in order to return to New York, where he will receive his final army physical examination on Wednesday. Argentinita herself, and her sister Pilar Lopez, will likewise leave the variety show at the Erlanger after Sunday's three performances. Since she is deprived of her partner of the last three seasons, the great Spanish dancer is eager to seize an opportunity for three weeks' rest and rehearsal before embarking on a concert tour that starts immediately after Christmas.

If the army finds Mr. Wittop hale and hearty—and he confesses he would be chagrined if it did not—he will interrupt not one career, but two. Since his boyhood days he has managed to combine two professions and to excel in both. He is a gifted and successful costume designer as well as a top grade Spanish dancer.

It is remarkable that one of Dutch lineage should succumb to the fascinations of Spanish dancing, and even more remarkable that he should succeed so eminently in it. There is nothing second hand about Mr. Wittop's Iberian movement and choreography, for he studied entirely in Spain and was enthusiastically accepted by audiences there before venturing to perform in other European countries.

When he first appeared in Holland, the country of his birth, he was criticized because he added touches of his own to what the critics thought traditional Spanish dancing ought to be. This objection, he maintains, was beside the point. "Why shouldn't I add ideas of my own," he asks, "since that is what all the native born Spanish dancers have always done? It is only by the addition of new personal elements that Spanish dancing, like any other kind of dancing, is kept from stagnating."

Argentinita first saw him dance in Paris and admired his authentic style, his flair in front of an audience, and his virtuoso technique. When she needed a new partner, she thought of him at once and asked him to join her troupe in 1940.

But now, in all probability, military drill will replace turns and clicking heels, and the designer's studio in which he has created costumes for such shows as "Beat the Band" and "Ice-Capades" will be padlocked for the duration of the war. His attitude toward this change in his life is the attitude of any patriotic American, for he says, "I should much rather go to war than not go."

U. of Chicago Scientist Wins Merit Award

Dr. Russell H. Morgan of the University of Chicago yesterday received the first award of merit for scientific work in radiology, given annually by the Radiological Society of North America, which is holding its 28th annual convention in the Drake hotel.

Dr. Morgan was honored for perfecting an automatic exposure meter for X-ray examination, providing for the first time an exact timing device and eliminating "guesswork" exposure for patients of varying stature as has been the custom in the past.

Second awards of merit went to Capt. Ernest P. Griffith Jr., Capt. Caesare Gianturco, and Maj. Solomon Goldberg, all of the army medical corps and stationed at New Orleans, La., for perfecting a new and simpler method of localizing shrapnel and other foreign bodies in the eyeball.

Dr. A. L. Bell of Brooklyn, N. Y., received the third award for his work in the study of 32 compressed air chamber workers in which he found by X-ray examination that such work caused destruction of bone cells. Dr. Bell's work was carried on in coöperation with the New York state department of labor and is expected to have an important bearing on future workman's compensation decisions in the cases of caisson workers.

Dr. Bell said the bone changes occurred in a large percentage of workers who never had the "bends," a disease attended with various paralytic and apoplectic symptoms found among caisson workers after they return to ordinary atmosphere after working under high atmospheric pressure. He said that the "accumulation of nitrogen in the small blood vessels of the bones causes the bone structure to break down among men working in compressed air chambers."

The awards were announced at the annual banquet yesterday evening at which Dr. Robert S. Stone of San Francisco, Cal., took over the president's gavel from Dr. Leon J. Melville of New Orleans, La. Earlier in the day Dr. E. R. Witwer of Detroit, Mich., was elected president, to take office next year.

Elected with Dr. Witwer were Dr. Bell as first vice president, Dr. Davis Spangler of Dallas., Tex., as second vice president, and Dr. Robert A. Arens of Chicago as third vice president. Dr. Donald S. Childs of Syracuse, N. Y., was reëlected secretary-treasurer. Dr. James C. Clark of Atlanta, Ga., was elected to the board of directors and Dr. Lewis G. Allen of Kansas City, Kas., was named new chairman of the board.

As a gesture of international good will, honorary fellowships were conferred upon Dr. David L. Caro of Cordoba, Argentina, and Dr. Leonardo Guzman of Santiago, Chile, who attended the convention.

West opened his fourth highest spade and East's queen was taken by the ace. Declarer immediately attacked the heart suit, carefully attempting to conceal the jack by leading the seven-spot to the queen. East, seeing no good reason for holding off, accepted his king, and returned the seven of spades, declarer following with the four. At this point West found himself with a difficult decision. He could not tell whether or not East had another heart stopper, the concealed heart jack might be in his hand instead of the declarer's.

Nor could West know about the club situation; it was possible that East had that suit stopped also. West himself had a diamond stopper and hence had some slight ground for hoping that the contract could be defeated. Obviously, if that were so, the best play was to duck the second spade and wait for another lead from East to trap declarer's marked jack and run the suit. This, of course, would have been the correct policy at rubber bridge. The fact that West's spade king might "go to sleep" would not be a pertinent factor.

At duplicate, however, West realized that he might be making a fatal error by passing this present spade trick. The bidding indicated that South had a strong club holding. If he also had the heart jack, he probably would be able to run off the rest of the tricks.

After careful consideration of South's strong bidding and the cards in sight, West concluded that any hope of defeating the contract was too far fetched. He, therefore, took his spade king and returned a spade. Obviously, declarer had the rest of the tricks and, indeed, would have been able to shut out the spade king if West had held it up.

At rubber bridge West's acceptance of his spade king would be a virtual "give up" play, hence indefensible. At duplicate it was shrewd and sound.

Good Morning!

[Car-sin City, really—but the "car" part wore faint on the signpost—and so they just called it "Sin."]

This is a story of the southwest oil country in the days when William Howard Taft was President and bands played "Over the Waves" waltz.

It's a rough and tumble, earthy, entertaining number, featuring three of the screen's prize he-men [Messrs. Bond, Crawford, and Knowles], with Leo Carrillo and Andy Devine tossed in as comedy relief and the decor provided by Constance Bennett—who never looked sweeter!—and snappy Anne Gwynne. . . . Supporting players are heap fine medicine, said she in Choctaw, and the director was sure on his toes the morning this movie was made.

The whang bang yarn is about a tough but genial con man [Brod Crawford] who, with his adoring moll [Miss Bennett], does a lot of living and gets a lot of learning from his sojourn in Sin City. . . . Their brief sojourn there is crowded to the brim with turbulent happenings in which Ward Bond, as town boss and saloon owner; the local newspaper editor [Anne Gwynne], and her fiancé [Patric Knowles], a noble young westerner, figure violently.

The picture has a couple of near lynchings and a fight that makes the one in "The Spoilers" look like patty cake. . . . It also has some right hearty laughs.

I LIKED it, Daddy!

FASHIONS
By ANGELA

Christmas will be merrier and the New Year happier if you have a new party dress to take you to all the holiday dinners and dances. These are dainty and feminine frocks without being too fussy or too decolleté for wartime wear. Glamorize yourself and a glamorous evening is assured.

Lustrous satin, shirred and shimmering, will make you bright as a star. The bodice is a closely fitted basque type. Then there is a full gathered overskirt of chiffon of the same gold, white, aqua, pink or blue to match the satin. Sleeves are bracelet length.

Your pencil slimness will be gracefully dramatized by the long slender dress sketched second. The effect of the heavy ruching is that of a dropped shoulder. Flesh colored net does a cover-up at the shoulders and across the back. Notice the long waistline and the gentle fullness of the skirt, which falls in deep folds to the floor. The long sleeves are fitted to the wrist. Under $15.

Quaint is the word for the white lace and black net. A crisp ruching of black net joins the bouffant skirt to the hip length bodice. And three rows of the same ruching stiffen the puffed sleeves to an exaggerated breadth.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 3.—Orson Welles has just about decided to play Rochester in "Jane Eyre," and he's got himself all set for transportation, too—a high stepper and a buggy. The horse was delivered today from Sacramento. It's a beauty. Wouldn't you know Orson would be the first to copy grandfather? That's how he got about in South America. They have a gasoline shortage there, too. He says he can pass most of us crawling along in our cars. . . . Incidentally, he's writing a picture in Spanish for Dolores Del Rio, which she'll produce in Mexico City, with a Mexican setup. . . . Orson, who put "oomph" in entertainment, has practically eliminated himself from it because, whether you realize it or not, both his radio shows are propaganda, dressed and refurbished to sound entertaining. He's doing a swell job. But, gosh, you can no more keep him out of his regular racket than you could a bee from making honey. I do think it's a dirty trick that RKO won't even let him see the stuff he shot in South America—especially the film he took in the jungle with the assistance of only a cameraman. They lived seven weeks with the native fishermen. Slept in hammocks. That film hasn't even been developed. Yet the studio advertises this year's product with the line "showmanship instead of genius." Well, both "Citizen Kane" and "The Magnificent Ambersons" made money.

Won't Tell.

Judy Canova's sporting a nine-carat diamond, admits she's engaged, but won't tell his name. He's in the east. She doesn't want to break the news until he comes here, so she can introduce him personally. . . . One falls out; another comes in. MacDonald Carey joined the marines. Won't act in "Lady in the Dark." Same day, Marjorie Rambeau signed up for the mighty important part of Maggie. . . . Lieut. Alfred Wright, back on leave after four months' flying on Guadalcanal, looked startled when I asked him what his funniest experience was, and then I knew he had precious few. He told me this: When there was no more reading mattter he picked up some one's discarded copy of the philosophy of Freud. As he started reading a voice from above said, "I don't think that will do you much good here." It was his commanding officer speaking.

Sure, We'll Kiss It.

Before he left for the marines Lieut. Jack Andrews of Twentieth Century finished a story called "Blarney Stone," about American troops in Ireland. In it Maureen O'Hara will sing and dance. . . . Maureen was just given a Great Dane puppy. Will give up her meat for it. . . . Rosemary Lane, on the "Hit Parade" set, heard two extra girls chatting. One said to the other, "Gee, I met the swellest man. He's homely, but he's got a C card." . . . George Raft is talking to Boris Morros and S. P. Eagle about their "Grand Street Boys." Betty Grable is still pretty unhappy about that mustache George is sporting.

Maureen O'Hara.

Yes and No.

Mark Hellinger and Alan Hale were looking at a sequence in "Thank Your Lucky Stars" where a bunch of 16 year old girls and Ann Sheridan were cavorting in their nighties. Mark turned to Alan and said, "Gee, wouldn't it be great to be young again!" "What! And go thru all that agony? I'm too old to think about it," said Alan, and walked out. . . . Eddie Cantor, all done up as a Hollywood Indian, was prancing thru a scene in the same picture. I couldn't resist saying, "Isn't this the silliest business?" "Sure is," croaked Cantor. "You know, sometimes I'm sorry I ever left Gus Edwards." . . . Helen Broderick, who can turn out a sweater in two days, has been working three days on the back of one for her son, Brod. "Broad is what he is," says Helen, "but I'm aiming to finish it by Christmas."

Well, Why Not?

In a note from Hawaii, where my column appears in the Honolulu Advertiser, a lady suggests we make a religious picture and title it "Mizpah"—meaning "The Lord watch between me and thee while we're absent one from another." She's Mrs. Arthur Farnsworth. Says, "Bette Davis has my name, but I've had it for 27 years. No. We're not related." . . . The tragedy of the week to us was the death of Buck Jones in the Coconut Grove fire in Boston. . . . Monogram is signing Rex Bell to take over chores left vacant by the passing of Buck Jones.

Wouldn't You Know?

Rosalind Russell is a walking advertisment for matrimony. In talking with her secretary, Louise Metzler, Rosalind crooned, "You ought to get married." "I am," was the reply. "But I've been afraid to tell you." Rosalind laughed so hard she almost choked. . . . Our gasoline rationing may have hit the theaters, but it sure packed the Players. Dining there last night were Claudette Colbert, her husband and party; Arthur Hornblow, with some navy men; the John Waynes, the Ray Millands, "Butch" Romero, Phyllis Brooks, with Lieut. Al Wright and Curly Harris from United Artists; George Givot, who will be an army chaplain in six months; Orson Welles, Jack Moss, and scads of others. . . . Roy Rogers' fan mail has tripled since his eastern jaunt. Wonderful what horses will do for you.

SECOND PERIOD.

Scoring—None.

Penalty—Patrick.

THIRD PERIOD.

Scoring—D. Bentley [Tuten-M. Bentley], 13:37.

Penalty—Watson.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks, beaten only thrice this season, had fretted like everything because two of these defeats had been plastered on them by the New York Rangers. Last night in the Chicago Stadium their disgust became so emphatic that they rose right up, whipped the Rangers, 3 to 1, and went back into a tie for first place in the National Hockey league with the Detroit Red Wings.

By holding the Rangers to one goal while the Montreal Canadiens were scooting four goals past Turk Broda of the Toronto Maple Leafs, Bert Gardiner, Hawk goalie, became the league's leading candidate for the Vezina trophy. Gardiner has yielded only 36 goals.

Cully Is No Invalid.

Two of the Hawk goals, the two that were enough to win, were made in a 12 second span in the first period. Cully Dahlstrom, fresh out of the sick bay, made the first one, Fido Purpur the second. Doug Bentley got the third counter in the third period.

The Hawks showed more luck than skill in the first half of the opening period, but somehow held the Rangers scoreless until Grant Warwick bounced a goal over Goalie Gardiner's sprawled torso in 12:55. Tho Bob Carse was in the penalty box, giving the Hawks the privilege of icing the puck the length of the rink, the boys elected to putter around in their own defense zone until it was stolen from them by Alf Pike. Pike and Warwick moved in on Gardiner and after Bert got stretched out on the ice, thru no fault of his own, Warwick bounced the puck over him for as gentle a goal as any one ever beheld.

Hawks Get Angry.

The Chicagoans were aroused and promptly went to work.

In the Rangers' first bid to tie the score, Vic Myles all but tackled Doug Bentley. Vic was put off for two minutes with his team ahead 1 to 0. While he was locked up the Hawks scored twice. Earl Seibert took the disc out of his own defense zone to neutral ice, whereupon Dahlstrom grabbed it in the middle of the rink and skated forward for a hard, unhampered shot past Goalie Jimmy Franks. The time was 14:44 of the first period.

A few seconds later George Allen picked up the puck on the end boards and passed to Dahlstrom. Cully circled around the back of the cage then shoved out to Purpur. Fido scored on a lightning poke. Dahlstrom and Allen won assists, and the time was 14:56.

Losers Drop Into Cellar.

Both teams skated hard but with great futility from the Hawk splurge in the first period until 13:37 of the third period. Then, Doug Bentley scored on a hard, perfectly aimed shot past three defenders who were seeking to render aid to Goalie Franks, and Tuten and Max Bentley drew assists.

Only 6,730 customers braved the cold wave to attend the game but some who couldn't make it said they are saving gas for a trip to the Stadium Sunday night, when Chicago will play the only team besides the Rangers which has beaten them—the Montreal Canadiens, who moved out of the cellar last night to let the Rangers fall in.

HARTNETT SIGNS AS JERSEY CITY PLAYER-LEADER

White Sox Acquire Three Minor Leaguers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The big league magnates, who came to town several days ago for the express purpose of ironing out baseball's wartime problems, dispersed yesterday but most of the troubles were still with them.

Gabby Hartnett.

They concluded their formal sessions with the annual joint meeting before Commissioner K. M. Landis in the Ambassador West hotel, but even this proved to be routine except for a visit by a CIO committee which requested, and was refused, a chance to argue the cause of the Negro ball-player.

With the joint meeting out of the way, many of the big leaguers packed their bags and went home, all agreeing that it was about the dullest baseball show ever staged.

Gabby Hartnett, baseball perennial, landed the job of managing the Jersey City [International league] team yesterday just before the magnates began backing out of the spotlight to let the minor leaguers have a few innings. Announcement that Gabby had signed a two year contract as successor of Pancho Snyder was made by Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, the parent club of Jersey City. Hartnett, who came to the Cubs in 1922 to remain thru 1940, spent 1941 with the Giants and last season acted as playing manager at Indianapolis.

Sox Buy Three Players.

Gabby will be on Jersey City's active list.

The White Sox stepped into the picture at the last minute yesterday to prevent the convention from going into the record as a total flop so far as trades were concerned. The South Siders closed with the San Diego club for the services of Outfielder Melvin Mazzera and with the Shreveport Texas league club for two right handed pitchers, Floyd Spears and Gordon Malzberger. All are family men with children. Mazzera, once with the Browns and Phils, hit .305 last season. Spears, who is 26, won 16 and lost 10 for Shreveport, and Malzberger, age 29, had a final rating of 16 against 12.

Acquisition of Mazzera was due to the scarcity of flychasers and it was rumored that Jim Dykes, the Sox boss, hadn't given up hope of acquiring another—this one a proven big leaguer. Dykes continued to flutter around Lou Boudreau, the boss of the Indians. Dykes wants Roy Weatherly for center field, probably in exchange for a White Sox pitcher.

Travel Muddle Unsolved.

The most immediate of all the magnates' problems—the one caused by the government's request to curtail travel next season and during the training trips as well—was hardly touched on in the last assemblage of the owners. It is giving them concern, but no group action could be taken because each club's problem is different, at least for a training trip.

Practically all owners agreed there would be marked trimming of spring exhibition games, many of which have already been booked. With exhibitions drastically eliminated, the majority of the clubs, most of whom were tentatively set on March 1 as getaway day, may delay their camp departures to as late as March 10. Some may play only two or three games on the way from camp to wherever they are booked to open the season April 13. In the meantime, the two league presidents will continue to probe the schedule with the idea of further reducing train miles during the regular season.

BY ARCH WARD.

JIM DANIELL, tackle on the Great Lakes football team, says the reason for the success of the Bluejackets the last five weeks is the competition that has developed within the squad. . . . Lieut. Tony Hinkle, who has turned in an excellent job as coach, has two lineups of almost equal strength. . . . One unit tries to score more points against an opponent than the other. . . . As a consequence, there is as much rivalry between the two groups as there is between the squad as a whole and its opponent. . . . Daniell says every man on the Great Lakes roster is certain they will give Notre Dame its worst drubbing of the season in Saturday's game at Soldiers' field. . . . However, another great football team from the same naval post—the Great Lakes eleven of 1918—thought it would be able to overwhelm a Notre Dame team that was by no means as strong as Frank Leahy's 1942 squad. . . . The best they could get was a 7 to 7 score. . . . Troy Bellini, 1934 Golden Gloves bantamweight champion, has returned from Africa where he was a member of Uncle Sam's invasion force. . . . "There was plenty of fireworks," Bellini writes, "and I hope I get back there in a few weeks." . . . Jack Wink, Wisconsin's sophomore quarter back who directed the Badgers thru one of their most successful seasons, is reported headed for the marines in February. . . . Fred Wolcott, high hurdle record holder, and Bill Cummings of Rice, national A. A. U. and national intercollegiate champion, will renew their rivalry in the Sugar bowl meet. . . . This is the night that supporters of Northwestern will honor the greatest football team that ever lost nine games in one season.

Since Branch Rickey moved to Brooklyn the New Orleans club has ended its working agreement with the Cardinals. . . . It probably will tie up with the Dodgers. . . . Johnny Strzykalski, Marquette's sophomore half back, was widely publicized this fall as a runner, passer, and punter, but movies of the Hilltoppers' games proved he also stood out as a blocker. . . . It now turns out that the Cubs' "10 days of preliminary spring training in Phoenix" will be in a "suburb of Phoenix," said "suburb" being 16 miles across desert and mountains in Mesa, Ariz. . . . De Paul will appear on Chicago Stadium's double header basketball program 10 times this winter. . . . Maury Maverick, director of the governmental division of the War Production board, who recently complained that too many thousands were watching too few compete in American athletics, probably hadn't heard about the finish of the Southern California-Notre Dame football game in Los Angeles last Saturday. . . . According to press dispatches, there were some 5,000 spectators who came onto the field to do a little exercising. . . . The day before Barney Ross joined the marines he called this department to say good-by. . . . "I have one great ambition," he said. "I want to be the first Golden Gloves champion to reach a battle front." . . . He is reported to be recuperating in a hospital from minor wounds incurred in action at Guadalcanal where he is credited with killing 10 Japs in a single day.

Newspaper Men Rank the Sailors Over Seahawks.

Coach Leahy Ill

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Dec. 3 [Special].—Coach Frank Leahy delegated Ed McKeever, back field coach, to conduct Notre Dame's indoor drill this afternoon for the Great Lakes game when he was confined to his home by illness. Leahy suffered a mild recurrence of the spinal arthritis which forced him to leave the team for three weeks in October. Leahy expects to be on the Notre Dame bench Saturday afternoon.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Great Lakes Bluejackets, recently accorded the honor of being the best football eleven produced in the armed service in a national poll of newspaper men, have that title to defend tomorrow afternoon when they meet Notre Dame in Soldiers' field.

That the Great Lakes team was placed above the preflight football squads probably is highly satisfactory to the players and coaches of the station, but it scarcely can affect the result of tomorrow's contest unless it produces unwarranted confidence in their abilities. Notre Dame, as its record indicates, will need a lot of attention before the Irish yield, for Notre Dame has its own national rank to consider.

Great Lakes Loses Three.

It is difficult to understand exactly how Great Lakes can be ranked over the Iowa Seahawks until returns are in tomorrow. It is true, of course, that the Seahawks took a thoro trouncing last Saturday from the Ohio State Buckeyes, champions of the Western conference, and that they were beaten earlier by Notre Dame, but Great Lakes was whipped by Michigan, Wisconsin, and Michigan State.

It seems to us that this Great Lakes-Notre Dame game actually will determine in the public mind the comparative abilities of the Iowa Seahawks and the Bluejacket eleven. Few will challenge the sailors' ranking as the No. 1 service team if they defeat Notre Dame.

Great Lakes' splendid record in the last six games—in which no opponent has scored on the Bluejackets—actually is made to order for Notre Dame as the Irish close their own accounts. By defeating Great Lakes the Irish can finish with eight victories, a tie with Wisconsin, and defeats by Georgia Tech and Michigan.

Meet Four Mutual Foes.

Great Lakes and Notre Dame have met four mutual opponents, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Northwestern. The Badgers defeated Great Lakes after their 7 to 7 tie with Notre Dame. Each of tomorrow's rivals lost to Michigan and each defeated Illinois by one touchdown. Great Lakes compiled its record score of the season, 48 to 0, against Northwestern the week after the Wildcats had lost a gruelling battle to the Irish, 27 to 20.

Great Lakes will be considerably strengthened in the center of the line by the return of Basil Petry, former Purdue star, and Bob Nelson, one of the finest centers ever developed at Baylor university. George Vogler of Oklahoma A. and M. carried on while the others were injured.

Expect More than 40,000.

The kickoff tomorrow afternoon is scheduled for 2 o'clock. Great Lakes' authorities are anticipating a crowd in excess of 40,000 and they have announced that all press facilities in Soldiers' field will be required to accommodate newspaper representatives.

With warmer weather expected than has prevailed in the last few days the crowd may far surpass the 40,000 mark.

Tickets are on sale at the Hub, State street and Jackson boulevard. They are priced at $4.40, $3.30, $2.20, and $1.10.

It's All-Star Bowling Time

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Auditorium theater, a hale landmark of our town these 53 years, has been the scene of many backstage doings in its time. Most of those preceded the entrances of such names as Duse, Caruso, Bernhardt, Chaliapin, Patti, and Cohan. Yesterday the old routine rolled again, this time to set the stage for the advent of Ned Day and Johnny Crimmins and their associates in the second National All-Star Bowling tournament.

Probably more important than the show itself, however, is the fact that the props set up yesterday will endure beyond the conclusion of the tournament itself. They will provide recreation, these twelve handsomely equipped alleys, for the armed forces quartered here, for the soldiers, sailors, and marines who visit the fourth Chicago Service Men's center.

Proprietors Aid Cause.

The permanence of the properties is due to the contribution of the members of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago. Each member has been assessed $10 per alley for each one in his own establishment. Thru these donations the service men who bowl on the alleys in the Auditorium will take their exercise free of charge. The various owners of the association will take turns serving as guest managers of the elegant plant in the theater.

The famed Auditorium acoustics will be tested by the crashing of pins for the first time this afternoon, when the competing artists in the All-Star tournament will open a sweepstakes event designed to break in the lanes. The evening show, beginning at 7 p. m., will see 12 Chicago women's teams opening their share of the sweepstakes program, after which the All-Stars will resume their portion of it.

Building Is Transformed.

Thirty men—electricians, carpenters, painters, and scene shifters—have spent the better part of the last month in the transformation of the old showplace into one of the most unusual bowling setups in the history of the game. Chief changes were the removal of the orchestra pit and the 15 rows of seats fronting it.

C. O. [Chuck] Collier, the Brunswick-Balke executive who has supervised the installation of numerous ABC alleys, yesterday issued a number of figures on the material involved in the Auditorium plan. These included 18,000 linear feet of maple and approximately 23,000 feet of pine for the actual bowling space. This does not include another 10,000 linear feet of maple involved in the approaches to the alleys. The stage opening of the Auditorium measures 75 feet, with forty feet of bowling area inside of that space. The 60 foot alleys, measured from the foul line to the center of the head pin, form only a part of the 83 feet which run from the steps leading to the start to the pin pits. And speaking of pins, 128 sets of them will be available for the tournament.

[SWEEPSTAKES ENTRIES ON PAGE 35.]

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

This is the day Chicago, the nation's tenpin center, welcomes the year's outstanding bowling event, the second annual All-Star tournament for the individual match game championship. The actual title competition will start in the Auditorium theater tomorrow, but the 100 All-Stars, who are representative of every section of the country in which the game of American tenpins is played, will familiarize themselves with the 12 new lanes in the historic theater by way of a four game sweepstakes this afternoon and tonight.

And to add color, as well as representative competition to the program, the 12 teams carrying the highest averages in the Congress Women's Classic league will bowl a three game sweepstakes of their own tonight.

Women Stars Start at 7.

Women's teams to be seen tonight all will be on a single squad, starting play at 7 o'clock. Johnny Crimmins of Detroit, challenger for the match game title, is to bowl on a squad just ahead of the women, and Champion Ned Day on a squad taking over the alleys at 10 p. m.

The women's teams competing are as follows:

Goranson's 20 Alleys, Logan Square Buicks, Budweisers, Marigold Arcade, Mario's Restaurant, Bee-Vac, Durkee's Margarine, Bowling Moderne, Gus' Restaurant, Playdium, Congress Recreation, and Acme Furnace.

The bowlers shooting in the All-Star event are to report at the Medinah club at 10:30 this morning to receive their paraphernalia and instructions. Those who have not entered also will be given an opportunity to get into the sweep.

Day Ready to Defend Title.

Day was back in Chicago last night, ready for the sweep and the 90 game test with Crimmins, which is to start with 15 games tomorrow and continue on that schedule thru the six days of All-Star preliminaries. Crimmins also was here, and worked out last night on the Marigold alleys. All-Stars from both coasts joined the contingent.

Yesterday's demand for tickets was such that few reserved seats remained for tomorrow night's program, during which opening ceremonies are to take place. Actual opening of the All-Star competition is scheduled for 11 a. m., when squad No. 1 of ten 10-man groups goes on the alleys.

Big Battle Starts at 11.

Squads are to go on during each of the first six days at 11 a. m., 12:15, 1:30, 2:45, and 4 p. m., these five squads constituting the afternoon program. Day and Crimmins will roll five games with the 2:45 squad. The evening program, starting at 6 p. m., will see squads follow at 7:15, 8:30, 9:45, and 11 o'clock. Day and Crimmins will start their evening five game blocks at 7:15 and 9:45.

The Auditorium theater box office is to open at 10 a. m. today for the sale of tickets for all of the 20 programs making up the show and will be open at that same hour every other day during the tournament.

The program, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and Bowling Proprietors' Association of America, will be for the benefit of the bowling center in which it is to be held. The bowling equipment is to be turned over to the service center as soon as the meet ends.

BOX OFFICE OPEN!

The sweepstakes introducing the All-Star Bowling tournament go on today and the tournament itself opens tomorrow for a nine-day run in the Auditorium Theater. It is bowling's biggest show of the year, its most colorful of all time. Ned Day, Johnny Crimmins and 100 All-Stars from 42 cities in 16 states will shoot, keeping 12 lanes busy from 11 a. m. to midnight. And starting at 10 a. m. today, tickets for every one of the show's 20 sessions will be available at the Auditorium Theater box office. Get your reserved seats now. They're going fast. Prices:

RETRIEVER FIELD TRIAL OPENS AT MADISON TODAY

3 Day Meet to Determine National Champion.

BY BOB BECKER.

With 18 of the country's foremost retriever dogs ready to compete, the first national retriever field trials ever held in the middle west will open this morning near Madison, Wis., and continue thru Sunday. Ben Boalt, chairman of the field trial committee, said yesterday that the trial grounds [less than three miles from Madison along the Yahara river] had been pronounced ideal by the professional handlers who have come from eastern and midwestern cities to run their dogs in the trial.

For three days the 18 Labrador, golden, and Chesapeake bay retrievers, every one of which has placed in a licensed field trial held this year, will be tested both in retrieving on land and in the water. By Sunday night the judges will be ready to pick the winner which becomes the national retriever champion of 1942—the highest honor that any one of these rugged, fast dogs [the favorite breeds of waterfowl shooters] can attain.

10 Labradors Are Entered.

This year the judges, Mrs. J. Gould Remick, Cedarhurst, N. Y., T. W. Merritt, Chicago, and Bernard J. Genty, Lake Bluff, will have to pick a winner from 10 Labradors, 7 golden retrievers, and 1 Chesapeake. Eastern fanciers have come to the trial with some top-notch Labradors. Hiwood Mike, the black Labrador field trial champion owned by Mrs. John S. Williams, Long Island, N. Y., which recently won the Long Island trial, is in Madison ready to compete.

Chicago members of the Midwest Field Trial club, the pioneer retriever club in the central states, have scratched their entries, but retriever owners from a number of midwestern cities have their dogs ready for this difficult three day test.

Gunnar II. Is Only Chesapeake.

The only Chesapeake in the trial is the well known field trial performer, Gunnar II. owned by R. N. Crawford, Delavan, Wis. Lieut. Paul Bakewell III., St. Louis, Mo., will be represented by three of his winners, the dual champion black Labrador Shed of Arden, the field trial champion Labrador, Tar of Arden, and his well known golden retriever field trial champion, Stilrovin Super Speed.

87th Street Naval Boxing Squad Wins

The 87th Street Naval Training Station boxing team scored an impressive team victory in the Service Men's Amateur Boxing league over the University of Chicago radio school at the 87th street gymnasium last night, winning six bouts and drawing in another. Radio school's lone victory came in a light heavy bout when Hegland pounded out a three round decision over Porter. The heavyweight fight was declared a draw when Albertson of 87th Street and Stephens battled to a three round standstill.

Navy Pier Draws.

In the other team match, the Navy Pier team invaded Fort Custer and emerged with a 4 to 4 draw with the soldiers after five bouts were forfeited, three by Navy Pier because of excessive weight. Navy Pier forfeited the 112, 118, and 147 pound bouts to Fort Custer and the latter surrendered the 126 pound and heavyweight bouts without a fight.

Warner Beats James.

Navy Pier then won two of the remaining three matches; Ken Warner of Navy Pier beat "halman James, Fort Custer in a three round middleweight bout and Steve Self, Navy Pier, pounded out a three round decision over James Ivory, Fort Custer, in the lightheavy fight. Lou Drisch of Fort Custer beat Fergio Bonetti, Navy Pier in a three round lightweight fight.

TRAUBENIK LEADS BUDWEISERS TO 3 GAME SWEEP

Joe Traubenik of the Budweisers shot a 759 series last night in the Randolph bowling league as the Buds swept a three game match with the Ace Fasteners on the Randolph Alleys. With Traubenik putting together games of 236-288 and 235, the Budweisers counted high series of the evening, 3,239. Frank Wright posted a 705 series and San Clineff a 712.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 3 [Special]. —It will be almost homecoming for two Broncos when Western Michigan meets Notre Dame tomorrow at Notre Dame. Harold Gensichen and Don Kozoroski of Western Michigan are South Bend boys from Central High.

A year ago Gensichen topped all Michigan college scorers and set a new state mark of 400 points. Kozoroski, also a forward, scored 12 points in his first college game a week ago. Another newcomer to the Bronco lineup will be Bob Smith, sophomore center, who may slow down the high scoring Bob Faught of the Irish. At one guard will be George Slaughter, Dayton, Ky., with the other spot a tossup between Del Loranger and Dick Slater, both letter winners a year ago.

IRISH PLAY SECOND GAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Dec. 3 [Special]. —Notre Dame will make its second start of the basketball season here tomorrow night against Western Michigan. Notre Dame opened its season Saturday with a 56 to 42 victory over Ball State, while the Broncos won their first game from Calvin of Grand Rapids, Mich., 59 to 52.

WILDCATS NAME MOST VALUABLE PLAYER TONIGHT

Northwestern's football team will conclude its year's activities tonight at the annual dinner to be given by the Northwestern University club in Evanston. The most valuable player for the past season and next year's captain will be chosen. Varsity letters and freshman numerals also will be awarded.

The dinner is being held in Evanston for the first time since its inception 20 years ago because of gas rationing. Guests will be served in the Orrington hotel and in Scott hall, student social center. After the dinner both groups will assemble in Cahn auditorium for the program.

Among the speakers will be President Franklyn B. Snyder, Admiral John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district; Capt. Ernest C. Wills of the 6th service command; Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, and K. L. Wilson, athletic director. Coach Lynn Waldorf will preside at the presentation of letters, and James L. O'Keefe, president of the Northwestern University club of Chicago, will serve as toastmaster.

N. Y. RING BOARD, NBA DUEL OVER ANGOTT TITLE

Greene Fights Approval of Jack-Larkin Winner.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—A brand new battle popped up today between the New York State Athletic commission and the National Boxing association over Sammy Angott's recent abdication as lightweight champion—and what to do about it.

At the same time it was disclosed that the real reason behind Sammy's retirement a few weeks ago was a pair of badly injured hands which he hurt in his fights during the last year. This was revealed in a letter Sammy's manager, Charley Jones, wrote to NBA President Abe Greene.

Beau Jack vs. Larkin.

Making plans to name Angott's successor, the New York fistic fathers announced they would recognize as world champion the winner of a Dec. 18 Madison Square Garden bout between Beau Jack, one time locker room boy at the Augusta [Ga.] National Golf club, and Tippy Larkin, slim Italian from Garfield, N. J.

The New York commission also said it would give its blessing to a tournament involving 13 other 135 pounders, and that the Jack-Larkin winner would make the first defense of his "title" against the ultimate survivor of this tourney.

Greene immediately termed this action a below the belt punch at boxing thruout the country because it tended to hand pick a title holder instead of following boxing's time honored custom that a champion must win his title in the ring. The NBA president revealed that the New York commission plan, as announced, was not that which the New York board had agreed upon at a conference with him a week ago.

Claim Different Setup.

That plan, Greene related, was that Jack and Larkin would fight for the rank of top contender and the winner would then step aside until the tournament was completed. Then the Jack-Larkin victor would face the tournament survivor for recognition as titleholder, and until then there would be no recognized champion.

Greene also pointed out that the NBA was the first fight group to recognize Jack and Larkin as the top two logical contenders for the crown, and that because of the arbitrary action of Gen. John J. Phelan and his associates on the New York commission the NBA would announce its own program shortly—possibly within the next 24 hours.

In mapping its plan today the New York commission required Jack and Larkin to sign an agreement in which the winner of their fight promised [1] to meet the tournament elimination winner within 60 days after the completion of the tourney, [2] not to defend the title against any one before meeting the tournament winner, and [3] to forfeit all claim to the title if he failed to take on the victor in the tourney.

All Bouts at 15 Rounds.

All bouts in the tournament will be over the 15 round route, the commission ruled.

The first of the tournament bouts will be held in St. Nicholas rink here Dec. 21 between Cleo Shans, Los Angeles Negro, and Chester Rico, lanky New Yorker. The other 11 fighters on the list for the tournament are Juan Zurita and Richie Lemos of Los Angeles; Allie Stolz of Newark, the former No. 1 contender, who was toppled from the spot by Beau Jack a few weeks ago; Willie Joyce of Gary, Ind.; Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia; Slugger White of Baltimore, Md., Joey Peralta of Tamaqua, Pa., and Maxie Shapiro, Carmine Fatta, Terry Young, and Roman Alvarez, all of New York.

Armstrong and Jenkins to Meet Tonight in Portland

Portland, Ore., Dec. 3 (AP).—Henry Armstrong, once king simultaneously of three boxing divisions, will fight Lew Jenkins, once rated as lightweight champion in New York, in a 10 round bout here tomorrow night.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Northwestern and Ohio State basketball teams will meet in only one game instead of two as printed in yesterday's schedules. This game will be played March 3 in Columbus, O. The Big Ten schedule comprises 59 games instead of 75 as planned before travel rationing.

Ben Loving Leads Miami Open with 66

Miami, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP).—Ben Loving of Springfield, Mass., snipped four strokes off par with a 66 today to take a narrow lead in the first round of the Miami Open Golf tournament over a field only one-half normal size. He three putted the 18th green to blow a chance to tie the competitive course record of 64, but still managed to slip in ahead of Harold McSpaden of Philadelphia, who carded 34—33—67 for second place.

Tournament Hit by War.

The tournament was heavily hit by the war, as evidenced by the fact that not one of the five players who outscored Loving last year was on hand, including professional golf's big four—Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, and Craig Wood.

Nelson had telegraphed that he was leaving Fort Worth, Tex., Monday to seek his third straight Miami open triumph, but he did not appear in time to compete and there was no word from him.

Willie Turnesa, from Elmsford, N. Y., now an instructor in the navy free gunnery school at Hollywood, Fla., turned in a 34—34—68 for third and top place among amateurs.

Dodson in Fourth Place.

Fourth place went to Leonard Dodson, professional from Kansas City. Dodson paired a 35—34 for his 69.

Well known players who did not finish among the 20 low scorers included Amateur Frank Stranahan, Toledo, 39—35—74; Ralph Guldahl, Rancho Santa Fe, Cal., 38—36—74; Amateur Earl Christiansen, Miami, 41—33—74; Johnny Bulla, Atlanta, 37—38—75; Willie MacFarlane, Miami Shores, 39—37—76; Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C., 40—38—77.

Low scorers included:

Ben Loving, Springfield, Mass.	33	33	66
Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia	34	33	67

Chad Kimsey, Former Sox Pitcher, Killed in Crash

Muskogee, Okla., Dec. 3 (AP).—Chad Kimsey, former major league baseball pitcher, was killed today. A gravel truck he was driving crashed into a highway bridge near Pryor, Okla. Kimsey formerly was connected with the Chicago, St. Louis, and Detroit American league teams. He pitched for the White Sox in the early 1930's.

Honor Wolverines

Michigan athletes were honored last night when 450 members of the Chicago University of Michigan club and their guests gathered in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House for their annual football banquet.

Lieut. Col. Chester L. Fordney, marine recruiting officer for the Chicago area, was toastmaster. He called on Al Wistert, recently chosen Michigan's most valuable player of 1942; Paul White, newly elected captain of the 1943 eleven; George Ceithaml, captain of the 1942 team, and Coach Herbert O. Crisler.

Among the speakers were Capt. E. A. Wollenson, commanding officer at Navy pier, who was stationed at the University of Michigan in the previous war, and Col. William A. Ganoe, now supervising military activities at the university.

Col. Ganoe said that approximately 4,500 students are taking part in the intensive conditioning course now being conducted at Michigan to put the boys into top physical shape in preparation for military duty.

LANE TO DEFEND PREP SWIMMING TITLE TONIGHT

Diving Events Scheduled This Afternoon.

Lane Tech High school, defending champion in both junior and senior divisions of the Chicago Public High School league 20 yard indoor pool swimming championships, will be represented by six swimmers and one relay team in the junior division finals in the Austin High school pool tonight, and by seven swimmers and two relay teams in the senior division. The event is the 28th annual competition.

Lane's junior swimmers qualified yesterday afternoon in the preliminary events held in the Austin pool. Richard Hennigan of the Tech squad finished with the best time among the qualifiers in the 40 and 100 yard events.

Preliminaries and finals in the diving events will be this afternoon in the Austin pool, with the finals in both junior and senior divisions of the swimming events scheduled for tonight. Yesterday's qualifiers in the junior division:

40 yard swim—Hennigan, Lane; Monahan, Sullivan; Scherwat, Senn; Rucker, Austin. Time, :20.7.

WISCONSIN FIVE SCHEDULES GAME WITH HAMLINE

Madison, Wis., Dec. 3 [Special].—Athletic Director Harry Stuhldreher today announced the scheduling of Hamline college of St. Paul to meet the University of Wisconsin basketball team here on Jan. 4. The Pipers complete the Wisconsin home schedule of 11 games, six with conference opponents.

Wisconsin's first opponent outside the Big Nine will be Marquette here Saturday night.

Bid for New Records in Duel with Cards.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Only one touchdown has been scored against the Bears since Lieut. Comm. George Halas went on his way and entrusted his champions to the coaching triumvirate of Luke Johnsos, Heartly [Hunk] Anderson, and Paddy Driscoll. During this stretch the Bears have marched and passed their way to victories over Detroit, Brooklyn, Green Bay, Detroit, and Cleveland.

The Bears, in yesterday's frigid weather, fashioned defensive plans for Sunday's National league final with the Cardinals in Comiskey park, determined to keep up this amazing defensive record at the expense of the red-shirted south siders. If they blank the Cardinals the Bears will take rank as the greatest defensive unit since 1927, when the New York Giants held opponents to 20 points in 13 games. In 1938, another Giant team limited the opposition to 79 points in 11 games. The Bears have yielded only 77 points in 10 straight league victories.

Seek Offensive Record, Too.

There is no indication, either, that the champions will be satisfied with less than 42 points, which will make them the greatest offensive unit in pro football history. Last year's team scored 396 points in 11 regularly scheduled league contests. These current Bears have scored 355 in 10 games.

The Bears' tight defense has even amazed Lieut. Comm. Halas in those moments when he is free from his naval duties in Norman, Okla.

"How did you ever hold the Packers to 7 points?" he asked Anderson over the telephone after the Bears' recent 38 to 7 victory in Wrigley field, which clinched a third successive western division title.

Yesterday Anderson explained:

"It was Halas' custom to substitute an entire team at a time," said Hunk. "We're doing it a little differently. We always manage to keep in at least a few of the top players. And if one of the regulars doesn't show his real ability after 5 minutes, out he comes. If a particular player is hot, we let him stay in there a little longer than usual. Let the other team earn its points."

Cards Still Under 100.

So the rival league coaches, who thought Coach Halas was a sort of relentless fellow when his team took the field, have learned that in comparison with his successors George wasn't a bad sort, after all.

The Cardinals are one of the two league teams which haven't scored 100 points. They've made 91 in 10 games. Detroit, which lost 11 straight, picked up only 38 points. The Cards have yielded 188 points, making them sixth in the league, defensively. Their only chance Sunday will be to keep flashy Bud Schwenk pitching passes. He completed 23 out of 42 aerials for 222 yards last Sunday against the Giants, who won, 21 to 7.

Sixty-nine naval aviation cadets will be sworn in between halves of Sunday's game. Lieut. Comm. Carl Olson will make a brief address. Lieut. Jay Berwanger, former University of Chicago football star, will read the oath.

Giving Advice.

We mortals love to give advice
And how our faces glisten
When far or near we find an ear
That seems disposed to listen.

No matter what may be the ill,
We're not appalled by any,
Both great and small we tackle all
Nor charge a single penny.

And what a glad exuberance
Within us holds dominion
When circumstance affords a chance

But in this joy there's one alloy
That moves us to forsake it,
Altho it's nice to give advice
So few incline to take it.

Baseball's War Meeting Ends

Major league baseball concludes an annual meeting whose agenda consisted largely of problems brought on by the war. Leaders at yesterday's joint session in Ambassador West hotel were (left to right) Ford Frick, president of the National league; Commissioner K. M. Landis, and President Will Harridge of the American.

program for 1943. In their separate sessions, the two leagues differed, but Commissioner K. M. Landis quickly decided what should be done. The commissioner preferred to make it 14 night games for each with lights and 21 for Clark Griffith at Washington. The suggestion was adopted. This duplicates last season's night schedule.

Continue Service Fund Aid.

The two leagues made provision to continue activity in behalf of service funds. Each club will play one home game, or it can be a double header, the proceeds of which will be devoted to army or navy relief, or both. The receipts of the annual All-Star game, scheduled for next July 7 in Philadelphia, will go to the bat and ball fund which supplies baseball equipment for the armed forces. The fund also will be enriched by an immediate $25,000, each league having given $2,500. The remainder comes from the commissioner's office. The annual $20,000 contribution to support American Legion junior baseball also was continued.

The CIO committee was refused a hearing at the joint meeting because, under the regulations, all subjects to be discussed must be submitted to the commissioner's office well in advance of meeting day. Members of the group explained to newspaper men that they would approach from a different angle.

CIO to Write Letters.

Previous attempts to question the commissioner on the subject of allowing Negro players jobs in the big leagues had been made by telephone. The committee, which represented 175,000 workers in the Chicago district, will communicate with Landis by letter. The various club owners also will be asked for expressions.

The Cubs, White Sox, Pirates and Browns, all of whom are booked to train in California camps, will meet within the next few days to consider how best to adjust their exhibition schedules to conform with the government's request for minimum travel. It is thought that they'll also decide to abandon the idea of starting for camp March 1.

Connie Mack went home last night, leaving son Earl in charge of a training camp selection. It is possible that the Athletics, who were in Anaheim, Cal., the last three springs, will do their 1943 muscle stretching in Savannah, Ga.

The makeup of the 1943 baseball, a change being necessary because of shortages, will not be determined until further tests have been made. Will Harridge, president of the American; Ford Frick, president of the National, and Commissioner K. M. Landis will have the final word.

While assembled in their joint session yesterday the magnates wanted to discuss the salary freeze as it might effect player wages but were stymied by the fact that they hadn't been able to get a definite ruling from the authorities.

When asked for a few final words on what had been done about trading Outfielder Bob Johnson and First Baseman Dick Siebert, Connie Mack of the Athletics said that he had plenty of cash offers and he didn't want cash but players. The White Sox and Detroit, the latter wanting Siebert were among those who waved greenbacks in Connie's face.

Bob Feller, the chief petty officer from Norfolk, dropped in for a chat. . . . He said his marriage plans would depend on the possibility of his being ordered to sea. . . . Mervyn Shea, the former Sox catcher, who was dropped from the Tiger coaching staff last week, hopes to land a job as manager of the Portland club in the Coast league. . . . Branch Rickey, new chief of the Dodgers, signed Billy Herman to a contract during the day.

BREESE DEFEATS DOUGHERTY IN 10 ROUND BOUT

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 3 (AP).—Quentin [Baby] Breese, Manhattan, Kas., won a 10 round decision from Matt Dougherty, Milwaukee, tonight before 1,200 fans in the main event of a boxing card in the Auditorium. Breese weighed 135½ pounds, Dougherty, 136½.

The fight was billed for the vacant Wisconsin lightweight championship, but the state boxing commission refused to recognize Breese's victory because he failed to make the weight.

APPOINT EVANS PRESIDENT OF SOUTHERN ASS'N

Billy Evans, former general manager of the Cleveland Indians and former American league umpire, yesterday was named president of the Southern association to succeed Trammell Scott, who had headed the circuit five years.

Scott was not on hand for the meeting, which the league delayed almost two hours awaiting his arrival, but he reached Chicago last night almost four hours after the meeting had ended.

Evans' contract called for one year, the same as that under which Scott operated, and his salary was understood to be $7,500.

Evans, altho long associated with baseball, has been out of this field since 1941. He became business manager of the Cleveland Rams of the National Football league that year and since has been writing numerous magazine articles.

WALDORF NAMES 11 PLAYERS FOR BLUE-GRAY GAME

Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern yesterday announced the selection of eleven middlewestern players for the squad which will represent the north in the annual Blue and Gray football game in Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 26. Waldorf and Carl Snavely of Cornell are co-coaches of the Blues. Snavely will make a similar selection from among eastern players. The squad will report for practice at Montgomery on Dec. 18.

Centers—Bill Vickroy, Ohio State; Jefferson Davis, Missouri.
Guards—Nick Burke, Northwestern; Joe Pawlowski, Illinois.
Ends—Bill Baumgartner, Minnesota; Bob Motl, Northwestern.
Quarter back—Harold Adams, Missouri.
Half back—Earl Doloway, Indiana.
Full Back—Chester Mutryn, Xavier.

ASSOCIATION TO OPEN APRIL 29, REDUCE TRAVEL

Change May Interfere with Little Series.

The American association yesterday decided to open its season April 29, two weeks later than in the past, and that all of its clubs should train as close to home as possible.

The delay in starting jeopardized the little world series because the International league previously adopted a scheduled ending a week earlier than the Sept. 19 closing date for the association.

No Action on Saints.

No decision was reached on the St. Paul franchise, which Owner Walter G. Seeger wants to sell. Both Seeger and other members of the association expressed a desire to keep St. Paul in the circuit, and it was understood that both Detroit and Washington were considering the desirability of working with the club if local cooperation could be obtained.

However, George Trautman, president of the association, said that a bid from Omaha interests still was under consideration.

The schedule calls for 154 games and a rule was passed restricting exhibition games with major league clubs to three during the season in order to avoid interference with the association schedule. Three trips will be made.

Leaders Are Noncommittal.

Neither Trautman nor President Frank Shaughnessy of the International league could say last night what effect this schedule would have on the little world series. The association head said it was something that would have to be worked out later and Shaughnessy was pessimistic. "I don't see how we can play it that late, or how our clubs could sit around waiting for the association to complete its playoffs" he said.

The association voted that lights must be turned on to complete day games so that no contest will be called because of darkness. A reduced budget was adopted which made no provision for the radio and publicity office now headed by Frank M. Cowley.

JOE DI MAGGIO'S WIFE IN RENO; SEEKS DIVORCE

Reno, Nev., Dec. 3 [Special].—Mrs. Joe DiMaggio arrived here last night and registered secretly at a hotel to establish residence preliminary to divorcing the New York Yankee baseball star.

This morning Mrs. DiMaggio, the former Dorothy Arnold of the films, conferred with her attorney, who admitted she was here for divorce purposes but declined to discuss the case further. Last summer she spent a month in Nevada, but returned to her husband and it was reported they had patched up their differences.

Mrs. DiMaggio brought her son, Joe, and a companion with her. The Yankee home run hitter and Miss Arnold were married in San Francisco in November, 1939.

TANKER FOLLOWS TUG TO BOTTOM OF LAKE; 32 DIE

Oil Slick, Two Bodies Are Found Near Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 3 (AP).—The missing tanker-barge Cleveco, carrying 24,000 barrels of fuel oil for eastern war plants, apparently broke up with loss of all 18 crew members, the owners announced tonight, raising to 32 the toll of a double disaster on Lake Erie not far from Cleveland.

Coast guard searching vessels, which lost contact with the Cleveco at 1 a. m., today, later found an oil slick, pieces of wreckage and six bodies.

Two of the bodies were identified as crew members of the Cleveco, and the vessel's owners, Cleveland Tankers, Inc., announced that "in the opinion of the company the entire crew has been lost."

14 Lost on Tug.

The Cleveco went adrift when the tug Admiral, which was towing the tanker-barge to Cleveland, sank yesterday with its crew of 14.

Offices of Cleveland Tankers and the Allied Oil company said that the Cleveco was a 250 foot steel hulled vessel resembling a lake freighter but carried no propulsion machinery.

The 94 ton tug Admiral went down swiftly in heavy seas before dawn Wednesday. The owners said the craft might have overturned when a heavy wave forced the tug to foul its towing cable.

Drifted All Day.

The Cleveco, cut loose, drifted all day in stormy, freezing weather which impeded searching boats and planes.

The last message from the captain before the Cleveco's radio went silent said: "Water is coming in, flooding the forecastle. But we're laying out here pretty."

The master of the tanker Comet, which found the oil slick, said that soundings would be made and a search continued for the Cleveco's wreckage.

OIL FIRM HEAD, HIT BY RATIONING OF GAS, ENDS LIFE

Decorah, Ia., Dec. 3 [Special].—A truck load of 4,000 gallons of gasoline rolled into Decorah for the Scott Oil company today only a few hours after its president, W. E. Scott, 59 years old, had been found dead, apparently a suicide because he had been unable to get gasoline for his customers during the pre-ration rush.

On his desk were found letters addressed to his rationing board and to the company for which he was a jobber. In the latter, Coroner Orrie Iverson said, Scott complained he could not understand why he had not been sent the gasoline promised him and declared he had been forced to purchase gasoline from local competitors to supply his customers.

Two other letters were addressed to Scott's sons, Lieut. Ellyott Scott, with the army air corps in England, and Corp. Charles Scott of Camp Roberts, Cal. Those letters and the one to the rationing board were not opened.

Scott's body was found at 8 a. m. today in his gas station. The coroner said he had committed suicide by carbon monoxide poisoning. He had been in the oil business here since 1929, operating a retail station, bulk plant, and rural delivery service, a business said to have cost him $40,000.

SAVACHKA WILL POST BOND TODAY ON DRAFT CHARGE

Michael Savachka, 31 years old, former secretary treasurer of the retail grocery clerks union, will surrender today to re-sign a $5,000 bond guaranteeing his appearance in federal District court where he is under indictment as a draft dodger.

Savachka was a fugitive from June, 1941, until his arrest in Miami, Fla., Oct. 20. He was returned to Chicago to face charges of selective service act violations after he admitted he fled at the instigation of Max Caldwell, union business manager who union members had sued for an accounting of $910,000 in union funds.

Altho Savachka had scheduled a $5,000 bond shortly after he was returned to Chicago last month it became necessary to reschedule the property involved after the grand jury indictment was returned before Judge John P. Barnes on Wednesday.

HIT-RUN DRIVER HUNTED IN DEATH OF PEDESTRIAN

Police yesterday sought the hit and run driver whose car earlier in the day killed John Smothers, 57 years old, Negro, at Western avenue and Hubbard street. Smothers lived at 2604 Washington boulevard. There were no witnesses to the accident.

Aruthur A. Papay, 28, of 306 Richert court, Elgin, died in Elmhurst hospital of injuries suffered last Friday in an automobile collision on state route 20 near Addison in Du Page county. His death was the second resulting from the accident.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 615 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 466 were killed in Chicago where 18,312 were injured during the same period.

6,000 State Dentists Unite in Wartime Service Plan

Six thousand Illinois dentists have agreed to coöperate with the public health committee of the Illinois defense council in establishment and maintenance of the first complete war time emergency dental service in the nation, Barney Thompson, Rockford, chairman of the committee announced yesterday. Formation of advisory first aid, transit, clinic, base hospital, education and dental laboratory units is under way and will be directed by 260 regional, county, and local dental officers.

POISON GAS CLEW BEING FOLLOWED IN CLUB FIRE QUIZ

Boston, Mass., Dec. 3 (AP).—A gaseous flame that filled one end of the foyer seconds after the first call of fire was described to investigators of the Cocoanut Grove holocaust today by a construction engineer who was a guest at the night club last Saturday when 491 lives were snuffed out.

Shortly after this testimony a painter who worked on the new cocktail lounge was ordered to bring all records pertaining to the Cocoanut Grove job to the investigators. He was asked if the paint used in the new lounge was inflammable.

The new evidence of poisonous gases being generated by the blaze was presented by Joseph F. Kelley, Arlington. A previous witness told of choking "acid" in the smoke. Medical Examiner Timothy Leary said there unquestionably was "something poisonous in the smoke besides carbon monoxide and flame."

BOARD UPHOLDS LIFTING PERMITS OF 4 NIGHT CLUBS

The city license appeal commission yesterday upheld suspension orders against the Rhumba Casino, 222 North State street; the Brass Rail, 52 West Randolph street; the Capitol Cocktail lounge, 167 North State street, and the Hollywood Show lounge, 87 West Randolph street.

Licenses of the four night clubs, all owned by Milton Schwartz and Albert Greenfield, were revoked July 28 by Mayor Kelly on recommendation of Police Commissioner James P. Allman and Capt. Thomas Duffy, who reported that on July 21, two under age sailors were sold liquor in the Rhumba Casino.

A. L. Cronin is chairman of the appeal commission, which also includes Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes and Paul Rothenberg, both members of the state liquor commission.

PETRILLO SIGNS LAST SYMPHONY IN AFL UNION

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, AFL, today announced the signing of a three year agreement with the Boston Symphony orchestra, bringing into the federation the only major nonunion symphony orchestra in the United States.

Petrillo said the agreement, covering 105 members of the orchestra, represented a concession on the part of the federation, in that the union amended its bylaws to permit symphony musicians to move from one symphony jurisdiction to another within the United States and Canada.

Negotiations lasted six months and were conducted by Petrillo for the union, Henry Cabot, trustee of the Boston organization, and a committee of five men from the orchestra.

HOLIDAYS GIVEN STUDENTS OF AIR SCHOOL IN CITY

Students of the Army Air Forces Technical Training command's Chicago school will have no classes the day before Christmas, Christmas day, and New Year's day, Brig. Gen. Arnold N. Krogstad announced yesterday. "Privilege passes" will release students after their last classes Dec. 23 until 1 a. m. Dec. 26, and from late afternoon Dec. 31 to 1 a. m. Jan. 2. The holiday policy will give the students their first privilege pass time away from classes, excepting Sundays, since the school opened Sept. 7. Permanent party enlisted personnel, officers, and civilian employés will work thru Christmas and New Year's without holidays, the school announced, except for some of the enlisted personnel which may be granted furloughs during that period.

ANNE REYNOLDS' ESTATE GROWS 2½ MILLION IN YEAR

The increase came principally from trust funds set up by her grandfather, R. J. Reynolds, the North Carolina tobacco tycoon; her grandmother, Mrs. Katherine S. Johnson, and her step-grandfather, J. Edward Johnson.

While $25,000 from Anne's fortune went to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Annie L. Cannon, for the child's support, maintenance and education, her half brother, Christopher Smith Reynolds, received $83,333 last year for his support. Anne's mother was the first wife of the late Zachary Smith Reynolds, son of the tobacco magnate. Christopher's mother was his second wife, Libby Holman, former blues singer.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

BLACHLY—De Witt Wayne Blachly Jr., Dec. 4, 1938, on your 17th birthday.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness
Our eyes shed many a tear.
God only knows how we miss you
As it ends this fourth sad year.
MOM, DAD, AND JUNE DUANE.

NATENBERG—Sieg Natenberg. In loving memory of a devoted husband and father, who passed away one year ago today, on the first day of Chanukah. Gone but not forgotten.
LOVING WIFE AND CHILDREN.

SCHWICHTENBERG—Anna Schwichtenberg. Just one year ago today, mother dear, you passed away. With God's help I hope and pray that we'll meet again some day. Often we pause and think of you and think of how you died, to think you could not say good-by before you closed your eyes. No one knows the silent heartaches, only those who have loved can tell of the grief that is borne in silence for our dear mother we loved so well.
LOVING DAUGHTERS, SONS, AND GRANDCHILDREN.

WINTER—Regina Winter. In fond and loving memory of our dearly beloved mother and grandmother, who passed away 23 years ago today.
May her dear soul rest in peace.
HER LOVING CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN.

ZANNIER—Betty Zannier. In memory of our beloved daughter and niece who left us two years ago today.
Just when your life was brightest,
Just when your years were best.
You were called from this world of sorrow
To a home of eternal rest.
Ever remembered by your

LABOR STRIFE IS BRANDED CHILD OF BIASED GOVERNMENTAL UNITS

Industrialists Urge End of Confusing WLB Decisions.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers in its annual convention today adopted a resolution proposed by its committee on industrial relations asserting labor strife is caused by "biased, confusing, and extralegal decisions by the War Labor board and other government agencies handling labor problems."

Wilfred Sykes declares definite labor policy necessary.

The resolution was adopted unanimously by a voice vote after reading by Reuben B. Robertson, chairman of the committee who is executive vice president of Champion Paper and Fibre company, Canton, N. C.

"The United States is involved in a grim and terrible war," said the resolution. "The winning of it will be brutally hard, but it must be won. No effort that will hasten victory must be spared, no obstacle that stands in the path of complete and final victory can be tolerated. That is the temper of the nation.

"Can and Will Do More."

"Production alone can't win the war, but the war can't be won without production. Management fully realizes this. Labor and management have accomplished much. They can and will do more if positive action is taken to eliminate the impediments now hampering production.

"Government activities: Strife is bred of biased, confusing, and extralegal decisions by the War Labor board and other government agencies handling labor problems. These agencies should scrupulously conform to the Constitution and duly enacted laws and should be impartial in all their activities as befits the umpire.

"Right to work: Every one thruout the land—except current offenders—condemns strikes. There is no labor issue on which the public feels so strongly. Strikes have been reduced, but the fact remains that bottleneck strikes still cripple the war effort. The time has come when labor must stop all strikes hindering war production.

Jurisdictional Disputes Hit.

"Jurisdictional disputes between rival unions impair war production and should be stopped.

"There should be no more picketing, which prevents people from working in war plants.

"There should be an end to boycotts which prevent the use of any needed material in the war effort.

"There must be protection by government of the fundamental American right to work and the right to employ.

"Output restrictions: There should be no slowdowns or other restrictions which limit the amount of work an employé is permitted to turn out. Such time wasting devices are sabotage in wartime.

"Compulsory union membership: This labor restriction upon unlimited production usually referred to as the 'closed shop' is coercive and un-American. Its extension is inexcusable in wartime.

Membership Clause Opposed.

"Its companion evil, the so-called 'maintenance of membership clause' that is achieving dominance of late thru WLB decisions, should not be imposed by government.

"Coercion and physical violence in forcing men to join or remain members of unions must vanish from the national scene. They have no place in relations between employers and workers. Compulsion, violence, and fear are enemies of the liberty for which this nation is fighting.

"Workers have been guaranteed the right to join organizations of their own choosing without coercion. The right not to join or to withdraw from such organizations is equally important and must likewise be guaranteed and inforced.

"Labor racketeering: Labor racketeers—that group of unscrupulous and dictatorial labor leaders who use honest workers for undeserved personal gain, even at the expense of a nation hard pressed by war—are responsible for practices which have no place in our American life. Both they and their practices must go.

Fees Linked to Racketeers.

"The first step is to stop the work permit fees and excessive union initiation fees upon which labor racketeering fattens.

"The failure of many unions to honestly conduct strike votes and the election of officers by secret ballot also contributes to labor racketeering and should be corrected.

"Summary: We declare that if the above evils are not voluntarily corrected by those responsible for them they should be removed by the people thru their congress."

Wilfred Sykes, president of Inland Steel company, said the vast wartime production calls for "a definite national labor policy, free from politics, and not dependent upon administration favoritism. He asked broad amendments to the Wagner labor relations act.

PREDICTS MORE CZARS, RATIONS, AND RED TAPE

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson tonight predicted that the American public has not yet reached the "bottom of the barrel" in patience and that 1943 would bring "more czars, more red tape and rationing."

Henderson made his predictions before 4,000 industrialists at the war planning congress of the National Association of Manufacturers. He characterized his forecast as a "report from one of the straw bosses to the board of directors."

"The year of 1943 is one of dread, mystery, and uncertainties on the military front," he said. "Still, on the home front . . . production is at the highest ever in United States history, the hired help is the highest paid of any nation on earth, and the food production of necessities is good."

Tells of Events to Come.

He said the following governmental actions would come in 1943:

1. More decentralization of OPA affairs from Washington, D. C.
2. More rationed items, including a number of articles of clothing and food not now rationed.
3. Raising of substandard wages and the adjustment of price ceilings to accommodate raises in some sections.
4. Punishment of flagrant violators of rationing, including gas rationing violators.
5. Maintenance of present corporate policies.
6. More czars.
7. More red tape.

Henderson said no satisfactory "substitute for free markets" and for "free enterprise" had been found after a year of price administration.

Congratulates Manufacturers.

Telling of the job ahead and of its difficulties, he said adjustments would continue to be made as quickly as issues become clear.

Henderson spoke of mistakes that have been made, but said the biggest single mistake was the government's earliest estimate on production, which he said had shot up 85 per cent—far beyond government expectations.

He congratulated the manufacturers for this record, which he said was the greatest of all time.

"We might have retained our popularity," said Henderson, referring to the "bureaucrat "title," if farm prices and wages had not been adjusted.

"But despite all I hear about the impatience of the people, I know that the bottom of the barrel has not been reached, and that the American public still has a barrel of patience overflowing."

STATE RETAILERS URGED TO PUSH RUML TAX PLAN

Support for the Ruml plan for paying income taxes in the year in which the income is earned was urged yesterday by the Illinois Federation of Retail associations in a letter to merchants in the state. It suggested that retailers and their employés write members of congress in support of the plan.

"The pay as you go plan would mean that the individual taxpayer would have no income tax debt following him from one year to another," said the federation. "No partisan politics is involved in this plan. It is of interest to all parties who realize the need of creating security for the future. Chances of its approval are excellent if enough individual income taxpayers will indicate to their congressmen and senators that they would like to see the plan adopted."

Edward E. Brown Is Again Named to Advisory Group

Edward Eagle Brown, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, yesterday was reappointed a member of the federal advisory council to represent the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district, Simeon E. Leland, chairman of the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, announced. The council meets in Washington four times a year or oftener to confer with the federal reserve board.

Urge Illinois Timber Growing

Growth of timber on one-sixth of Illinois' total area would give the state a wood crop that ultimately would return 30 million dollars a year and would provide employment for 150,000 men, the Illinois Manufacturers association was told yesterday by the Illinois department of conservation.

The department said in a report to the association that a sixth of the land could contribute more to the state's prosperity if used for forest yield than it could contribute in any other way.

"Six million acres of potential forest land, if put under sustained yield forest management, would become a land resource capable of returning at least 30 million dollars annually in timber growth," the report said. "This calculation takes into account only the value of the timber growth. It does not include the value of this timber area as a source of employment for labor.

Employment Gains Told.

"Recent studies indicate that each 125 acres would require one man year of labor in maintaining and harvesting the annual crop. This is equivalent to continuous employment for nearly 50,000 men on an area of 6 million acres. The use of this wood by Illinois industries which now must obtain their supplies from distant states would furnish employment for more than 100,000 additional men."

All of these requirements could be met thru the intensive use of the potential forest area, said the association.

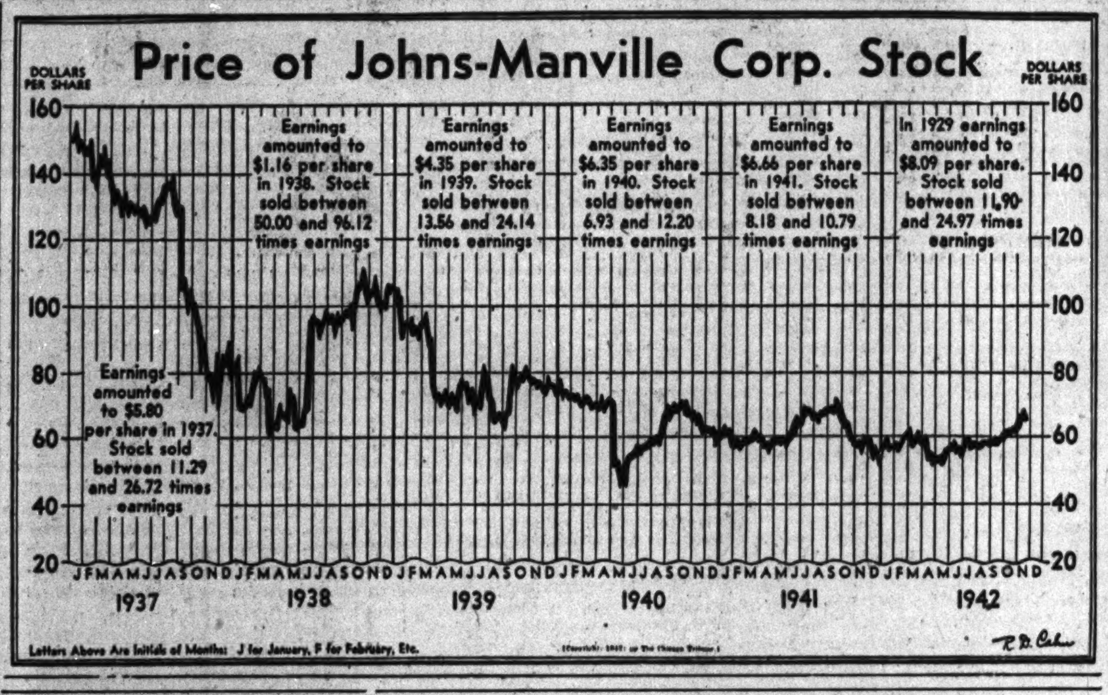
Manufacturing industries in Illinois used more than 580 million board feet of lumber in 1940 and at least a third of the total was shipped in from other states, the conservation department reported.

Half Unsuited for Farming.

"Under proper management the potential forest area could produce twice as much wood as is used in the manufacturing industries," it said, but noted that certain kinds of wood accounting for about 20 per cent of the total used is of a tropical or semitropical kind which could not be grown in Illinois.

Half of the 6 million acres suggested for forestation is woodland that never has been cleared and half is open land unsuited for farming or subject to erosion that cannot be controled except by timber cover, the report said.

Sterling Morton, president of the association, said the report was submitted to the organization's postwar committee of which Russell G. Creviston is chairman.



HOLD TRACTION VALUE UNPROVED

Examiners Say Evidence Is Lacking.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Examiners for the Illinois Commerce commission, at a hearing yesterday on the proposal to unify the surface and elevated lines into a single transportation company, asserted that attorneys for the proposed company had not presented evidence to support a value of 179 million dollars on the properties.

This is the amount of securities the proposed company has asked permission to issue in order to acquire existing facilities. Fred Kleinman, one of the examiners and chief financial expert for the commission, said there was no indicated total value and that the commission on the showing would not accept a valuation of more than 80 million dollars.

Complains of Reports.

"The reports that have been made here on the value of the properties do not make sense," Kleinman asserted. "Every time a sheet of figures is brought in here we find mistakes in it. I agree that the value is more than 80 millions, but from that point on the proposed company must give some actual proof."

Leslie Salter, examiner, said he was anxious to get the record closed so that he and Kleinman could formulate their report to the commissioners who are to decide whether the plan will go thru.

Will Offer Stipulation.

When attorney William J. Friedman, representing the new company, replied it would take many months to appraise all the property, Kleinman suggested that he might draw a stipulation agreeing that any value above 80 millions would have to be proved in the future, and on the basis of original cost depreciated. Friedman said he would present a stipulation next Tuesday.

Under the law the unification, which has been approved by the senior mortgage holders of the two systems and Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal District court, must be submitted by the commission to the scrutiny of its own staff before determining whether the merger is based on real value and is in the public interest.

U. S. SEEKING 40 MILLION POUNDS OF MARGARINE

The Agricultural Marketing Administration asked the oleomargarine industry yesterday for 40 million pounds of the fat, almost equal to the record of 45,465,000 pounds produced in October. The notice received by the Chicago Mercantile exchange said offers to sell to the government agency must be submitted by Dec. 10 for acceptance the next day.

The oleomargarine is required for use under tropical conditions, and must be in tins suitable for export. The tins are to be packed in weatherproof fiber shipping cases.

Unnecessary Track Takeover Charged; Big Rail Traffic Told

Burocratic Acts Hit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—War agencies have overestimated their actual steel rail needs by approximately 2,400 miles of railroad track, based upon faulty calculations so far uncovered, Sen. Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.] disclosed today in an interview.

Reed is a member of a special senate interstate commerce subcommittee which has been probing the discontinuance and dismantling of railroad lines thruout the country on the claim that steel rails are needed more to lay tracks to war plants.

Illinois Road Affected.

The Illinois Terminal railroad was one of the lines ordered discontinued by the War Production board without the usual proceedings at which the public could be heard after notification. Vigorous protests against this and similar actions elsewhere led to the investigation.

On the basis of disclosures so far, said Reed, the war department has promised it will not requisition any more railroads. There is confusion, however, between the Office of Defense Transportation and the WPB on their future policy, he asserted. WPB reports that it is not requisitioning any railroads, but ODT reports that it is, according to Reed.

Excessive Estimates Shown.

Overall estimates placed at 84 million feet the amount of steel rails needed by the war and navy departments and the maritime commission for tracks to various war plants. A sampling of some of the plants as to actual requirements disclosed original official estimates 29 per cent in excess of needs, asserted Reed. He cited examples showing present estimated needs running from 36 to 91 per cent of original estimates.

Reed said the committee has no desire to interfere with the war effort but that the burocratic procedure followed in suddenly ordering tracks torn up without usual notice to the public certainly calls for justification. He said WPB now has 18 million feet of unlaid track on hand.

Move 50,000 a Day

United States railroads are moving about 2 million soldiers a month and doing it while carrying on their other business, Col. E. C. R. Lasher, deputy chief of the traffic control division, Army Transportation Corps, said last night.

He took part with Brig. Charles B. Young, assistant director of the Office of Defense Transportation; George A. Kelly, vice president of the Pullman company, and Hugh Siddall, chairman of the Western Passenger association, in a transportation forum on radio station W-G-N.

Everything Goes Along.

"A year ago we were being asked to move about 200,000 men and their equipment a month," said Col. Lasher. "Today it's about 2 million a month. Don't forget either that when a soldier moves, all his equipment has to go with him so that he can dress himself, eat, drill, and if necessary, fight at a moment's notice."

He said about 15 per cent of the day coaches and half of the sleeping cars are being used to transport some 50,000 troops daily.

Kelly said the job of moving 7 million American soldiers in sleeping cars this year is equivalent to moving every inhabitant in Texas and Arizona to some point 1,500 miles away. He said Pullman loads a sleeping car with troops on an average of every 2 minutes and 48 seconds.

Rationing Adds to Load.

Siddall said nation-wide gasoline rationing will impose a heavy civilian demand on the railroads at a time when they already are handling a record civilian and military business.

"During the coming holidays the railroads would like to give preference to official troop movements, to military personnel going home for Christmas and returning to camp, to families visiting in camp, and to civilians on war business," Siddall said.

"So we ask the general public to think twice and maybe three times before making plans for pleasure trips during the period Dec. 12 to Jan. 12."

Nash Earnings in Fiscal Year Show Decline

Net income of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation, Detroit, declined to $3,828,755, equal to 89 cents a common share, in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 from $4,617,052, or $1.07 a share, in the company's peak year ended with Sept. 30, 1941, the company reported yesterday. A dividend of 12½ cents on common stock also was declared, bringing the total 1942 payments to 50 cents, compared with 37½ cents in 1941.

"Net income for the fiscal year just closed resulted in large part from the contribution of civilian business on an extensive scale up to the time of stopping automobile and refrigeration production," George W. Mason, president, said.

The Bulova Watch company, New York, reported net earnings of $438,965, or $1.35 a share, in the quarter ended Sept. 30, compared with $583,277, or $1.79 a share, in the corresponding 1941 quarter. Provision for federal taxes in the 1942 period totaled $325,045.

CEILINGS ON CERTAIN FOODS ARE EXTENDED INDEFINITELY BY OPA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—A 60 day temporary order fixing maximum prices on certain food commodities scheduled to expire today, was extended indefinitely by the OPA.

The order applies at the processor, wholesale and retail levels to milk products, including butter, cheese, evaporated and condensed milk, as well as eggs, poultry [except turkeys], flour, cake mixers, fresh citrus fruits [at retail only], canned citrus fruits and juices, corn meal and hominy.

The ceiling prices will remain frozen at the highest level at which they were sold by each individual firm during the Sept. 28-Oct. 2 period until replaced by specific dollars and cents ceilings.

The order provides that if any maximum price is lower than any price set by a marketing agreement, order or license issued under the agricultural marketing act of 1937, the price set by the marketing agreement becomes the seller's maximum price.

AUTO RATIONING BRINGS BOOM TO HARNESS MAKERS

As a result of gasoline and tire rationing, harness and saddle manufacturers have been swamped with orders, Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Saddlery Manufacturing Association of the United States, said yesterday at the association's 53d annual meeting in the Palmer House.

Dinsmore estimated that manufacturers are 60 to 90 days behind on orders for saddles, particularly those of the western type. He predicted that production of harness and saddles thruout the nation will amount to more than 16 million dollars in 1943.

WARD DEMANDS MILLIONS FROM COAST CARRIERS

Claims Huge Losses During Strikes.

WLB Re-enters Dispute

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP).—The WLB reëntered the dispute between Montgomery Ward & Co. and a CIO union of its Chicago employés tonight with a request that the company's president come to Washington next Monday prepared to sign a contract. President Roosevelt recently directed the company to comply with a WLB order to write a union security clause into its wage agreement.

Montgomery Ward & Co., disclosed yesterday that it is suing numerous Pacific coast transportation agencies for failure to provide transportation at its mail order and retail store establishments at Oakland, Cal., and Portland, Ore., during strikes that lasted from December, 1940, to July, 1941. The suits are being filed in the United States districts courts at San Francisco and Portland.

No mention is made of the strikes in the briefs to be filed by the company, but the period involved is identical with the strike periods.

76 Named as Defendants.

The Chicago company is suing each of 20 defendants in Oakland for $1,026,544 damages to its business, plus certain smaller specific amounts, and $1,000,000 punitive damages. It is suing each of 56 defendants at Portland for $1,355,608 damages, plus certain smaller amounts, and $1,500,000 punitive damages. Costs are being asked in both actions.

Defendants include the Western Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and Union Pacific railways, the Railway Express Agency, and a large number of truck lines.

The petitions cite provisions in Interstate Commerce commission acts and state laws which provide that transportation agencies, as common carriers must furnish adequate transportation when requested to do so.

Large Losses Charged.

Ward said the defendants refused to pick up or to deliver shipments at its two establishments, thereby causing it large losses.

The petitions set forth that at the Oakland establishment the annual mail order business amounted to from 10½ to 11¼ million dollars and the retail store business ranged from 3 to 4 millions. The business done by the Portland house amounted to 13½ to 15 millions for mail order and 2¾ to 4 millions for retail.

Much of the merchandise handled in his business was stated to be seasonal, and consequently failure to get and deliver goods handled by the houses caused great loss.

Both petitions said the company had to sacrifice large amounts of business because of inability to fill orders.

Principal Complaints Listed.

Among complaints set forth were:

1. That, altho failing and refusing to render transportation to Ward, the defendants provided such services to other persons and corporations, including competitors.
2. That in failing to provide transportation to various defendants acted with the full knowledge of the acts of the others and with the effect of the stopping transportation on Ward business.
3. That the defendants failed to perform the services they held themselves out to perform in their lawfully published tariffs.
4. That Ward was put to additional administrative expense, and that costs were much higher when parcel post was used to handle shipments.

Shut Down 5½ Months.

The San Francisco petition said lack of transportation caused the Oakland house to be shut down entirely from Feb. 5 to July 26, 1941. The Portland house was shut down from May 3 to July 26, 1941.

The strikes at Portland and Oakland were caused by wage increase demands of warehousemen, store clerks, and others. Pickets refused to let trucks and railroad cars thru their lines and ultimately the United States mails were involved.

The mail case was somewhat similar to that involving mail deliveries during strikes in 1937 at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Republic Steel plants in the Ohio steel area.

INJUNCTION ISSUED

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday issued an injunction restraining Montgomery Ward & Co. from further violation of the general maximum price regulation as charged by the Office of Price Administration.

The OPA, in asking the injunction, charged that the company's fall and winter catalog listed 434 items at prices higher than permissible ceilings.

In a brief filed a week ago the company said only a relatively few items out of many thousands in the catalog were found to have been miscalculated, and that the company already had made refunds on its own initiative.

Overlock Quits WPB for Old Bank Position

Joseph L. Overlock, Chicago regional director of the War Production board, yesterday announced his resignation after seven months as chief of the second largest of the 13 war production regions in the country. He said he will return immediately to his position as vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

Joseph L. Overlock.

"My job is done and I have overstayed my leave from the bank," Overlock said. "The work of organizing industrial resources for peak war production is progressing smoothly and I feel I can now return to my regular duties. I have been in the government service for 16 months. I will be available any time Washington calls me."

Kearney Moves Up.

At the time Overlock's resignation was disclosed he was completing one of the last jobs on his schedule, a visit to the Kingsbury ordnance plant near La Porte, Ind.

A. T. Kearney, chief deputy WPB director since June 15, succeeds Overlock. Kearney is an industrial engineer and for 12 years has been senior partner in the firm of McKinsey, Kearney & Co., 135 South La Salle street.

For 10 years Kearney was in charge of research for Swift & Co. and is a director of the Enos Chemical company, Libby, McNeill & Libby, and the Kroger Grocery company. The Chicago regional WPB office directs allotment of materials, limits on output for civilians, and aid to war contractors in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Indiana. Kearney lives at 1000 Hill road, Winnetka.

Message from Nelson.

In accepting Overlock's resignation, Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman, addressed Overlock as "Dear Joe" and said:

"Realizing the pressure which has been brought to bear upon you for some time to return to private industry, I was not altogether surprised to receive your letter of Nov. 26 tendering your resignation as regional director to take effect Dec. 1, 1942.

"For the last 18 months you have served the government with distinction and our organization will feel the loss of your services. . . ."

REPORT STRIKE OF SHIPBUILDERS BEGINS TO BREAK

South Portland, Me., Dec. 4 [Friday]—(AP).—Management and union representatives reported early today that a "general return to work seems to be developing" at the South Portland Shipbuilding corporation yard, scene of a three day unauthorized walkout over a classification and wage dispute.

The group said in a joint statement its opinion was based on attendance on the midnight shift, when approximately two-thirds of those normally on duty reported, and predicted shifts would approach "normal operations."

"If a normal attendance is indicated on the morning shift Friday," the statement said, "company officials and union representatives are prepared to proceed to immediate discussions looking toward settlement of all matters involved in application of the War Labor board directive."

The cause of the walkout was the alleged failure of employés to receive wages on new scale rates authorized by the War Labor board.

RAILROADS NAME GROUP TO CONFER ON PAY DEMANDS

The Association of Western Railways announced yesterday appointment of a five man conference committee to negotiate wage increase demands of nonoperating railway employés.

Named to represent the western lines were D. P. Loomis of Chicago, executive director of the association; F. W. Green of St. Louis, chief operating officer, St. Louis Southwestern; J. Y. McLean of Chicago, director of labor relations, Rock Island, and J. G. Torian of San Francisco, manager of personnel, Southern Pacific, and L. L. White of Chicago, chief operating officer, North Western.

The 15 brotherhoods of nonoperating personnel last September asked for the first time a closed shop and wage increases of 20 cents an hour, with a minimum of 70 cents an hour for more than 900,000 workers.

NEW PAY RULES POSE QUESTIONS FOR EMPLOYERS

Some Uncertainties Are Cleared Up.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

"Can I get a raise?" was the chorus that went up yesterday from the white collar army.

Employers found difficulty in giving explicit answers to individual queries after they had pored over the new set of regulations implementing salary stabilizations.

The regulations cleared up some of the uncertainties surrounding salary freezing, but left many questions unanswered. The regulations issued by the commissioner of internal revenue covered all salaries above $5,000 and other salaries ranging down to $30 a week paid to executive, administrative, and professional personnel.

Problems of Interpretation.

The salary regulations presented many knotty problems of interpretation for employers. The commissioner of internal revenue set forth certain cases in which employers are permitted to give raises without the specific authorization required in most instances.

For example, employers are permitted to make "individual merit increases within established salary limits." Established salary limits are not clearly defined for professional employés by all corporations, attorneys pointed out.

Some corporations employ large numbers of professional, administrative or executive workers whose compensation varies widely. Not all workers doing the same type of work get the same compensation. Length of service, individual abilities and other factors are be considered in determining compensation. Because the scale of compensation is not clearly defined employers may find it difficult to decide when they can make merit increases under this provision.

May Require Approval.

Many employers, it was predicted, will find it necessary to put their salary policies in writing and submit them to internal revenue bureau for approval before they can take advantage of such exceptions.

The regulations open the way for employers to take such action.

"A salary policy may be determined from previous pay roll records or other pay roll data," the regulations said. "The existence of such policy, however, must be established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, and the burden of the proof rests upon the employer. In such cases, the employer in advance of making an increase in salary rate may reduce the salary policy to writing and secure approval thereof by the commissioner."

This requirement, it was predicted, may delay employers in making merit increases altho they are anxious to grant them. Other employers whose salary policies are more clearly defined may take advantage immediately of this provision.

Test Cases May Clarify.

As test cases are heard and rulings made by the internal revenue bureau such questions will be clarified, it is believed.

Where promotions are made, the rules are reasonably clear. Raises are permitted without specific approval. It is provided, however, that the increases can be made only within the salary range for the particular job to which the individual has been promoted. The same rule applies when individual jobs are reclassified.

Because of the severe penalties which employers [and employés] face for violations it was believed that many salary adjustments will await further rulings by the commissioner of internal revenue.

Inquiries Flood Office.

The Chicago office of the salary stabilization unit was swamped with inquiries yesterday from persons seeking interpretations. Thirteen regional offices have been established by the internal revenue commissioner's office. The Chicago office has a staff of three in charge of Porter Linder, formerly attached to the St. Louis office of the internal revenue bureau.

Linder said that the staff of the office will probably be increased to handle inquiries. At present the office has only two telephone lines but more will be added. The office, in room 400 at 208 South La Salle street, has been functioning for several days.

City Sells 5 Millions in Tax Warrants at Lower Rate

City Controler Robert B. Upham yesterday afternoon announced that 5 million dollars in city tax warrants had been sold to several loop banks at an interest rate of 1⅛ per cent. The preceding block of warrants was sold at a 1¼ per cent interest rate.

STOCKS UNEVEN AT CLOSE AFTER SPURT AT START

Dealings, Lively Earlier, Slow After Midday.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Rails and industrial favorites pushed up fractions to a point or more in the early part of today's stock market, but irregularity developed after midday.

Higher tendencies were in evidence at the start, but there was some cashing in on the recently buoyant peace issues.

News from battle fronts was a bit confusing. Tax selling waned to a large extent, but there still was enough to put brakes on a rally.

American Telephone was a soft spot thruout, losing 1⅛ points at 128⅛ when the Federal Communications commission denied a request for dismissal or postponement of an inquiry into long distance rates.

Deferment of dividend action on senior stocks by American Power and Light directors brought declines of 1⅞ to 2¼ points in these issues.

CHICAGO PRICES MIXED.

Prices lacked a uniform trend on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. In turnover of 20,000 shares, 46 issues advanced, 32 declined, and 23 held unchanged. Among the volume leaders were Middle West corporation, Chicago corporation, Peabody Coal B, Allis Chalmers, and Commonwealth Edison.

RAIL BONDS HIGHER.

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Railroad issues returned to the advancing side of the bond market in force today after several weeks at lower levels. The entire corporate list was aided by the carriers and volume came closer to the 10 million dollar mark than in any recent session.

CASH CORN SETS FIVE YEAR HIGH; WHEAT DECLINES

Liberal profit taking sales of grain futures developed on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. Cash corn, however, was in active demand and old crop No. 2 yellow sold at 90 cents a bushel, going to a new high since 1937.

Persistent buying of wheat futures attributed to mills checked the decline in that grain and closing prices were ¼ to ½ cent lower. Corn, after breaking about 1 cent early, rallied late and closed ⅛ cent higher to ⅞ cent lower, the former on December which gained ¾ cent on the May. Oats lost ½ cent and rye was off ⅛ to ¼ cent. Soy beans were ⅝ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher.

HOGS ARE HIGHER DESPITE HEAVY FARM SHIPMENTS

Despite continued heavy selling of the 1942 spring pigs yesterday, hog prices in the Chicago stockyards registered a mild recovery as a result of the huge demand for pork products. Since domestic trade is limited to about 75 per cent of last year's volume, most of the price support came from packers filling extensive lend-lease orders for immediate shipment abroad.

Lambs sold steady to 10 cents higher, and cattle were steady.

Commodities

Cotton futures yesterday closed at gains of 25 to 45 cents a bale, carrying prices to the highest levels in three weeks. A contributing factor was said to have been the house passage of the bill to permit inclusion of labor costs in calculating farm parity prices. Wool tops futures closed 0.2 to 1.2 cents lower.

EXTRA DIVIDEND OF $1.50 VOTED BY LOEW'S, INC.

Also Authorizes 50 Cent Payment on Common.

Directors of Loew's, Inc., theater chain with offices in New York, yesterday declared an extra dividend of $1.50 a share on the common stock in addition to a 50 cent interim payment, bringing total disbursements for the year to $3.50, against $3 in 1941.

Liquid Carbonic corporation, Chicago, announced an extra dividend of 25 cents in addition to the regular quarterly payment of the same amount, both payable Jan. 4. The regular quarterly payment of $1.12½ on preferred stock also was declared, payable in February.

The company estimated net profit for its fiscal year ended Sept. 30 was about $1.75 a common share after charges and preferred dividends.

Others to Pay Extras.

Directors of Greyhound corporation declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock and an extra of 25 cents a share.

A special common dividend of $2.50 was announced by the Allied Products corporation, Detroit manufacturer of sheet metal dies and other products, in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents. Total 1942 payments increased to $4.25, compared with $3.25 in 1941.

Total 1942 payments on the $6 preferred and 6 per cent preferred stocks of the Central Illinois Public Service company amount to $11 each, instead of $8 as previously reported, five disbursements of $1.50 each having been made on each issue this year prior to the $3.50 payments announced Wednesday.

RESERVE SYSTEM AIDS MEMBER BANKS ON WAR BOND PROGRAM

Large open market operations by the federal reserve system, presumably to assist member banks in the purchase of government securities in the 9 million dollar December treasury financing, were undertaken in the week ended Wednesday, the reserve statement indicated last night.

The reserve board reported that the 12 reserve banks bought 297 millions of government securities, increasing holdings to 5 billion 139 millions. Such purchases would bolster the excess reserves of the member banks. Even with the open market support, total excess reserves of member banks slipped 20 million dollars to 2 billion 500 millions, indicating that banks as a whole were participating actively in the treasury campaign.

LABOR TROUBLES BRANDED RESULT OF FEDERAL BIAS

NAM Demands Immediate End of All Strikes.

unions, he said it "must be rejected not because it is the idea of one labor group, but because management must remain management.

"To Sovietize . . . Will Destroy."

"The ultimate responsibility for decisions in any given business is an indivisible thing. To sovietize it by making every decision a subject of debate and discussion will destroy the whole system of free enterprise because it will bring it to a point where management cannot function."

The Wagner act, he said, must be changed so it will be fair to employer and employé alike; not to provide a weapon for the agitator and racketeer, but to bring about more coöperation between labor and management and so that its administration will be preserved free from prejudice or bias.

Other convention resolutions urged centralization and stabilization of federal food control under a single independent administrator and opposed major revisions or extensions of the social security system until the war has been won.

Failure by industrial management to do its part in mobilizing man power would lead directly to the exercise of compulsion on an unnecessarily wide scale, Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Man Power commission, told the manufacturers.

McNutt Offers Suggestions.

"This is not a threat," said McNutt, "but a statement of fact . . . based on the existence of an armed force totaling 6 million at present and scheduled to rise to 9.7 millions by the end of 1943.

"Each of you will lose just about as many men during 1943 as you have hitherto lost altogether. Moreover, replacements are going to be harder to get. We will be fortunate if 500,000 more people can be squeezed out of the present pool of 1½ million unemployed."

McNutt suggested:

1. Every employer should make a careful survey of his employés, their draft status, and the training time required to replace workers in each occupation.

2. Results of this survey should be explained to draft boards. He acknowledged this was difficult for some large companies and warned: "Do not infer that you will cease losing men once the draft boards know the spot you are in. We can not raise a 9 million man army without cutting drastically into the male labor force."

3. Do not wait until men enter the armed forces to fill their jobs. Establish a definite training program. Train women.

Directors Are Elected.

Under a regular system of succession, William P. Witherow, NAM president, became chairman. His successor as president will be chosen Friday.

Walter D. Fuller, now chairman, becomes chairman of the executive committee. H. W. Prentis Jr., chairman of the executive committee, will become chairman of the finance committee.

TIMKEN ROLLER BEARING.

Please report on the Timken Roller Bearing company. What connection, if any, does it have with Timken Detroit Axle company? —R. W. S.

Answer: Normally this company sells about 55 per cent of its roller bearing production to the automotive industry, the remainder going to makers of heavy machinery and the railroads. Other products include seamless tubing, electric furnace steel, and the Timken rock bit used in mining operations.

Established in 1898 as the Timken Carriage Works, the company was incorporated in Ohio in 1904 as the Timken Roller Bearing Axle company. Present title was adopted in 1909.

Profit in the first nine months this year amounted to $4,786,955, equal to $1.98 per share of capital stock, compared with $7,629,563, or $3.16 a share in the corresponding period of 1941. Sole capitalization at the end of 1941 was 2,417,380 shares of no par common stock outstanding.

Current assets at the end of 1941 totaled $36,427,047, against current liabilities of $10,520,055. Total assets were $58,218,731. The stock ranged in price from 79 to 31¼ from 1937 thru 1941 on the New York Stock exchange.

	Sales.	Net income.	Dividends [Com.]
1941	†	$ 9,476,839	$ 3.[illegible]

†Not reported.

The Timken Detroit Axle company was organized in 1909 to take over the axle business of the then Timken Roller Bearing Axle company. There are no direct interests between the two present companies.

SALES TOTAL.

Please report on the sales trend of J. C. Penney company. —E. Y.

Answer: Sales in the first 10 months this year totaled $377,518,117, compared with $277,634,332 in the corresponding 1941 period, an increase of 36 per cent.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 [A.P.].—Cotton textile trading remained at a low level today with large orders going unfilled. Sheetings were wanted in quantity, but mills declined bids because of their sold-up condition. It was reported that bids would be requested next week for around 4 million yards of seersucker cloth for the WAACS.

DON'T BORROW
Borrowing is not always the proper solution to a money shortage. But there are times when a loan is both provident and wise. For instance you might borrow to move into a more economical house, nearer to work . . . to pay cash for medical and dental attention before your favorite doctor is called into the armed forces . . . to buy winter fuel and clothing . . . to clean up past due charge accounts and other bills . . . to buy tools, to pay union dues, or to take special courses for a new job on war production . . . and for many other purposes equally worthy. Loans $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or come prepared to present proper identification and evidence of employment.
